THE BACON SITUATION. Farmers Are Declining in Their Exports of Hogs.

The Canadian Grocer issues the following on the bacon question. They evidently have overlooked the immense home consumption of bacon, that has been going on. The drop in exports may not always mean a cessation of production.

Prices and high grains are working havoc with the hog business just now, but there seems to be a brighter future ahead.

Such prices for bacon in England do not justify the packers paying lower prices, they say. Too many light hogs are coming and the Davies people have been ordered to watch carefully their marketing.

The farmers must be taught to stop this improper marketing of light pigs. The farmer knows that he can not feed hogs with barley at 80 cents and make money. The farmer is not the "improvident" member of this deal.

The Grocer says: "The returns of the department of trade and commerce for July, just issued, give some interesting figures of the value of Canada's exports of hams and bacon to Great Britain. In July, 1906, the exports of this character were valued at $483,718. In July of this year they amounted only to $742,238. For the first four months of 1907, the exports to Great Britain were valued at $2,558,487, for a similar period of the year 1906 they were worth $3,919,130, a decrease of $231,988. DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

THE BACON SITUATION. Farmers Are Declining in Their Exports of Hogs.

The Canadian Grocer issues the following on the bacon question. They evidently have overlooked the immense home consumption of bacon, that has been going on. The drop in exports may not always mean a cessation of production.

Prices and high grains are working havoc with the hog business just now, but there seems to be a brighter future ahead.

Such prices for bacon in England do not justify the packers paying lower prices, they say. Too many light hogs are coming and the Davies people have been ordered to watch carefully their marketing.

The farmers must be taught to stop this improper marketing of light pigs. The farmer knows that he can not feed hogs with barley at 80 cents and make money. The farmer is not the "improvident" member of this deal.

The Grocer says: "The returns of the department of trade and commerce for July, just issued, give some interesting figures of the value of Canada's exports of hams and bacon to Great Britain. In July, 1906, the exports of this character were valued at $483,718. In July of this year they amounted only to $742,238. For the first four months of 1907, the exports to Great Britain were valued at $2,558,487, for a similar period of the year 1906 they were worth $3,919,130, a decrease of $231,988.
