WOMEN SUFFRAGE FROM A WOMAN'S POINT OF VIEW

A column devoted to the interests of women, which did not include articles on the great question of woman suffrage, would be far from representing the spirit of today. Because the editor of these columns has not expressed her opinion of the men who, on Wednesday night, rejected a bill to give the equal suffrage to women in New Brunswick, does not mean that she holds no opinion. Far from it, but sometimes there is wisdom in not saying all one thinks in the heat of the moment.

The fact that the bill for woman suffrage passed in the British House of Commons by a majority of 330 votes, makes the fact of its rejection by the Provincial Legislature of New Brunswick cause for comment.

It is said that one reason given by many of the men who voted against the bill was that "their wives did not want the vote," one member even going so far as to say that his wife "told him to vote against it." This at once brings up the question as to whether these men are always so exceedingly careful to carry out their wives' wishes. Another point these men seem to miss is that they were not sent to the legislature to represent their wives, but the community which elected them.

Another reason given by members representing country constituencies is that no requests had come to them to support the bill. Now in the outlying districts there is much lack of knowledge of the needs of reform in cities and it is not often I think that the great movements for modern changes originate in the rural districts. But the people in the country do not all stay there. What do many women in the country know of the laws which govern the employment of women and children for instance? If every woman would study some of the laws of our Dominion there would be as many converts to suffrage as there are women.

A theory advanced against equal suffrage is that women are illogical. To any fair-minded individual it will be seen by reading the arguments against woman suffrage, written or spoken by men that logic is left out of the question and that the base of all arguments against the equal suffrage is sentiment. "I wouldn't like to see my wife at the polls." "A woman's place is in the home," etc.

The man who would not like to see his wife at the polls does not see that there are reasons why women want to make politics so that even the polls will be fit for any lady to attend. And as for that home argument—why that is all very well if a man is going to shut his wife up in a home and let her sit there and look pretty, darning his socks, is that the ideal woman of to-day? Is that the ideal woman of to-day that sheltered selfish individual? Have not thousands of women proved that they can not only make a home for their husbands and families but that their sympathies and activities can reach out into the world at large and help to make it a safer place for their husbands, sons and daughters to dwell in?

Is it logical to expect women to work so hard on all boards of public institutions, many of the institutions originated by women's efforts and sustained by women's labors for charity, and then deny them the right to vote on subjects which govern these institutions or the evil which reform societies have to fight?

Another theory advanced is that women are not educated for the vote. The obvious answer is that neither are many men but there is also the answer that you cannot be educated to something you have not got. You might as well say that a girl does not deserve a piano until she can play on it.

Education can come along with the vote and who can doubt that the modern woman is not a different one from the woman even three years ago.

No I think men had better forget that logic argument. It is not borne out by facts. It comes to this. If women are good enough to have the care of children and bring them up to be good citizens they must have minds enough to decide on questions which concern those children and the kind of world the boys and girls have to live in. The man that refuses his wife the right to vote denies her intelligence. Men need not fear that every woman will rush into politics and upset everything (many of us have a lurking suspicion that there are some things which would bear inspection), there will always be the domestic women for the home just as there will always be the thousands of men who do not enter the political sphere. The home-loving women will not be the worse for the vote. There are the women without a home and the business women who have to live. She is good enough to take a man's place in the world but, according to twenty-four men in Fredericton she has not the right to vote in the affairs which concern her life.

The matter is, of course, only one of time, and while New Brunswick had a chance of being in the van of pro-

LITTLE WORRIES
IN THE HOME

These Bring the Wrinkles and Pallid Faces That Make Women Look Prematurely Old.

Almost every woman at the head of a home meets daily many little worries in her household affairs. The care of her little ones, the work about the house all contribute to these worries. Most of them may be too small to notice an hour afterwards, but they constitute a constant strain that affects the blood and the nerves and make women look prematurely old. The effect of these little worries may be noticed in sick or nervous headaches, sickle appetite, tiredness after slight exertion, and the coming of wrinkles which every woman dreads. To those thus afflicted Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be a speedy cure, a restoration of color to the cheeks, brightness to the eye, a hearty appetite and a sense of freedom from weariness. Among the many thousands of Canadian women who have found new health and strength through these pills is Mrs. G. Strasser, Acton, West, Ont., who says: "I am the mother of three children and after each birth I became terribly run down, I had weak, thin, blood, always felt tired, and unable to do my household work. After the birth of my third child I seemed to be worse, and was very badly run down. I found the greatest benefit from the Pills and soon gained my old time strength. Indeed after taking them I felt as well as in my girlhood, and could take pleasure in my work. I also used Baby's Own Tablets for my little ones and have found them a splendid medicine for childhood ailments." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can procure them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

JUNE 23RD.
Today is the birthday of the Prince of Wales and as I wrote last year we should say with all our hearts "God Bless the Prince of Wales." He is still at the front with the soldiers he loves, and still sharing the dangers of the battle as much as he is allowed and still chaffing at restraint. We have every cause to be proud of the heir to the throne and to pray that he may long be spared to us.

