JUST FOUR GOALS IS T.C.C. MARGIN

Ten to Six Score in Return Game With Kingston Soldiers.

Toronto Canoe Club came thru their semi-final junior round on the bit by downing R.M.C. at the Arena last night by 16 to 6. This gave them the round, 15 to 8, or by sever goals.

Last night's fixture was supposed to be the real trial before the final next week. Everything on the card was expected by the fans. The local ones thought the paddlers would brush up their team play, try a bag of tricks, and have a general, all-round brush-up for the big doings next week. About the only thing that the crowd was treated to was a demonstration of how passes "should not be made" when winnin scoring distance. This stuff cropped up every time the watermen looked as if they would pile up the score.

Four goals seemed almost more than T.C.C. wanted to have for a margin on the night. Just why, nobody seems to know. Rumors were afloat of things not according to the book, and the style of play that developed heaped coals on the fires of suspicion. downing R.M.C. at the Arena last night | or play that developed heaped coals on the fires of suspicion.

Royal Military College got six goals. Close checking and solid bumping when close in would have cut this down. The visitors are a nice team, but not in the Canoe Club's class. The soldier boys showed pretty stick-handling, checked skilfully, but their defence opened like a sieve, and headwork on the part of the attacking forces could have rolled up a big score. Perhaps the fans were wrong. They expected the T.C.C. stars to do a lot better, and it is hard to knock this idea out of their heads.

Canoe Club did not send the fans into ecstasy with their passing. In spots it was bright; in others away below par. It will need to improve just one hundred per cent. If Stratiord is to be taken into camp. The defence was good, worters cool and collected, and the work of the forwards smooth when the occasion called for it. It is a sixty-minute job next, and the little preparation last night may work harm for the Toronto hope.

Individually, Toronto Canoe Club were great. The flashes of combination were all that could be asked, and the question now is, Can the paddlers, step out on the ice and stick to combination for a full hour? Toronto fans hope so, and were sadly disappointed that it was not attempted all the way lest night. attempted all the way last night.
Burch, Connacher and McCurry showed nice work when they hit the defence.
White had a barrel of speed and checked superbly. The defence work of the winners was all that could be asked for, and when the paddlers swept into the passing game they looked good enough for anybody's money. It was that third period's careless work around the net that spoiled the whole affair. Walker and McKenzie were the best

VARSITY SECONDS ARE NOW READY FOR QUEEN'S.

Varsity II. defeated St. Michael's by 4 to 1 in an intercollegiate intermediate play-off at the Arena yesterday afternoon. The hockey was of a poor class, and only the brilliant goal tending of Thomson saved Varsity from defeat. The Saints outplayed Varsity all thru the game, and Killan put in some dangerous shots that Thomson nicely cleared. Smythe commenced the scoring early in the first period, but a few minutes later McCarney evened up the score. At the end of the period Armstrong tallied, giving Varsity the lead by 2 goals to 1. No goals were scored in the second period, but Carew registered twice in the final session. The teams:

The Fight Fans Bump Into Another Bloomer

The fight fans bumped into another bloomer last night at Massey Hall when Mike Paulson, of Minneapolis, and Mel Stevenson, of Pittsburg, started their ten-round bout argument. Neither man showed very much and the small crowd got after them in the third. The referee warned them to get busy, but as this didn't have the desired effect and the didn't have the desired effect and the crowd started to leave, he called it off in the seventh. The spectators, however, got the worth of their money, as all the other bouts were real battles. Pee Wee Adams, an old amateur champion, and Benny Gold, in the first bout, put up a great argument. Gold had height, weight and reach on Adams, but the little fellow was there with the science and more than held his own, but the decision was a draw.

science and more than held his own, but the decision was a draw.
Young Lewis, of Montreal, and Battling Red Connelly, of Detroit, were the next pair to show their wares for eight rounds, at 126 lbs. Lewis was the better man in every way, except at infighting, where the Battler showed to advantage. The de-cision went to Lewis.
Scotty Lisner landed on a hard one when he hitched up with Frankle Engle cision went to Lewis.

Scotty Lisner landed on a hard one when he hitched up with Frankie Engle, of Detroit. Engle is a good two-handed boxer, with height and reach over Lisner. He is a clever boy and jabbed "Scotty" continually, while occasionally he threw in a wicked right, but "Scotty" is as game as they make them, and put up his usual hard battle. The best bout of the evening was between Joe Burns, of Montreal, and Eddie Franklin, of Detroit. Franklin started as if he was gotroit. Franklin started as if he was going to make short work of the Montrealer, but in the third Burns got into his stride and slowed Franklin up with terrific rights to the stomach and head. Both boys are clever and they battled from gong to gong thruout the entire eight rounds, with Burns having a shade in all but the first two.

1 Teddy Lewis, in spite of his big string of scrappers, has not made much money. In fact he has often lost. The reasan for this is he manages box-ers free of charge, and doesn't take a cent of their purses until they get good.

As only a scant few "get good," and the few only quite recently, Teddy has been working largely for the love of the game. In this sense he is absolutely different from the general run of fight managers.

Hughes althour from the general run of fight managers.

Teddy's three title holders at present are—Jimmy Wilde, paperweight champion of the world; Percy Jones, flyweight champion of England, and Lew Edwards, featherweight champion of England.

Lewys champs are among the light classes, thus indicating that he had more success in this direction than with the heavier fellows. Yet he has dozens of the latter variety on his string.

Like Wilde, Teddy hails from Taylor-stolen, about five miles from Pony-prid, Wales. I trust I have the names correct.

There is another reason why Hughes was willing to manage Wilde in this country besides his friendship for Lewis.

The Hamilton Tigers wired that they would be in town bright and carly this morning for their basketball game with West End Y.M.C.A. tonight, and to look out for fireworks.

This is the real test of the strength of the Hamilton team, and should they by some phenomenal chance come thru, then nothing can stop them in their mad rush to the championship. But the followers of the local team consider this a practical impossibility, and from where we stand they look to be about right. West End are great favorites for this game and are out to redeem themselves for their defeat in Hamilton, when they were barely nosed out in the final stages of the contest.

A fast junior game will be played between West End and St. Christopher at 8 o'clock. The senior game will commence at 9 o'clock.
