Our Annual Fur Sale

Commences on Saturday the 4th, and during the time it lasts you may secure furs at prices that are lower than today's wholesale figures.

A year ago (when we purchased our present stock) prices were from 25 p.c. to 50 p.c. lower than raw materials are costing now. We bought heavily then and still have on hand a large stock of furs at the old prices.

These goods are now on sale at the old figures LESS our January discounts of from 15 p.c. to 35 p.c.

When they are sold we shall have to do business on present market values. If you are interested in furs it will pay you to take advantage of our sale.

THE DANGER SPOT OF EUROPE

A striking article in this week's LITERARY DIGEST—January 4th—deals with what is likely to be the most acute and difficult problem that the Peace Conference will have to solve—the clashing claims of the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs to the eastern shores of the Adriatic. By direct translation and illuminating digest, the views of the leading publicists and journals of England, Italy and Austria are given. This very timely article is illustrated by a map of the Adriatic Provinces, showing the territory in dispute between Italy and the Jugo-Slavs.

Other news features of more than ordinary interest in this number of "The Digest" are:

A New Year's Message to "Literary Digest" Subscribers

Early in 1919 THE LITERARY DIGEST enters upon the thirtieth year of its public service. During these three momentous decades its readers have grown from a small family of local friends and supporters to a vast army numbering more than two millions and scattered over the entire face of the globe. As the New Year dawns, a New Year holding greater promise for humanity at large than any our earth has seen, the publishers extend to all their readers everywhere greeting and goodwill. They thank you for the appreciation of their efforts you have shown in the past, they trust that THE DIGEST has been found a constructive force for good in our national life, and they pledge themselves to the high task of making it, week by week, more truly worth while to the public that has so generously supported it.
