The and a considerable number of others enter with advanced standing. others enter as special students. This unusually large increase with the larger increase this year at Acadia Seminary and Horton Academy marks this as the most successful year in the history of the institutions at Wolf-

The formal public opening took place Friday night in College hall and was attended by the students of the three institutions and a large number of town people. The evening was occupied with a lecture by Rev. A. W Sawyer, DD., LL. D., formerly president of the college, now professor of phychology and meta-physics, followed by important remarks and announcements by President Trotten.

Dr. Sawyer's subject was entitled. 'In the Gallery or a View of the Past." It was a comprehensive and scholary review of the life and scientific hought of the last sixty years. Dr. Sawyer is greatly revered at Acadia, and is as vigorous and commanding in his intellectual power as ever. The lecture was listened to with keen attention and great appreciation. It will and Mr. Hale has great hopes of Queporbably be given to the public later

At the close of the lecture Dr. Trot-Professor C. C. Jones, Ph. D., professor of mathematics, who has just returned from the University of Chicago, where he has been enjoying nine months' leave of absence. The president then alluded to the appointment of Prof. E. He action of the board of governoors in appointing Professor Sawyer to his new and responsible position, and believed that he would be able in that position to serve the college still more The full Episcopalian service for the Jones, son of Prof. Jones, had been asked by the board of governors to suspend his studies at Rochester Theological Seminary for a year in order to render this service. The position held by Mr. Jones will probably after this year be offered as a fellowship to some member of each succeeding graduating class.

Dr. Trotter then referred to the new Are Weak science course, the one leading to the B. Sc. degree, and the other, the abscience course, the one leading to the breviated course, without degree, He explained that much thought and care had been bestowed upon the organization of these courses. It had been felt that instead of establishing superficial engineer courses it was a better policy for Acadia to direct her science students to a first class technical school like the McGill School of Applied Science for advanced technical work. What Acadia offers in the B. S. course is a strong course equally exacting with the B. Says Mr. Borden is Very Stron, the West.

Fred H. Hale, M. P., passed through the city Saturday evening on his way to Woodstock. Mr. Hale has just returned from a western trip. Speaking to a reporter at the depot Mr. Hale said he had every reason to believe that the conservatives will win in the coming elections. In British Columbia and the territories, where he spent some time, Mr. Hale said the prospects were very bright. In Manitoba it is readily acknowledged that the liberals will not win a seat. Even Mr. Sifton, they believe, will be defeated. In Ontario the sequent severance of his relations as Mrs. Hanselpecker Told of the Cruelty of Her Husband, Who Threatened to Knock Her Brains

Out.

An advertisement has appeared He announced that Ralph M. the papers signed by L. N. Hanselpecker intimating that he will not be responsible for debts contracted by his wife, who had left his bed and board. On Saturday Mrs. Hanselpecker, accompanied by her youngest child, called at the Sun office and told her story. She says that about the middle of August her husband ordered her other children to leave the house, and explained that he would knock her brains out if they were not away by the following Monday. He had frequently beaten her and the children, and made life impossible at home. A married daughter who was home on a visit, was beaten and put out of the house, and all the other sons and daughters were driven out. Hanselpecker brought with her all the children who were at home. She has in St. John one son and two daughters at work. Two younger children are with their mother, and are supported by the earnings of the others. Mrs. Hanselpecker says that she has fortunately not found it necessary to make her husband responsible for any debts, though she has an idea that she and the children are entitled to something from him. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE. Complaint From Loch Lomond. UPPER LOCH LOMOND,

Oct. 6th, 1904. Sir-Permit me through the medium of your paper to direct the attention of the government to the dangerous condition of the roadway and bridge between Upper and Lower Loch Lomond, which should have been repaired some time ago, and probably would have been if the government had given us an opportunity of electing a representative in place of Hon. A. T. Dunn when he resigned his position as member for St. John county, since when there does not appear to be any person who takes any interest whatever in looking after our roads and bridges. We should like to have another representative as soon as possible, and we cannot understand why we are kept unrepresented so long, unless it is that the government is afraid of the probable result of an election in St. John county. If this road and bridge arg allowed to remain any longer in their present condition there is very little loubt about the way the people up here will vote when they get the opportunity.

NOT THE ONLY ONE

James McGay of Chamcook farm, St. Andrews, does not own the only clever dog in the world, although "Henry' 'is a good one. Reference was made to his almost human intelligence in Sat-HUNG," BUT LIVES. urday's Sun, but A. G. Rainnie has a collie which is a close rival in canine achievement. At his owner's command to speak he will stand on his hind legs, open his mouth, and not bark, but make a sound which seems to come rapid recovery of Thomas Cahill, who he vocalizes. At the word of com-Winsted a week ago, is pronounced mand he will at once come to attention one of the most remarkable on record.
