News Messages.

Yesterday we chronicled some increases in salaries in the Postal and Telegraph Departments, but in spite of these increases made there is apparently some grave defects still existing which especially affect the efficient working of the telegraph department so far as it relates to the distribution of the news despatch to the evening newspapers. Yesterday we received a despatch at 3.30 p.m. which was sent out from the office according to the slip at 2.20 p.m. The despatch offered by the messenger was at that time had so many messages to deliver that he could not get to the office earlier. The result was that five minutes of news meant for publication yesterday, although the sender and cable company will have to be paid for the work, were not published, and they arrived too late for publication. On former occasions we have complained of the time taken up in the distribution of messages from the telegraph office to our office. But this only one cause of complaint. There is another. A news despatch arrives at the Postal Office between 10 and 11 a.m., and we are informed by the official in charge that the frequent delay in sending out this despatch arises on the fact that there is often no copy available in the office to make up these messages for the newspapers. Then there is another news despatch due to arrive in the office between noon and one p.m., and happens sometimes that this message cannot be sent out in time for the evening newspapers to deal with satisfactorily. Sometimes the despatch is not published at all the day is received, and at other times, it is curtailed more or less, according to circumstances. We are assured by the Postal authorities that the cause of the trouble is the same as in the food case. There is no typist available for copying out the despatch, and it has always been found, Mr. Meaney post courteous, and whenever he is engaged it is kindly telephoned that is possible. But often this is not practicable, and the readers of the newspapers have to go without news that has been called in time for delivery to newspapers at has not reached the newspaper offices in time for publication, owing to effective office arrangements for typing and delivering messages.

It is high time the Government, the Postal Secretary and the Postmaster General should look into these matters. It is a poor system which incurs expense in the compilation and abridgement of messages which cannot be delivered in time for use owing to their defects in the receiving office.

THE NICKEL.

Mid-Week Show.
The Vitaphone Stock Co. present
Florence Turner in
The Shadow of the Guillotine.

A thrilling melo-drama of the French Revolution. That stirring period when the French Nation was on the verge of Republicanism is taken as the setting for this most compelling Vitaphone production. Every vital incident of its absorbing story is brought out with marked fidelity to costumes and historical data, and the film is unquestionably a masterpiece of its kind. The finale—when the Concierge demands the execution of the Rebel and his fiancée—stands out most prominently, and will create an impression with the audience. All admirers of high-class acting, perfection of photography, and carefully handled pictures should witness the photo-play now featured at the Nickel during the mid-week show.

MOTHER!

The influence of a fond parent's love is beautifully conveyed in the above Pathe film. Two sons become estranged through a love affair, but the principles of mutual help, instilled by their departed mother, bring them safely out of a crisis and dispels the shadows which had previously encircled them.

Delhi Capital of India.

Special to Evening Telegram.

DELHI, To-Day. The feature of the Durbar yesterday was the announcement that Delhi would replace Calcutta as the capital of India. A State banquet and reception in the investiture tent concluded the day's celebrations. The Emperor and Empress both expressed keen delight at the success of the Durbar and the cordiality of the reception. All the chief towns in India last night celebrated the occasion by illuminations, fireworks and fetes. The universal theme was the dramatic announcement of the change of capital.

Two were from Newtown and two from Salvage, and three belonged to Baxter Barbour of the Bay wanting to get to Middle Arm. Spanish Polar Expedition.

Senor Gisbert Proposes to Drift for Three Years, Starting from Alaska. Several recent occurrences in Spain have betokened an awakening in that country of interest in scientific matters. Accordingly we are not surprised to hear that the Spaniards are planning an Arctic expedition. The project was submitted to a recent meeting of the Royal Geographic society of Madrid by F. J. Gisbert, who has had some experience in polar exploration, and a committee has been appointed to raise the necessary funds which it is estimated will amount to $135,000. Senor Gisbert proposes to drift for three years in a trans-polar current—a la Nansen—starting from a point north of the Alaska coast, in 160 degrees west longitude, whence he expects to reach the Greenland sea. Side trips are to be made on sleds, in order that exploration may cover a zone of 100 miles on either side of the ship's position.—"Scientific American."

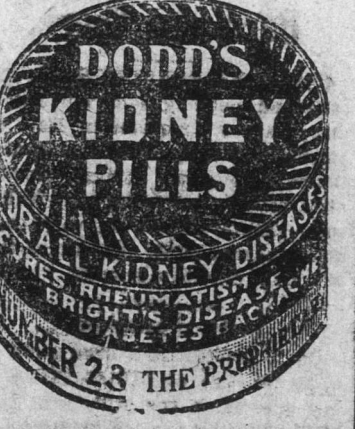

Swift Justice for Five Bandits.

White Plains, N. Y., Dec. 5.—The five bandits who descended on an isolated farm house near Croton Lake on November 9, and murdered Mrs. Mary Hall, the young wife of a Supt. of work on the New York aqueduct, were all sentenced by Justice Tompkins late to-day, to death in the electric chair during the week of January 15. The chain of five convictions for murder was completed to-day when the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Angelo Guisto. Justice never came more swiftly in this State to so many murderers. Within two days after the crime, the five bandits were arrested and their trials began November 23. In most of the cases the jury were out barely fifteen minutes. Those previously convicted were Vincenzo Corbo, Philip Di Marto, Lorenzo Calli and Zanza.

There were defects of vision or eye disease in 18,923; defects of throat or nose in 29,927; defects of hearing in 9,499; skin disease in 2,913, and other diseases in 15,296. Death of Hon. D. J. Green

The Court Adjourned as a Mark of Respect to the Late President of the Law Society.

As we went to press yesterday announced the death of the Hon. D. J. Green, and briefly outlined his excellent qualities and the eminent position he held in the legal and public life. This morning the Supreme Court adjourned as a mark of respect to his memory. In view of his death, the Chief Justice, Mr. William Horwood said:— "Within the short space of time the Law Society has again mourned the death of a President. The recent election of Mr. Green to this office showed the regard in which he was held by his professional brethren as well as his standing in the Bar. Not only was he a member retained in the most important cases which came before
