JAS. WILSON,

THE DRUGGIST.

After a business connection of ten years in the town of Goderich,

I take this opportunity of returning to you my best thanks for the patronage that has been extended Since I began business in Godething but kindness from the public.

to keep before the people the difried, have been duly appreciated by those who have favored me

That I have been successful I am free to admit, but the success that has attended my efforts would never have been attained had it the public were duly appreciated by that wide and discerning class.

Another factor that has been of benefit to me is that I have always endeavored to supply my customers with the purest drugs and chemicals, and have avoided

Wholesale Houses where adulterated goods were countenanced in Again, I have invariably made discounts, and the saving thus effected I have given to my cus-and better grades of drugs, toilet

I have found out that square dealing with the public and not extorting heavy tolls will bring grist to any mill, and that what is good for a mill isn't inimical to the interests of a wide-awake drug

If any person is in need of drugs patent medicines, or any of the varied articles that are carried in a first-class drug store, if he cannot come himself and is forced to send a small child, he can feel assured that his messenger will be treated as courteously and as fairly as the