SPECIAL MEETING OF LOYALIST CHAPTER, I.O.E.
At the Manor House, yesterday afternoon, a special meeting of the Loyalist Chapter, I.O.E., was held in honor of Miss Edith Hegan. In a most interesting talk Miss Hegan described her experiences in the different hospitals in which she has nursed overseas, and showed her photographs of which plumed, and naming, and calling out the names of Francis E. McManus, a non-striking plumber, in employment of Joseph Noble, who was arrested yesterday morning, brought before Magistrate and remanded.

The case of G. A. Cameron, druggist and vendor of reported for selling wine to a soldier and thereby making him intoxicated, was resumed. G. H. V. Belyea appeared for the defendant and Chief Inspector Rev. W. D. Williams for the prosecution. The case was adjourned to Monday.

Norway and the visits to the Crown Princess of Sweden and the Queen of Norway was described and many details told, all of which were of deep interest.

These present felt that they were most privileged to witness this talk and that Miss Hegan was sharing with her friends and fellow-members of the Loyalist Chapter some of the wonderful experiences she had had.

After the talk, which was delightfully informal, a vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Geo. McA. Billard and seconded by Mrs. Ryder.

LITTLE PAIGE GETS
20 MILES TO GALLON
OF GASOLINE.

Recently the question was asked: How far can a six-cylinder car travel on a gallon of gasoline? The Paige answered that under carefully inspected and attested conditions, a Paige seven passenger "Six-51" covered 17 miles flat and the record was sworn to by responsible witnesses.

Now the Paige comes forward with another demonstration of gasoline mileage, this time with its smaller six-cylinder model, the Linwood "Six-35," which made an attested record of 20 and nine-tenths miles before the gallon of low test gasoline was exhausted.

With five men in the car the smaller Paige, with a 39 h. p. motor, was driven over exactly the same route that the larger Paige had followed in making its record of 17 miles to a gallon, which included both city and country driving. As before the speedometer had been tested for accuracy, the engine gave its last gasp at 20 and nine-tenths miles.

The car was made to do some high gear hill climbing to demonstrate that the carburetor was not cut down fine for low gas consumption. Walter H. Golding, president of the Motion Picture League of the Maritime Provinces, has received a letter from W. Stephen Burdett, editor of The Exhibitor's Trade Review, accepting the invitation of the League to attend a meeting to be held in St. John the latter part of August. It is also hoped that Miss Rose Taylor, a noted actress of the Vitagraph Company, will be present.

Was Troubled With Shortness of Breath

When the heart becomes affected, there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, another sensation, dizziness, and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

The nerves become unstrung, you dread to be alone, have a horror of society, start at the least noise and are generally fatigued.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills should be taken. They are just what you require at this time. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

M. B. writes: "Since two years ago I was troubled with a shortness of breath, and sometimes I could hardly breathe. I went to see several doctors, and they said it was from my heart and nerves, but they did not seem to do me any good. One day I got one of your B.B.R. Almanacs and read of a case similar to mine.

"I bought a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after taking it I noticed such a change that I kept on taking them until I had used four more boxes, when I was cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box, three boxes for $1.35, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Who's Who and What's What in the Picture World and on the Stage---Favorites and What They Say and Do.

IMPERIAL.

"The Million Dollar Bid." That this picture has a good reputation was shown by the fact that it played all yesterday afternoon and evening to large houses, although many had seen it before at the same house.

It is known as the picture which made Anita Stewart famous and she certainly proved herself in it an actress of much talent. Personally I would far rather see her in happy parts. She is pretty when she smiles but it is very interesting to compare the work of both actors and camera men and note the advances made even in the short space of two years. Also did we really wear those long trailing gowns and bind our tresses with those swathing bands of chiffon? Weren't they funny and I suppose that is what we will be saying about the styles of 1917 in two years.

The men's clothes are just as funny and in one place almost spoil a dramatic moment.

It is said that no shipwreck has been more realistically pictured than the one in "The Million Dollar Bid."

Poor Enoch Arden Marhe (Harry Morley) had to die to round out the happy romance. I knew he was doomed when I saw the happy family group.

The cast is a notable one, including many of the Vitaphone favorites, Julia Stepwary Gordon, K. Lincoln, Gladys James, as well as Mary Maurice, who appeared as a French peasant woman.

After the tragic happenings in "The Million Dollar Bid" the antics of the comedians in the Foxfilm picture proved a relaxation and there are certainly many funny happenings. The animals introduced are cleverly made to furnish laughs and Maud's Hoe Haw of triumph is a good joke. Those scenes of the tug of war between the country and the other donkey are all right.

NOTED PEOPLE IN THEATRICAL WORLD TO VISIT ST. JOHN.

It is expected that at least two people well known in the theatrical world will visit St. John this summer. Walter H.
