THE CATHOLIC RECORD.

Sing Me a Song of the Olden Time. ABBE KINNE.

Sing me a song of the olden time-"Highland Laddie," and "Bonnie Doon;" Sing to me now in the fading light, For my heart goes back to my youth to nightnight-Sing me some dear old tune,

2

And I will dream as I hear your voice, Sweet, and tender, and strong, and clear, Like your mother's voice, when these songs

she sung Long ago when we both were young-You are so like her, dear.

Take down her harp and touch the strings: Too long, too long have they silent been; My heart has been full of hurry and strife, And the care and the worry of active life— I long for the songs again.

Sing "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie

Doon ;" Your mother sung that song to you While she rocked you there on her breast to sleep. Dear little daughter, do not weep— Sing me the old songs, too.

Sing "Logan Water" and "Land o' the Leal," "Annie Laurie" and "Banks o' Dee;" Dear old songs that we never forget; Over my heart they are echoing yet; She sung them all to me.

No music ever so sweet can be As the tuneful lays of the days of yore Sung by-mother and sister and wife; And now, my child. in this later life I would hear those songs once more,

So sing me a song of the olden time-"Highland Laddie," or "Bonnie Doon;" Sing to me now in the fading light, For my heart goes back to my youth to nicht-Sing me some dear old tune.

SURVEILLANCE IN IRELAND.

An Irish-American Runs the Gauntlei of Local Officials.

THE DISTRESS AND POVERTY SUBBOUNDING THE NEW NIOBE OF NATIONS GRAPHI-CALLY NARRATED-THE ROUGH MARKS OF BALFOUR'S TYRANNICAL HEEL VIS IBLE EVERYWHERE.

To the Editor of the Star :

SIR-Believing that a sketch of a visit to Ireland in the year of grace 1888, Bal-four ruling, would be interesting to your readers, and particularly so in view of the effort now being made to raise a fund for the defence of Mr. Parnell, I beg to ask space for it in your influential and patriotic paper. I landed in Dublin from Holyhead at 6 a. m. on the morning of July 22. From then till I left Belfast, some three weeks afterwards, I was the cynosure of all (detective) eyes, the observed of all (official) observers. Having spent two years at the model schools on Marlboro streat, I first meandered in that direc-tion, my mind reverting to the many incidents of school life, and ever and anon drifting down the aisles of time to note how many of the resolutions of those days had survived the assaults of human passions and how many bright hopes then formed had been ruthlessly shivered on fortune's lance. Thus musing, my steps brought me to O'Connell street, and as the statue of the mighty Tribune had been erected since my time, I longed to gaze on the majestic figure of the Great Emancipator. It stands at the foot of O'Connell street, looking toward College Green, and is well worthy of him whose majestic form it represents. Nay, even the very soul of O'Connell beams forth from the pose of the figure and lines of the face. No statue that I have ever seen approaches it in conveying the power, and in this respect it idea of actually Through on an Irish audience. The statue of Sir John Gray is in the rear of that of O'Connell between it and

The of that of O'Connell between it and isometimes ind timeserves. Two car loads of young men called at our house the Wellington monument. It is well one day and I drove off with them. Immediately a posse of police marched times to give it special attention at that time, I subsequently paid it my devoted ding of a young lady, who, being a asked me if I had come from America, how long I intended to remain, where I expected to stay, and much to that effect, to all of which I answered as suited the Leaving the store I drove to the house cccasion, Leaving the store I drove to the house of a relative, where I proposed remain-ing while in Dublin. Here I thought I would surely be safe from prying eyes I had stepped from the frying pan into the fire. My friend's daughter had been recently married to Mr. Crilly, M. P., and the house was a suspected house— had been, in fact, watched night after night. They had recently had a release from espionage, as Mr. Crilly was away in London, but my coming would add fuel to the flame. Well, if they could stand it I would, and they were willing to stand it. To make matters worse, I resolved to visit the rooms of the Irish National League. There I met my old friend Dan Hishon in cbarge. Mr. Har-rington, M. P., came in soon aiter, and as I had been a medium through which many dollars had been cabled to him, my welcome was a cordial one. He im-mediately informed me that I would from that moment be a marked man, as all persons visiting the rooms of the League were. I told him I thought I was tarred with the Balfourian stripe already. He advised me to be careful and warned me of the fate of Mandeville. "Balfour," he said, "is determined to ride rouch-shod over us while he has the

