PROGRESS SATURDAY, JANUARY 26 1901

RHYMING RUBE.

The first time Isaw 'Rhyming Rube

Like and time law 'Advantg Luce was in rather startling circumstances. I bed just begun the fall term of the Stone Ridge district school. Although the month was October, the westber was so mild that, one alternoon during the second week of the term, I had all the windows of the little schoolroom open.

schoolroom open. I was showing a dull boy by my deak how to solve a problem in tractions, when a little cry from one of the girls sitting on the east side of the room caused me to look up, and I saw a man's head thrust in at the window.

rhymes. I had incurred the displeasure of a gang of three or iour roughs in the neighbor-hood by ordering them to leave the school-house one night when we were having a spelling-match, that they seemed bear on breaking up. The directors of the district had been present, and they had supparted me in the position I had taken, and the roughs had been compelled to leave the house. They had vowed revenge, and I had been told that it would be well to be on my guard, for they would probably try to play some trick upon me or work me some real mjury. I had been ill during nearly all of the past summer, and I had never been very strong. Consequently, I would have been no match tor even one of the roughs; but I knew them to be a gang of bullies, and I was not very much atraid of them. It was, however, the part of wisdom to avoid them if I could. Rhyming Rube came to the school one look up, and I saw a man's head thrust in at the window. He had a grin on his face, which was not as elean as it might have been, and his old alouch hat was hanging on the back of his head. When he caught up yee he bobbed his head in a way that caused his hat to slip down over his back to the ground. He had beautiful large blue eyes, with a singularly childlike look in them, and they twinkled merrily when he and : mid :

"Here yon be, Teachin', I ace, Learn em' to write, and ains to read, For that's the learnin' that they need." Some of the child:en giggled at this and the older boys and girls smiled in a way that convinced me the man was not a stranger to them. Giancing round the room, the man said : "Fix year looks on your books, And not on me whom you often see." The man then walked round to the onen

The man then walked round to the open door of the schoolroom. Coming up to my desk, he made a low bow and extended his hand, saying as he did so :

"The band of a triend 1 (for the An houset hand, though poor I be." The irritation I had felt at this interrup-tion of the work of the school died away when I looked into the man's sparkling blue eyes and saw the look of real friend-ing as in it face. myself on the river-bank. There stood Joe Long. Lyme Rogers and Clem Anson, the three tellows I had order. ed from the schoolhouse. They were evidently waiting for me, for when they saw me Lyme said: "Here he is, boys !" "What do you want of me ?" I asked, liness in his face. I gave him a chair and asked him to sit down. He bowed and

"Thank you, sir; and so I will, And until noon I will keep still."

He kept his word, and sat perfectly still, looking about the room with a childlike facing them and putting on as bold a front facing them and putting on as bold a front as possible. "We want to give you a good ducking in the river and something worse afterward !" replied Joe. Before I could make any reply to this, Rube came running out from the thick timber back of me. He had beard what Joe Long had said, for he cried out: "You do, hew?

mile on his face. It was evident that the man was feeble It was evident that the man was feeble minded, and this was all the more sorrow-ful because of the fact that he was of magnificent physique. He was full six feet three in height, and splendidly pro-portioned. I have rarely seen a finer look ing man. When the noon hour came the boys and girls crowded round him familiar-ly. He went out to play ball with some of the boys, and Hetty Larkin, one of the large girls, told me about him. 'He usn't all bere,' said Hetty, tapping her brow significantly. 'But there isn't a

'He isn't all berc,' said Hetty, tapping her brow significantly. 'But there isn't a bit of harm in him. He slways speaks in rhymes, and that is why he is called Rhym-ing Rube, although his real name is Reu-ben Zilley. He lives with his poor old mother, but he spends most of his time in running round here and there. He and his mother live in that little red house down by the ferry across the river. His mother has a pension and she has a cow and chickens, and she and Rube together have a little garden Rube could get work and chickens, and she and Rube together have a little garden Rube could get work smong the farmers and earn a good deal, but he is such a restless creature that he can never be depended upon. He will drop his scythe or his hoe right in the field and start off as it some one were after him. He doesn't even stop for the wages that may be due him, and be has no more idea of the value of money than a baby has. You need not be surprised if he gets up after school begins and gives us a speech in rhyme, and thehe darts out of the house and is off like the wind.' That was just what Rube did do. He came into the house with the boys and girls

