Sentiment among the uptown crowd is mixed but the weight of opinion seems to be adverse to higher prices for the time being. It is pointed out there has not yet appeared much inclination on part of leading banking interests to take an arggressive stand in upholding prices, but the disposition among bankers and brokers seems to be to await further developments in the monetary situation. Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, King Edward Hotel, at the close of the market to-day:

New York, Sept. 11.—The market displayed no animation to-day, and after an early decline, based on lower cables, some support was given by southern and local clique operators, which held values in line, with a dull tone, well into the afternoon session. Cotton Goasip. a dull tone, well into the atternoon session.

There were no influences of sufficient importance to change recent convictions.

The weather news of the day was favorable, with some rain in the Carolinas and predictions of showers in other directions.

Rains were also reported in Arkansas, North Louisiana and Southwest Texis.

The speculative problem in cotton is now so much involved in foreign demand for spot cotton that we shall continue to look abroad for a guide to the market's possibilities believing that no sustained and important advance can take place without a full reflection from Liverpool.

Meantime the larger speculative interests can hardly find a market for their holidings or contracts, unless a full conviction is consummated later on.