and warned me of the fate of Mandeville. "Balfour," he said, "is determined to ride rough shod over us while he has the power." I told him I was an American citizen and as such would do what I thought proper and say what I felt while in Ireland. I subsequently visited the offices of the Eventual and Lowing and Lowing. offices of the Freeman's Journal and United Ireland It had been my purpose to visit the scene of the Vandeleur evictions in Clare, but there was a cessation of hos tilities, so I started for my home in the West. Now, again, came in the atten-tions of the Government. All along the line policemen were at every station. When I arrived at Ballina 1 resumed my mysterious tactics, shutting myself up in my room at the hotel (they have no registers for names in those hotels-m registers for names in those hotels—in the Moy Hotel at least), and only plunged out to wait on the editor of the Western People, Mr. P. Smith, a redhot Nationalist. Here sgain I was cau-tioned. He had just come from the trial of Mr. McHugh, Mavor of Sligo, and editor of the Sligo Champion, who had re ceived six months' imprisonment. We adopted the strategy of standing on the sidewalk in the middle of the bridge connecting Ballina with Ardnaree and talked out our talk to the great tantali-zation of Her Majesty's constabulary, who not unfrequently viewed us inquisi tively from the other side. This was tively from the other side. This was Friday. I promised him to come in and speak to his branch of the National League on Sunday. After this I drove to my sister's house, about eight miles. Next morning a policeman from Ballina dressed in plain clothes called at the house, passing (by the way) to see some friends of his. Later on, on the same day, the head constable from another station (Tubbercurry) and the Sergeant from still another (Curry) came to a lake near by fishing, by the way. Perhaps it was all accident, but the visits of these gentlemen had been previously like angles' visits, "few and far between." On Sunday I addressed a meeting of On Sunday I addressed a meeting of the League at Ballina. We were not disturbed, I suppose the guardians of law and order had discovered by this time who I was. Mr. Smith and I visited Excisione a withing please in the Euniscione, a watering place, in the evening, and were the objects of marked attention on the part of the Government.

The visits of the police to my sister's house while I remained, while appar-ently friendly, were noticeable for their frequency. Numbers of young men from the neighborhood were constantly of power, and in this respect it from the neighborhood were constantly ly approaches the sublime. agh its instrumentality I had a faint it the influence of the great orator tion in which these minions of the law sometimes find themselves. Two car of a young lady, who,

STORY OF THE STABAT MATER.

"THE FAILURE OF PROTESTANT MISSIONS." PERE BYACINTHE'S ADMISSIONS THAT PRO-

TESTANTISM IS NOT A SUCCESS IN FRANCE.

To the Editor of the Catholic Review :

To the Editor of the Catholic Review : Allow me to confirm the testimony of the Tribune, as quoted in the Catholic Review of 8th inst, to the "Failure of Protestant Mission Work," by the recent admission on that subject of Pere Hys-cinthe, so far as France is concerned. He certainly has had opportunity to know what he is talking about. The proceedings of "largely attended Congress of Anglican Clergy from differ-ent parts of the Continent," held at Monteux, (Switzerland), on 2d May last, were reported in Gallignani's Messenger of the 5th, asme month. Right Rev. Bishop Wilkinson presided and opened the sub-ject of "The Old Catholic Movement," speaking in strong terms of sympathy speaking in strong terms of sympathy with it.

