In Upper Canada, the public has entered into the quarter with a great deaf of warmth. The Resolutions passed at the Oxford Meeting, condemnatory of Mr. Christic and the House, are strong, almost to violence of language. Judging from the temper of the public mind, and the prevalent opinion on the subject of the existing antagonism between the House and the Press, I think there is little reason to doubt that the Upper Canada constitutes on the last contested Election, the Conservative candidate only polled 300 votes. It must like rise be borne in mind that the great Whig familiary of the press in mind that the great Whig familiary of the pressure of the project obstacles which will not easily be overcome.

them, there is no political organisation but the "Tories," who, as a party, have in reality ceased to exist. It is only by ignoring the existence of the real Progressive party, that the Gavernment hope to keep up the present soes-are system of alternate "Tory? and Reform Governments, as they are miscalied. It would not, therefore, suit the purposes of the present Government to escourage the return of Mr. Bidwell, who would strengthen the hands of the Clear Grits to a degree that might render them altagether too formidable for mock Reformers to cope with. Still I do not think they can oppose his return I was not in Canada in 1837, but, from all I can learn from those who were in the secrets of the Rebeds, I am convinced that Mr. Bidwell had no share whatever in that affair; that he neither tendered his advice, nor was consulted by others. The horses get away well together, but St. Francis soon took the lead, and kept it until the third Hurdle, when Sr. Francis passed him and kept his pace ahead through the rest of the race. Kangaroo builted at the first Hurdle and was left so far behind at the end of the first mile, as to tender it useless to ride him farther. The contest between the two other horses was a spirited one. St. Francis was decidedly the finest learer we ever saw, but his adversary and knighted namewake had the beels of him between the hurdles and won the race by more than a length. Both horses were beautifully ridden. The next race was for the St. Jean Baptiste Stake, of $40 each, if not named on or b fore the 1st August, if on or before that day, of only $20, with $120 added p.p.—Free for all—Canada bred allowed 14 bs.—heats one and a half miles—Turf Clob weights. It seems Jenny was throughout the favoritie with the knowing ones, the oaks offered, and taken we believe in a good many instances, being 2 to 1 in het lavor.

We hope to be able to give an account of yesterday's sport to mericum moreing. To day, in addition to the racing, which promises the usual amount of sport for last days, the Indian game of "Le Crosses" is to be played. We remember some capital sport at a match of this kind upon the St. Pietre Race Course, some pears ago, under the patronage of the Olympio Club. Richardson's Wacousta has almost given the game, historic interest with us in Canada. We feel we can reflety promise three good things to those whe go. Fresh hir, a pleasant riste upon our great Canadian Railway, and good sport, and we may add a fourth and fifth as corollaries, which are a good appetite, and the wherewithal to suitsly it.—G. z-ttr.

CHARLES P. WATSON'S COMMERCIAL SCHOOL WILL be RE-OPENED on MOSE August 6:

Commodore Jones, whose very dangerous illness we mentioned on Saturday morning, we are now pained to announce, expert during the same eventing, at his residence on Chesnut, street. He died in his eighty-third year, and, therefore, as full of age as of honor. His name has long stood third on the list of Captains of the Navy of the United States, Commodores Barron and steward being his only seniors.

At the late hour at which we receive the intelligence of his demise, it is not in our power to prepare a detailed sketch of his life and services, such as would properly accompany this announcement. We are only able to mention that the was born in the State of Delaware, which will long be proud of his memory, and to refer to the glorious seafight on which his fame is founded, the affair of the Wass and the Prolic, which his country will never allow to be forgotten.

This action was fought on the 18th day of October, 1812, and hone was one of the entilest, as well as one of the mass brilliant, of the man victories of the war. Consadering, in fact, the marked superiority of the Bit ish vessel in the number of her guns, with the vastly disproparioned loss in flicted upon her, it may be almost ranked, as it has other been promitmend, the most security at the war has longer; and it was deemed by foreign criftee to present un extraordinary evidence.