There's the place you described up the riverback, and three times Rube caught and flung cach of them back, while he call-ed out wild and jeering rhymes, and work-ed himself up to such a frenzy of excite-ment that it was with difficulty that I at last prevailed on him to allow the chilled and frightened trio to come out of the river. Joe Long was fairly blubbering with pain and freight, and he shrieked with fear when Rube zeized a big club and threatened to 'maul' all three of them. They ran through the woods, while I clung came into the house with the boys and girls at the close of the noon intermission, and sat very still for nearly an hour. I was hearing a recitation in grammar when Rube suddenly rose to his feet, stepped upon the platform, bowed to me and then to the school, and said : They ran through the woods, while I clung to Rube to keep him from following them.

ould follow the boys and rolled over and over upon it in the exuberance of her delight. In her efforts attention to him, and he hinder the work of the idid not greatly hinder the work of the school. Sometimes he remained until the close of school in the evening, and we would walk home together. I had given him a knite and several other little presents, and his gratitude was boundless. He would do anything that I asked him to do, and he sang my praises in many and varying rhymes. paid little to apply it to the upper part of her head, she performed acrobatic tests of an aston-ishing kind.

From his experiment, the investigator was satisfied that love of catnip is not confined to the domestic brance of the cat I had incurred the displeasure of a gang tamily.

THE KIND OF WIFE.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE TWELVE. Moreover, I have a notion that when the due time comes he will choose for himself So he should. I remember having very mighty and strong convictions on that point myself.

My dear father used to say to me, and it was about all he did say on the matter, 'Son Tom, when you see anyone half a good as your mother, propose to her at once.' This advice I propose to pass on to the generation following. What will my dear boy's disposition ripen into? What will be his calling in lite? These and other questions must be answered ere I can discuss this matter to any purpose whatsoever.

however, the part of wisdom to avoid them if I could. Rhyming Rube came to the school one dull November atternoon, and remained until the close of the session. The boy whom I had engaged to sweep and clean the schoolhouse during the term was ill that week, and I did the sweeping myself. Rube helped me, and when the house was in order we started for home. My board-place was about a quarter of a mile from Rube's home, and we would part company at the river. It was nearly dark when we came to the strip of timber near the bank. As we entered it, a rabbit ran across the road and Rube darted after the animal while I went on my way. A moment later I rounded a curve of the road and jound myself on the river-bank. There Should he become, in answer to many hopes, a minister of the gospel, he will need such a one for partner as might not have been essential to him in another vocation. In any case, the matter is best in God's hands. 'The wife I should choose for my son' is the one he selects. Such ought to be for the best, for 'A prudent wite is from the Lord.'

Respect And Supreme Affection The Basis.

PY JOSEPH COOK

What sort of a woman would I advise my son to marry ? Just such a woman as I married myself ! It might be, however, that my son would not closely resembly myself,, and in that case I should insist that his preferences ought to be different from his father's. But the supreme rule for marriage is to make the basis of it only a supreme affection. This should be tested not only by love at first sight, but perhaps by years of acquaintance, many sided, thorough, and of cumulative effect in the growth of regard of the deathless kind. Before the minchief-makers could recover from their surprise, Rube bore down up-on them and grabbed Lyme and Joe each by the collar. They were within ten teet of the water, and the next instant they went over the steep bank into the river. Clem had taken to the woods, but had tripped on a sansg and had sprawled at full length on the ground, Before he could get upon his teet Rube bad him by the cellar, and was shaking him until I inter-fered because of the seeming danger that Clem's neck would be dislocated. Dragging the trightened and pleading bully to the water, Rube litted him into the air as easily as it he bad been a child and

At the first glance they have changed eyes. If this exchange of eyes is unlorced, spontaneous, permanent, it is the Divine sumnons to marriage, and nothing else is equally authoritative within the holy of holies of the heart, early or late. Such a summons usually comes to a man or woman but once in that brief gleam which we call lite. Health, beauty, accomplishments are important, but respect and a supreme affection that will bear all tests are indispensable and commanding prerequisites of a happy marriage. The base of the pillar of a right marriage must be confidence, respect, unshaken as to the foundations of the world, but the superstructure must reach beyond the stars. Thoroughly happy marriages are only sheuted Rube. None of the fleeing trio made any reply, and I walked all the way to his home with Rube, fearing that be havin all the children hold up their hands every time the teacher speaks to 'em is great. It gives 'em practical traini. tur the real battle of life, in which knowin when to throw up both hands an doin it in a burry may mean much.'

Small For Its Are.

Pat called as usual one morning at the Cow and Pail for his threepennyworth of whisky, when the following conversation ensued between the landlady and himself: Pst-This be good whiskey, mum? Lady-Yes, 'Pat. Can you guess the age of it ?