with it. Two exhaustive papers were read by the Rev. C D Blometield, of Munich, and the Rev. T. Archibald S. White of Baden-Baden, on its history and present condition. Mr. White showed the great points upon which Anglicans and Old Catholics were agreed, and said their maxims should ever be, "In necessarias" unitas in dubits libertas in omnits caritas." But "the chief interest of the day centered in an extempore oration by the Pere Hyacinthe in the afternoon." After conceding that "France is in the pecu-liar position of being unable to do without liar position of being unable to do without Catholicism," and taking upon himself to assert in the face of facts, "that she is now able to conform to it as presented to her by the Old Catholics," he then admits in the following words that : "PROTESTANTISM IS A FAILURE IN FRANCE, "Another and more decisive fact as showing the adherence of the French to Catholic traditions is the failure of Protestantism. The word Protestant has many meanings. In one sense you are Protestants, and so am I, inasmuch as we protest. But Protestant churches— and I render homage to them for their and I render homage to them for their men of learning, eloqueuce, honesty, virtue, and personal zeal—have not done much, notwithstanding the elite of their forces, for they have many of their members in high offlices of State, and notwithstanding their command of wealth, as of intellect. They have been carrying on a vast propaganda in France, and all that they have meaned to de in and all that they have managed to do is to keep together the descendants of those Huguenots who made some of the best and noblest history of the country. They have received a very insignificant number of converts absolutely disgusted with the name of Catholic. As to reachng the masses, they themselves confess their utter powerlessness. My friend Pastor Pressense has on several occasions written that Protestantism of itsel s powerless to reform France, or to win over the masses, and that unless there springs up a reform in the bosom of the Catholic Church the cause of Christianity is lost so far as the Latin races are con is lost so far as the Latin races are con-cerned. The same admission has been made by an eminent Presbyterian clergyman who called upon me sfaer visiting Spain. Possibly France might have been Protestantized in the six-teenth century under Francis I., and under a Lutheran form of worship. I have not, however, sufficiently studied that period of our history to affirm the proposition. What I say is recard proposition. What I say I say in regard to the actual state of France." What a wet blanket on the hopes and generosity of the supporters of the McCall mission, which has undertaken the idiotic task of converting the French people from Catholicism to Protestant. sm ! Why, it is almost inexcusable gnorance not to understand that Pro ignorance not to understand that it testantism has had a perfectly fair field in France since the beginning of the meant century, and the additional present century, and the additional advantage that in the past in that land it arose and had its great growth, "All religions there are equal by law, and any sect which numbers 100,000 adherents is entitled to a grant." The only restraint upon the advocates of Protestantism has been that, at least, until the downfall of Louis Philippe, they were not allowed to publicly calumniate, vituperate and of these words seemed to strike a young man who was standing on an eminence near the little town of Baise, from which all the splendor of this enchanting spot of God's beautiful earth could be taken of God's beautiful earth could be taken in with one glance. There lay that fairy town extended at his feet, with her numerous cupolas and steeples, over which the bright sun had spread a golden vail. A soft haze hung about the myrtle and orange groves, and shrouded like a rosy curtain the peak of Mount Vesuvius. The bright blue sea on whose glassy bosom innumerable white sails were fitting like snowy pinioned birds; the vine-clad bills and fertile campania, with the undulating line of the coast reaching out, like a creecent, towards each end of beautiful hymn of her seven dolors, and bad offered to Mary this everlasting tribute, was Glovanni Battista Pergolese. The miraculous statue has long since crumbled to dust. The remains of the young artist repose in the cathedral of Vescorato, but the name of the com-poser of the Stabat Mater will live eter-

HOW JOHN BAPTIST PERGOLESE WROTE THE

MUSIC OF THIS HYMN, Vedere Napoli e poi morire ! The truth

the undulating line of the coast reaching out, like a crescent, towards each end of the bay, and all the lovely scenery bathed in an atmosphere so transparent and canopied by a sky so heavenly blue that it looked as if it were indeed what the Italians proclaim Baise to be, "A piece of Paracise dropped on earth." At the side of the footpath which led down from the hill on which the youth was standing lost in contemplation of the nally in the hearts of all who love Our Blessed Lady and are true lovers of music. A PROTESTANT TRIBUTE TO CATH-OLIC REROISM, down from the bill on which the youth was standing lost in contemplation of the splendid panorama, was a stone statue of Our Lady of the Cross. The young wanderer, who seemed faint and ill, knelt down before the cross and looked up to the sgonized, yet heavenly face of the Mother of Dolors. A pity and com-passion, which he had never felt before, penetrated his soul at sight of so much suffering. His own grief, with which he had come here, disappeared before the mute woe depicted on the sweet coun-tenance of Mary, and he humbly bowed his head. While he was still absorbed in silent prayer, the melodious notes of "Ave Maria," sung by two beautiful female voices, struck on his ear. He lifted his eyes, and saw two young ladies, apparently sisters, approach the cross The following is from the New York Sun: What spectacle of unselfish hero. ism can surpass that of the Roman Cath olic priests and sisters who have gone to live and die among the lepers of Hawaii? A while sgo the Sun printed the story of Father Damien who cach is life in the Father Damien, who took his life in his hand to minister to the poor out-casts on Molskai Island. He himself had been stricken with the dread disease whose victims had so deeply stirred his heart with compassion. Though bearing on his face, neck and hands the tokens of his inevitable doom, he moves like a ministering angel among his people, always busy with their needs, attending to the dying, and enlarging with his own bands the little chapel in which they inted his eyes, and saw two young ladies, apparently sisters, approach the cross before which he was kneeling. They had a garland of flowers in their hands, which they deposited at the feet of our Holy Mother, and after having said a silent prayer, they slowly descended the hill. The young man cast one look more at her who is called the fulles of the worship. "I believe there is no possibility her who is called the "Help of the Afflicted," whispering, "Mary, have pity on me; I am alone, quite alone in this world. Send me a heart to love me; and heal my more." he is willing to devote his life to assuag-ing the afflictions of the unhappy settle-ment at Molakai. It is to the Sisters of St. Francis from Syracuse in this State that Hawarian Government has intrusted heal my woes." What? Was it a dream; was it real-

