LIVERPOOL LEADS IN

SOLVING FOOD PROBLEM

Liverpool, Mar. 15—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Liverpool, the second largest city in England, is leading the whole country in solving the food shortage problem. It has municipal kitchens, which are models and work more efficiently than those in any other part of the kingdom. It sets every other city in the country an example by maintaining a municipal potato peeling plant and cooking the potatoes for the bakers to mix with their flour.

Its latest enterprise is supplying house- holders with boiling water for cooking and washing purposes and thereby causing a great saving in fuel.

Liverpool's city fathers are very proud of their efforts to make their people the most comfortable in the country in these days of enforced economy. With a display of pride they gladly show visitors these new ways of meeting the food shortage. They take them along the streets where butchers' shops are shut for want of meat. A sign on the meat market reads, "Why buy meat from the butcher when you can get it ready cooked."