Pat-No, mum. Landlady-Well, it's 30 years old. Pat (eyeing the threepennyworth)-Oi'm a-thinking it be mighty small for its ege,

Merely Matters of Opinion

A woman cannot be truly happy unless she has something to worry about, even if it is nothing more than a lapdog. When a man is 20, he feels that the whole world is resting on his shoulders. When he is 40, he begins to suspect that it may be standing on his chest.

The wisest man may be fooled, but only a fool can be fooled in the same way twice.

Bis Ruinstion.

Is it de truth dat the legislatur' gone en pass a law ter tax dogs ?' asked the old colored citizen.

'Yes: it's a fact.' 'Well, sub, dat bein de case, heah's one niggar dat's testotally ruint ! Dey's seven dogs en one mule in my family.'

BORN.

ton, Jan. 14. to the wife of R. Sharp, a son. Salem, Jan. 13, to the wife of Wm. Handy, a son Hants, Jan. 12, to the wife of E. Lunn, a daughter Parrsboro, Jan. 3, to the wife of H. Pettis, a daughter Kentville, Jan. 13, to the wife of J. Lloyd, a daugh Bockville, Jan. 10, to the wife of Stayley Bicker, Belleville, Jan 23, to the wife of Peter Babine, s Annapolis. Dec. 29, to the wife of W. Mc Millan, Clarence, Jan. 13, to the wife of Award Wilson, a Bockingham, Jan 14, to the wife of C. Tremaine,

Sydney, Dec. 7, to the wife of Frank Creighton, Annarolis, Jon. 16, to the wife of R. Douglas, a Clark's Harbor, Jan. f, to the wife of R. Maxwell, a son. West Paradise, Jan. 4, to the wife of Stabley Moore a son. Lunenbury, Dec. 26. to the wife of Stephen Hirtle, Colchester, Jan. 11, to the wife of Jas. McDonald Shelburne Dec, 29, to the wife of Howland White a son. Yarmouth, Jan, 13, to the wife of Capt. Hilton, dauguter.

Westport. Jan. 6, to the wife of Robert Lafoley, daughter. Kings, Jap. 7, to the wife of Jotham McDonaid, a daughter. Truro, Jan. 10, to the wife of J. McIntosh, a daughter.

ipringhil, Jan. 3, to the wife of John Laurance, a daughter. New Annan, Dec. 16, to the wife of Geo. Wilton, a daughter.

New Annan, Dec. 21, to the wife of Norman Stud-van, s son. Yarmouth, Dec. 29, to the wife of Thomas Aiktn son, a son. South Farmington, Jan. 2, to the wife of W. Phin-ney, a son.

New York States and St

a caugh'er. Windsor, Jan. 8, to the wife of Arthur Pemberton a daughter.

New Glasgow. Jan. 9, to the wife of Wm. Reeves, a daughter North Sydney, Jan. 2, to the wife of Hector Mc-Dougall, a son.

Washington, Dec. 24, to the wife of John Ranswel-ler, a daughter.

Fairville, Jan 9, by Rev A. McLean Bit le Head, Qurens, Jan 2, by Bev & H Butler, Nathan W Wolfe to Adah Leslie. rgaree, C B, Jan 8, by Rev A E 1 Daniel Chiasson to Annie Chiass New Glasgow, Jan 7, by Rev Anderson 1 Wahrer A Weit to Mary A Cameron. Port William, Jas 18, by Rev Father Hol Wildred Byan to Olivia Violet McKay.

South River Lake, Jan 9, by Rev AJ Ma Margaree, C B Jan 8, by Rev A E Mom

DIED.

omy, Jan. 4, J W Moore, 76, outh, Jan. 6, Cisyton Good win. ingtor, Jan. 14, Capt. Mills, 74. outh, Dec. 10, John O Earle, 84. California, Janr 4, Wm. T. Smith, 50. Pictou, Jan. 8, Elizabeth McLean, 09. Lanenburg, Jan. 13, Mrs John Sarty. Truro, Jan. 11, Mr Hugh W Lane, 63. Lower Beimah, Dec. 37, John Cox, 68. North Sydney, Jan. 1, Joseph Salter, 82. Bridgewater, Jan. 11, Joseph Salter, 82. outh Matitand, Jan. 10, Nancy White, 61. Miller's Creek, Dec. 24, John A Miller, 71. Miller's Creck, Dec. 24, John A Miller, 71. Leamington, Jan 12, Barashua Hunter, 64. Tusket Wedge, Jan. 10, Mrs Jervals Pothier. Oxford, Jan. 1, Mary Florine MacKintosh, 16. Yarmouth, Jan. 12. Mrf William Ackiand 83. Halifax, Jan 13, Francis Kirkland Dowolf, 63. Port La Tour. Dec. 10, Benjamin S Crowell, 62. Lower Stewiscke, Dec. 20, John McNutt, 73. Colchester, Jan. 13, Leah. wif-of Geo, Hill, 69. St. John, Jan. 9, Mary Eliz theth Whetsel, 32, Westmorland Point, Jan. 10, Johna Etter, 85. Bathurst, N B., Jan. 14, Mrs Ann McNaura, 92. Rochingham, Jan. 14 Frederick V Tremsing, 56, Bachingham, Jan 14, Brederick V Tromsine, 56, Port Hood, Jan. 5, Hugh, son of John Cameron, 22-Salvm. Mass., Jan. 9, Mr John Horton Killam, 40; Pictor, Dec. 7, James W, son of David McLean 24, Herring Cove, Jan. 15, Wm., son of Joseph Reyno Halifar, Jan 16, Annie E., daughter of Thomas Davis.