What? Was it a dream; was it real-ity? It seemed to him as if a gentle voice said to him: "Bring me some offering worthy of the oruel pangs which I endured under the Cross and I will grant your prayer." The young man, almost overpowered by the different emotions of his soul, left the place and worded his stame towerds Nanles the care of the hospital near Honolulu, where the poor patients are kept before they are isolated for life on the leper island. It was a grand recognition of the self abnegation and pure love for suffering humanity that animates these humble disciples of the Church of Rome, emotions of his soul, left the place and wended his steps towards Naples. A mysterious power seemed to draw him next day to the solitary cross. He had scarcely said his prayers when the two sisters came also. They had brought a basket full of flowers, and, sitting down on the stone steps of the monument, they becam to weare their carbode when a committee of the Hawaiian Government reported their conviction that it was useless to look for nurses for the lepers of the kingdom outside of the Catholic Church. One of the Sisters in a Roman Catholic hospital of this city remarked when they began to weave their garlands. The young man entered into conversa-tion with them and learned that since Our Holy Mother had miraculously she heard that several members of her order had been massacred in China: "They are to be envied for having met "They are to be envice for having met martyrdom in so good and great a cause as theirs." Such is the spirit that sus-tains and inspires many thousands of these humble workers. The world sees and hears little of them as they go quietly about on their missions of mercy. They have, however, the recompense Our Holy Mother had miraculously healed their mother, these two sisters, Amalia and Ninetts, came every day here to make an offering of flowers to Our Mother of Dolors. They again sang a sweet hymn before they left, and the young man, who was passionately fond of music, who was an artist himself, thought he never heard more heartiful They have, however, the recompense of an approving conscience and the grati-tude here and hereafter of the myriads who are aided and cheered by their presence in the dark hours of suffering of music, who was an artist nimeting thought he never heard more beautiful voices than those of the two sisters. He returned every day; faithful to their vow, he found Amalia and Ninetta, who offered at the rural shrine of Our Lady, and death.

A brotherly affection soon sprang up be-tween the young man and the two sis-ters; all three were united by the ties of Have you ever noticed the fearful ugli. piety and music. Even during the winness of sectarian faces, which grows upon the class that always ask first of a new ter months their pilgrimage was not sus-pended, for winter touches that blessed acquaintance: "Is she a Baptist or Methodist, Unitarian or Orthodox, Presclime with a gentle hand. In the month of March in Italy, with its woods and flowers and mild, balmy breezes, the two sisters remarked that the step of the byterian or Episcopal ?" and edge sus-byterian or Episcopal ?" and edge sus-piciously away from all who do not eat pickles out of the same jar ? asks Shirley Dare, authoress of the Ugly Girl Papers, It is the ill-disposition which prints itself in the features and may be used these sisters remained hore languid, young man was slower and more languid, and that his cheek appeared more sunk than ever, while his dark eyes glistened with a celestial fire. "May I bring you to morrow a com position of my own—a hymn in honor of the subscript of t the Blessed Virgin—and will you sing it for me, and help me to bring an offering to Our Holy Mother for which she has promised me to grant my prayer? To-morrow, Friday, I will be here at the same hour."

OCTOBER 13, 1888.

breath came feebly; a feeling of relief and expectation stole over him; he stretched out his arms to the cross; a bright and happy smile flitted like a sun-beam over his features; he sank back in the arms of the sisters who had hast ened towards hum to support his reclin. CONCORDIA VINEYARDS SANDWICH, - ONT.

