O MAKE GOOD BREAD You must have Good Yeast

OOD BREAD is, without question, the most important article of food in the catalog of man's diet; sure'y, it is the "staff of life." Good breat is obtainable only by using the Best Yeast, the best flour, and adopting the best method of combining the two. Compressed Yeast is in all respects the best commercial Yeast yet discovered, and Fleischmann's Yeast is indisputably the most successful as d best leaven known to the world. It is uniform in quality and strength. It saves time and labor, and relieves the housewife of the vexation and worriment she secessarily suffers from the use of an inferior or unreliable leaven. It is, moreover, a fact that with the use of Fleischmann's Yeart, more loaves of bread of the same w ight can be produced from a gve 1 quantity of flour than can be produced with the use of any other kind of Yeast.

This si explained by the more thorough fermentation and expansion which the minute particles of flou: undergo, thereby increasing the size of the mass and at the same time adding to the nutritive properties of h; bread. This fact may be clearly and easily demonstrated by any who doubt that there is economy in using Fleischmann's Yeast.

If you have never used this Yeast give it a trial. Ask your Grecer for a "Fleischmann" Recipe. Book.