Truro, Jan. 12, Howard, infant son of Mr and Mrs.

irookin. N Y., Jan. 10, Theophilus Chamber lain, 79. Incien Harber, Jan. 10. Jone, widow of John oston, Mass., Jap. 1, Gertrude, wife of Geo. Mc-Knight, 22.

Intsport, Jan 4, Susan, widow of Capt. James oncton, Jan 12, Mary, beloved wife of Charles H mouth, Jan. 11, Elizabeth, widow of the late Amos Davison, 82, Gavel: on Jan 8, infant son of Norman and Caro-line Gavel, 1 mouth. Windsor. Jap. 1. Rokand, son of Mr and Mrs Robt, Houghton, 8 months.

Amberst, Jan. 12 Mary Gladness, daughter of Hibbert Roberts. 3 years.

Yarmouth, Jao. 11, Enge-son Huestis, son of Deborah and Huward Kenney, 2 years. Sbaron, Mass, Jan. 10 Carl Leslie, only child of Mr and Mrs Carlton French, 8 months.

Shade and the late for far to add an de lo

WRITE OR FRE Julia C. Richard, P.O. Box 996, Montrea

A STATEMENT OF THE PARTY OF THE CANADIAN PACIFIC Tourist Sleepers.

MONTREAL __TO_

PACIFIC COAST. EVERY THUBSDAY.

been met, in have been f serious nature the chief with selves away-say to Sydney asserts they s and the case]