ERNEST GIRARDOT & Co PURE NATIVE WINES.

ened towards him to support his reclin-ing form. When they raised him from the ground they saw that he was dead. . . . The lonely and chastened spirit was gone forever from this valley of tears.

PURE NATIVE WINES, Altar Wine a specialty. Only Native Altar wine used and recommended by His Emi-nence Cardinal Tachersan. Specialty recom-manded and used by Et. Rev. Archbishop Lynch and Bishop Walsh. We also make the best Native Claret in the marset. Bend for prices and circular. The Messres. Encest Giranot & Co. of Sandwich, being good practical Gatholes, we are satisfied their word may be relied on, and that the wine they sell for use and un-adulterated. We, therefore, by these pres-ents recommend it for altar use to the ciergy of our diocese. of tears. Mary had kept her promise; she had healed his bouily pain; she had taken the weary-worn child to her maternal ents recommend it for site. of our diocese, t JOHN WALSH, Bp. of London.

The undersigned wishes to announce to the Irish People. and other Patrons of Lib-erty, that he has for sale the only COMPLETE GROUP PICTURE - OF ---THE IRISH PARLIAMENTARY PARTY IN THE WORLD.

It is without doubt the finest work ever issued on this subject, and is executed by Messrs. Wm. Notman & Son, Montreal. PRICE $5.00 PER COPY.

Sent free to any part of the Dominion. Correspondence solicited from Newsdeal-ers or Installment Agencies.

For further particulars apply to

C. L. MOLLOY. 27 ST. SACRAMENT STREET. MONTREAL, QUE.

"I believe there is no possionity of remaining here uncontaminated," writes Father Conrady, who recently left this country. And yet he has cheerfully joined Father Damien, and, though be -OBJECTS OF THE-NEW YORK CATHOLIC AGENCY The object of this Agency is to apply at the regular dealers' prices, any kind of goods imported or manufactured in the United States. The advantages and conveniences of this Areaco are many, a for of which a prilieving he will become a leper himself, he is willing to devote his life to assuag.

The advantages and conveniences of this Agency are many, a few of which are: lst. It is situated in the heart of the whole-sale trade of the metropolis, and has com-pleted such arrangements with the leading manufacturers and importers as enable if to purchase in any quantity, at the lowest wholesale rates, thus benefits or commissions from the solting its profits or commissions from the importers or nanu facturers, and hence importers or nanu 2nd. No extra commissions are charged jiving them benchases made for them, and giving them benchases in the actual prices of the art of the solution is part of the solution of the solution serience and maintees in the solution interest is arged. 3rd. Should a pairon want several different articles, embracing as many separate trades or lines of goods, the writing of only one letter to this Agency will insure the prompt and correct filing of such orders. Besides, there will be only one express or freight charge.

tharge. 4th. Persons outside of New York, who the Persons outside of New York, who may not know the addross of Honses selling a particular line of goods, can got such goods all the same by sending to this Agency. 5th. Clergymen and Religious Institutions and the trade buying from this Agency are allowed the regular or usual discount. Any business matters, outside of buying and selling goods, entrusted to the attention or management of this Agency, will be strictly and conscionationsly attended to by your giving me anthority to act as your agent. Whenever you want to buy anything, send your orders to the world is but one CFP Remedy never falls, and n ure for the CFP restriction other treatment over ever We have cured more than 10,000 cases. No other treatmen ever cured one case. NO PAY TILL CURED. Remembe this, and write to the J. L. Stephens Co., Lebanon, Ohio

THOMAS D. EGAN, Catholic Agency, 42 Barclay St., New York.

DR. WOODRUFF.

EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT Defactive vision, impaired hearing, nasal satarrh, troublesome throats, and the ad-justment of glasses. Always at home except on Fridays.

LONDON, ONFARIO.

185 Queen's Ave., 3rd door east of Postoffice,

PIANO TUNING.

R. F. LACEY & CO'Y

LONDON, ONT.

ST. CATHARINE'S

USINGSCOU

Stained Glass for Churches, Public and Private Buildings

Furnished in the best style and at prices low enough to bring it within the reach of all.

Works: 484 RICHMOND St.

