On Saturday at noon, according to the story told by the boy's father, Mr. W. A. Freeman, of Central Market, the boy went in the store in the market, and while the father's back was turned quietly opened the till and grabbed a handful of bills amounting to about $150. When Mr. Freeman turned his back the boy was gone. Having his suspicions, boy was gone. Having his suspicions, he looked in the till and found the money gone. The police were at once notified, and Mr. Freeman told them notified, and Mr. Freeman told them the boy would probably make for Detroit, as had been there before. However, it was not the police who first located him. It was none other than the Detroit Y. M. C. A., who, having been attracted by the boy's prodigality around the city, learned that he was from Hamilton. Forthwith they wired Mr. Best, of the local Y. M. C. A., for information respecting the youth. Mr. Best called on Mr. Freeman, and learned the story of the robbery. A warrant was sworn out, and overtures made, and subsequently completed for the boy's arrest.

IN HAMILTON.

Joseph Campbell Died of Paralysis In Buffalo Yesterday.

Many Hamilton people, especially the older members of Central Methodist Church and the retailers of the city who were in business in the 70's and 80's will learn with deep regret of the death of Mr. Joseph Campbell, which took place in Buffalo, yesterday. For years Mr. Campbell carried on business in this city, the firm of Campbell Brothers having a large dry goods establishment where the Treble John street store ment where the Freble John street store now is.

Mr. Campbell was born in this city 55 years ago and spent his youth and early manhood years in a wholesale mercantile business. When a young man he entered business with his father, and afterwards started the business with his brother. From here he went to Winnipeg as partner in the firm of Campbell, Spera & Co., and remained there for several years. He returned to Toronto and engaged in business, afterwards going to Buffalo as manager of the Dingman Soap Company. Not long after this he was appointed president and manager of the Diamond Saw and Stamping Works and was head of that large concern until the time of his death.

While in Hamilton Mr. Campbell was a member of the official board of the then Wesley Church, and was very active in all good work. When he went to Buffalo he became identified with many philantrophic institutions. He was a leading member of the congregation of the Richmond Avenue M. E. Church,
