M'NALLY-GLASS NUPTIALS TODAY

London Young Lady Becomes the Marriage of Mr. Henry S. Jones, Bride of a Milwaukee Business Man.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when

Miss Beatrice Fisher acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. W. J. Hill was groomspastor of the First Methodist Church. Mendelssohn's beautiful Wedding March was played by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. (Rev.) G. N. Dickson, now over 80 years of age. Mrs. assisted in London and elsewhere over 30 years ago, will doubtless be remembered by the older citizens. The bride was attired in a traveling dress of brown silk voile, made over taffeta. with lace waist trimmed with medallions, and coat to match, with silk Persian trimming. She wore a traveling hat to match.

Miss Beatrice Fisher wore a dress of cream colienne, trimmed with bands of a beautiful twin setting of diamonds, be clear about if we are to do any selves from the whole Angelican body pink panne velvet, with bertha of lace, while to the bridesmaid he gave a good in this matter. Before leaving for their eastern tour, the happy couple will spend a few days at Clifton Springs, and will attend the graduation ceremonies at the sanatorium there on Thursday night next, where Miss Josephine Glass, the bride's sister, is now residing. Mrs. Wm. Glass, the bride's grandmother, will also attend the graduation exercises at Clifton Springs.

A useful and valuable present to the bride and groom from the directors and officers of the Wadhams Oil Company Descriptive Piece—The Watermelon (of which Mr. McNally is a member), consister of a complete dining-room set. Some handsome presents in decorated china, the handiwork of the bride's mother, consisting of a complete fish set and other pieces, were much admired.

Mr. Flock cross-questioned P. C. Down, who stated that he had gone to watch the place under the chief's orders. He had seen money passed between players, but the place was so smokey that he could not recognize the players. P. C. Down had witnessed the games through a hole which he had prepared for the purpose. Quong Wing had been in charge of tables several nights, and Charlie Lee had been counting money on two occasions, but Woo Wong had been there only once.

The constable then told of the raiding of the place, and of taking some of the money, $5, off one of the tables. He preduced the money, and also some pipes. cards, dice and other articles which h