R. LEWIS.

MANUFACTURING

UNDERTAKERS

R. DRISCOLL & CO.

WILLIAM HINTON,

UNDERTAKER, ETC.

The only house in the city having a Children's Mourning Carriage. First-class Hearses for hire. 202 King street London. Private residence, 256 King street, London, Ontario.

CARRIAGES AND SLEIGHS.

424 Richmond-st., - London, Ont.

Wholesale and retail. Outside the cor bine. Always open.

PARTIES WISHING PIANOS TUNED and properly attended to should leave orders at A. & S. Nordheimer's, 415 Elen-mond street.-A. RAMSPERGER, Tuner. brate Mass.

This year, 1772, the mission was poorly supplied with clergy, but no without hope for the future, there bein colleges abroad. There was great distre of the frequent bankruptcies that we occurring. Money was not to be had any rate; families of good standing we diminishing the number of their se vants: trade of every kind was at stand, and trades people, consequent partirg with their workmen. Such state of things greatly increased th number of poor, and worse than a filled both countries, England as well Cardiead with vablears Binhos H Scotland, with robbers. Bishop H complained, as Procurator, that the m suffered at the same time in i funds, and the building of a new an better church at Aberdeen added to i difficulties. Such was the distress the best agricultural districts, such Strathogie, Asubendown and the Enzie, that many families resolved cemigrating to America, as long as an means remained to them. About the end of February, 177 Bishop Grant and his coadjutor address a memorial to the agent at Rome, Aba Grant, representing the great straits the mission, and requesting, provided could obtain the sanction of Carding Castelli and Albani, that be wou endeavor to interest in its favor all w at Rome might be triendly or charitat disposed towards the mission. The took care to urge that the field for m sionary effort was improving, as she by the building of a better church Aberdeen, whilst this undertaking, gether with the hardship of the tin increased their pecuniary needs. There were conversions from time time; among the rest, that of Miss H the Bishop's sister, which took place Auchentoul Bishop Grant, congrat lating the junior Bishop on this hap occurrence, expresses, at the same tim his wish that he would visit the Nor spend a few weeks in Strathbogie a Cabrach, encourage the people by presence and learn, at the same tin everything concerning their wants a condition. Complaints the chief Bish had heard from Buchan rendered desirable that his coadjutor show travel through that district. The Lowland Bishops were now deep affected on hearing of the death of the venerable Bishop Hugh MacDonald Glengarry. The sad intelligence communicated to them in a letter fr

OCTOBER 13, 1888.

▲ Child Before the Altar. BY FATHER RYAN.

I wish I were the little key That locks Love's Captive in, And let Him out to go and free A sinful heart from sin.

I wish I were the little bell That tinkles for the Host When God comes down each day to dwell With hearts He loves the most.

I wish I were the chalice fair, That holds the B'ood of Love When every flash lights holy prayer Upon its way above.

I wish I were the little flower So near the Host's sweet face, Or like the light that half an hour Burns on the shrine of grace.

I wish I were the altar where As on His Mother's breast, Christ nestles like a child, fore'er In Eucharistic rest.

But oh, my God. I wish the most That my poor heart may be A home all holy for each Heart That comes in love to me.

Written for CATHOLIC RECOR

CATHOLICS OF SCOTLAND.

BY THE REV. ÆNEAS M'DONELL DAWSON LL. D., F. R. S.

PART II. COLLEGE OF DOUAL About this time Bishop Hay, in a lette to Principal Geddes, communicated to him the thanks of the Bishops for the pecuniary aid given and promised by himself and his companions to the fund of the mission. In the same letter the Bishop mentioned the mortality which had lately prevailed in some parts of the country and spoke of a pious missionary priest, Mr. Austin Macdonald, who, on the dreaded sickness appearing in hi locality, had exhorted his people to prayer and fasting, as a means of avert ing the threatened calamity, and had prescribed certain prayers to be said, and prescribed certain prayers to be shid, and set apart two days for fasting. After that none of his people died but one, whe had been very ill before. "He is a truly valuable missionsry" adds the bishop "and minds nothing in this world--neither brothers nor sisters, nor any earthly affair-but his duties to his peo-ple only. I wish we had numbers such " earthly affair—but his duties to his people only. I wish we had numbers such I The goodness of Cardinal Castel made up in some measure for the failur of Bishop Hay's recent visit to Paris i order to obtain a benefice for the poor missions of Scotland. The Cardina procured a subsidy for the missions, an in remitting it informed the bishops that two places in the Urban College of Pro-paganda had been assigned to Scoto students, between the ages of twelv and eighteen years.