VOL. 1

~~~~

TH

How t

Chief Cla

charges again to an end last it is now an o vindicated an dtd in the fire

the corruptne

Magistrate

expected wou Still, even i Nason, had I dence might h portant as we eard before t With no li lot of red tap tion dragged Mr. Blair c client, Mr. way, knowing he laid at t defending. H Chief's elber legal balls i to throw. Stil the detective, concernedly a formance at t At one stag Recorder cros kins pretty conduct and houses. of ill straightforwar say nothing de although he ha seizares, etc, The Capta personal o hady resorts there and allo ing and upro breaking out ill-fame, and s words, "picki common evil

Then th

the city's public at lar

there-of the moude houses.

the school, and said: "Boys and girls, has ken to me. I am very much pleased with what I see. You must mind your teacher, kind and true, And do the thing he wants you to do. I like his looks, and he seems to know That he's here for work and not tor show. He's not very strong, i'm y eves are true, But he's all right here, and that will do.

Issing injury. From that time forth Rhyming Rube Rhyming Rube tapped his own brow as he uttered the last line, and then rambled made himself my body-guard. Every evening he appeared at the schoolhouse to eccort me home, and sometimes he came to my boarding house to walk to school with me in the morning I met my assail-ants several times during the winter on Saturdays when Rube was not with me, but they used a method to make the on for fully five minutes in jingling rhyme urging the boys and girls to 'Learn to be good and learn to be wise Work and sudy and tell no lies.'

Work and study and tell so ites." When he had completed his harangue, he bowed low and went out of the open door without another word. I boarded with Mrs. Tarley, an elderly and garrulous woman, and when I told her about my visit from Rube, she said: "Poor Rube! There isn't a mite of harm

"'Lay him out on the grass to dry, He'll sass me no more when I pass by. Other boys take warning by the fate of Hen, Or they'll git ducked as he has ben.'" d to his

Rhyming Rube came often to the sch and we became good friends. The child about my visit from Kube, she said: "Poor Rube! There isn't a mite of harm about him, not a bit, but it's a dreadful pity that he hasn't sense enough to make any use of that great body of his. He's as strong as an ox and as useless as a child. He never has been much different from what he is now, only he seems to grow more childlike as he grows older. The best way to get along with him is to treat him as it he were a child. He can and does get awill mad, childlike as he looks in his face and as he acts. And with all that great strength of his, a body has to handle him carefully when he gets riled. The boys used to tesse him a good deal, but they don't dare to very much now because his temper is more uncertain than it used to be, and they've been kind of skeery of him ever since he picked Henry Dixon up and soused him head first into a bar'l of lem'nade at a picance last summer. When they made, Rube says: "'Lay him out or the grass to dry, He's him out or he grass to dry, He's him out or he grass to dry, He's him out or he grass to dry him out or he's grass to dry, He's him out or he's prote him out or he grass to dry, He's hi

"Farewell, dear teacher, true and kind, I'il aiways have you in my mind. And wherever you go and wherever you be I hope you'll sometimes think of me."

"You do, hey ? Back, teacher ! Out o' the way !"

Before the mischief-makers could recover air as easily as it be bad been a child and aent tim headlong into the icy wa'er, say-ing as he did so:

"Into the water, you rascals three; There's the place you deserve to be!"

"Well may you run, ye cowards three ! Well may ye run in fear from me!"

I have thought often of him, but I have ever seen hin

Wild Animals, and Catnip.

A curious investigator and a few sprigs of catnip led to an amusing scene at the Zoo in Central Park, New York, recently. The tigers and the puma scornfully re fused to notice the herb when it was pre sented to them by the keeper, but the lion, the lionesses and the big leopard were boisterous in their manifestations of plea

The lion planted a foot upon it, smelled it, licked it, sprawled upon it, and tossed t about in ways unbecoming his kingly dignity. The leopard picked it up in her huge paw, took long and ecstatic sniff s

Saturdays when Rube was not with me, but they made no attempt to molest me. Indeed, they treated me with great polite-nees, having in mind, perhaps, some of the fearful threats Rube made every time he saw them, regarding what would happen if they caused me any trouble. Poor Rube followed me to the station when I was leaving for my home at the close of the term of school, and his last words were:

and do them

chools ? 'Yes, an they

to be provebial to say tainly made in beaven.

But this is a holy mystery into which even the angels look and forever and always find it unfathomable.

Ourions Lamps. A firefly lamp has the charm of novelty. It hails from the West Indies and is quite pretentious affair, being eighteen inches high and built in three stories. It is made of wicker and bamboo cages, with little

In these cages fireflies are imprisoned and are cared for and fed. The lamp is one of a collection brought together at the National Museum in Washington by Mr. Walter Hough. The collection includes lamps of all ages, from those of ancient nations to lamps of to day. There are old English anthorns there that would delight the heart of the collector of curios. Among the Chinese lamps are those ande of bamboo and used to light alleyways. They are the illuminators that so often lead to conflagrations. Eskimo lamps, old fashioned olive oil lamps, and Japanese lanterns suspended from sticks add to the interest of the collection.

Protoundly Impressed.

'There's no use of talkin,' said Bronch Bob, 'this eastern education is splendid.' 'Have you visited any of our public Cheticamp, C B, Jan 8, by Rev P Fiset, Thomas Galiant to Mary Desvaux.

Rockport, Jan 9, by Rev B H Thomas, Arthur E Thurston to Elize E Tewer. Santord, Jan 13, by Rev C S Hilyard, George Bev-eridge to Mri Mary Bowery.

eridge to Mr: Mary Bowery. Tusket Wedge, Jan 9, by Rev Fr Foley, Alphe Pothier to Georgina Richard.

Tusket Wedge, Jan 10, by Rev Fr Foley, Joshus LeBlanc to Mrs Sarah Pothier.

Halifax, Jan 16, by Rev'J & Sutherland, Tupper Constance to Agnes McDonald.

Yarmouth. Jan 10, by Elder Wm Hallliday, Ber nard Brenton to Minnis Allen. Sydney Mines, Jan 8, by Rev D MacMillan, Wil liam Ferguerson to Ella Vicare.

inghill, Jan 9, by Rev David Wright, A.

Also for maps and pamplets descriptive of journ. acy, etc., write to D. P. A., C. P. R., St. John, N.

On and after MONDAY Nov. 26th, 1900, train

TRAINS WILL LEAVE ST. JOHN

TRAINS WILL ARRIVE AT ST. JOHN

cept Monda are run by

D. POTTINGER CITY TICKET OFFICE

CH

ly cracked thei the Captain sai stuff ."

Then came nothing very e quite plain and pected Officer and explain took the mon of his counse charges made and should ha Blair, hewever

the Chief to The Chief refu "If it is the ties that I ente houses then I question is cer ntouslwith