A Planten's Life in Brazil,—16 I have a little luck I shall be worth about $60,000 in a short time. I can sell my plantation for $30,000 at any time. I have no negroes, and only two girls as cooks and washers. My crop of coffee for this year is small, on account of last year's frost; but I am now planting 20,-000 new tress. In five years they will bear, and I shall then have 40,000 trees, which will give me annually about 100,-000 pounds of coffee—an income of nine or ten thousand dollars a year.