and eighteen years. We now hear for the first time of M

We now hear for the first time of M. Cameron, afterwards so distinguished as a bishop. On returning from his studies, he was appointed to the missio of Strathavon on account of his know ledge of the Gaelie language. He soo acquired reputation as a prescher an was in great favor with Bishop Grant. Bishop Grant was at this time in suc cood health as to he able to continue th good health as to be able to continue th visitation of the northern parts of hi Vicariate. We learn on his authority that he was very much edified with th willingness and earnestness of the goo people in coming to be confirmed, some travelling six or seven, some ten, an one in particular, no less than sixtee miles. At one place it was full three o'clock in the afternoon before he was ready to commence the public duties of the day. Nevertheless, by a presume permission from the Holy See, he eve entured, and without scruple, to cel ly pair respects. Crossing the bridge (now widened)

over the Lifley, I came to the statue of William Smith O'Brien, a well chiseled and expressive figure. Here I might have delayed awhile, but another figure caught my eye, away down in front of the old House of Parliament, and thither I sped in all haste. Whose could it be ? It was not there in my time. There was only one figure that should be there just yet. Was it that? Yes, it was-it was the statue of the immortal Grattan, the personification of patriotism, the essence of inspired oratory. How, then, I blessed the noble art that could thus reveal the secrets of the past, and breathe into the cold marble everything but life. I was wondering how soon another figure would adorn that triangular space, the figure of of one who should again restore to Ire-land her lost Parliament, and leaned against a friendly lamp post to select an appropriate spots for its erection. As I did so the grim shadow of a police man fell across my path. At this time I sedulously and suspiciously I started. Was I in a dream? had been sedulo watched. Ah, no; this was the land of coercion. There was its living harnessed emblem. cast a hurried glance at the statues of Burke and Goldsmith on the right Front of Trinity College and that of King William, heading off up Dame street (very appropriately as I thought), and sought a friendly inn to have breakfast. The liveried emissary of Mr. Balfour did not follow me, but I soon found I was not uncared for. I had a companion at breakfast!

.-

After breakfast I visited some stores to provide for a change of clothing. In doing so I thought I'd play my detective friend (if such he was) just a little ruse. Then came some excitement on his part. What with suddenly turning corners, a purchase, and sure enough in pops my a purchase, and sure enough in pops my friend, He blew a little hard, and dis-covered himself to my watchful eye by a quick glance at me when passing. The proprietor soon after very significantly being ell lies about the Catholic religion. But priest's niece, was permitted to be married in her father's house. This had a sedative effect on the official nerves and I was not conscious of much police supervision afterward. When I left home for America by way of Belfast, I was again "spotted." At last I stepped on board of the Nebraska at Larne and breathed a sigh of relief.

What a picture this represents of the idiccy of Tory Government in Ireland ! The death of Mandeville is proof of its brutality. Persons are imprisoned and murdered there for the commonest murdered there for the commonest right of humanity, the right of the in-fant in its mother's arms, nay, the right of the brute beast, the right to com-plain. How long is it to last ? How long ? How long ? Mr. E<sup>3</sup>itor, I wish to say through the columns of your paper that the Irish need financial help in the Parnell defence fight. The country has been artificially impoverished, and this year nature appears to have combined with man in that direction. The sum-mer has been the wettest on record. Hay, corn, potatoes, turf, are all injured. Hay, corn, potatoes, turf, are all injured. Providence, however, has not been altogether unkind to this Niobe of nations. A new friend to Ireland has started up on the other side of the Irish

"Boat, Ahoy .

the rapids are below you," cried a man to a pleasure party whom he descried gliding swiftly down the stream toward What with suddenly turning corners, mounting on tor of street cars, taking jaunting cars and other apparent efforts to elude a pursuer, I got worked up to fine spirits. Finally I did stop to make they have always been at liberty to assail it with all the fair, decent, tem perate argumentation they could muster. The statistics for 1881 of religious denominations in France, taken from the Statesmen's Year Book for 1888, show that there were then :

Protestants, ..... 692.800 Jews..... 53,436

even held its own, and it has decreased from what it was twenty five or thirty years ago, when its adherents numbered over a millon. True, there has been an increase over the figures for 1872, which were only 584 757, but this can no doubt be rightly accounted for by the emigra tion from Alsace of Protestants who tion from Alsace of Protestants who would not give up their French nation-ality. Lutherans were pretty numerous in that part of France. The statistics of the Old Catholics given at the meeting above mentioned were far from being encouraging: "It was shown that, according to the official statistics of the Old Catholic Crutch, its scherents had declined from 21,700 in 1877 to 15,000 in 1886 in Prussia; that in Baden they had fallen from 18,000 to 14,000, and that the same was true of their co-religionists in Baragia Bicken William Bavaria, Bishop Wilkinson suggested that the reason was doubtless to be found in the suppression of the Government grant, for as long as the movement was supported by a Government it would have the adhesion of many persons for have the action of many persons for purely political reasons. Once withdraw the grant, however, and these rats would desert what they believed to be a suking ship."

Many forget that the hair and scalp need cleansing. Extensive use of Ayer's Hair Vigor has proven that it is the best cleansing agent for the hair—that it prevents dandruff and stimulates the air to renewed growth.

The sisters readily assented to his request and they separated. The following day, the 16th of March, 1739, the two sisters arrived about noon at the Cross upon the hill. A few minutes later they saw the youth slowly ascend the eminence. Amalia went to meet him, offering him the support of her arm, for he seemed more than usually exhausted. He handed her a written, and then sinking down before the cross, he raised his thin and transparent hands, exclaiming passionately: "Hear me, Mother of Dolors! I ask no other consolation but yours; I know that I am safe under your motherly protec-tion, I leave myself entirely to you. Oh, Comforter of the Afflicted, accept my humble tribute!"

And near him, like clouds of incense, rose sweet and clear the two melodicus voices, chanting these grand and sacred words : "Stabat Mater dolorosa Juxta crucem lacrymosa Dam pendebat filius,

No breath was heard among the leaves of the trees, no sound was heard, far or wide; nature herself seemed hushed before the sanctity and sublimity of this song. A deep, a silent melancholy vibrated in the clear and youthful voices of Amalia and Ninetta, every note falling like gentle tears to the ground. The young man was wrapt in prayer and seemed to be almost transported from this world, his eyes were fixed on the features of the Blessed Virgin, and when the next words fell from the lip of the singers, "Quis est homo qui non fleret, Caristi Matrem si videret ln tanto supplicio," it seemed to him as if a quivering passed over the fixed, stony face of the Master Dolcrosa, as if a sad, face of the Master Dolorosa, as it a sad, but inexpressibly sweet, motherly smile played around her lovely mouth, as if the wounds of her pierced heart began to bleed. The racking pains of the young wanderer ceased suddenly; his labored the mysteries of religion. He held, with truth, that it was fruitless and danger. ous, "Avoid," he cries out, "this species of ONTARIO STAINED GLASS WORKS.

BIGOTED WOMEN.

inquiry for it will but lead you hither, where there is no light, no peace, no where there is no light, no peace, no hope; it will lead you to the deep pit, where the sun, and the moon, and the stars, and the beauteous heavens are not, but chillness and bareness, and perpetual desolation. Oh, perverse chil-dren of men, who refuse truth when offered to you because it is not truer Oh, restless heart and fastidious intellect who seek a Gospel more salutary than the Redeemer's and a creation more perfect than the Creator's."

Yellow as Egyptian mummy, Was his sailow face, And he seemed a very dummy Of the human race. Now he's brimmed with sumshine of His clear and sparkling eye Tells us that he itres in clover ; Ask you the reason why?

What has wrought the transformation? Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets restored this delapidated individual in a single week. Nothing lik them to regulate the liver, stomach and bowels Jabesh Snow, Gunning Cove, N. S., writes: I was completely prostrated with the asthma, but, hearing of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, I procured a bottle, and it done me so much good that I got another, and before it was used, I was well. My son was cured of a bad cold by the use of half a bottle. It goes like wild-fire, and makes cures wherever it is used.

W. J. THOMPSON & SON,

Opposite Revere House, London, As always in stock a large assortment of every style of Carriages and Sleighs. This is one of the largest establishments of the kind in the Dominion. None but first-class work turned out. Prices always moderate.