A Storm Centre

Nightly, and sometimes daily, that section of Water Street, just between Job Street and Alexander Street is the scene of encounters between drunken men and sometimes women of a most revolting character. Certain houses in that section are the resort of dissolute persons of both sexes, they are the scenes of midnight orgies which should be promptly and sternly suppressed. When the people who indulge in this conduct adjourn to the street to continue the strife which occurs within doors and thus commit flagrant breaches of the peace, they should be promptly prosecuted. Last evening a man crazed from liquor, rushed from a house near Job Street, brandishing a sheath knife and attacked two men who had to quit quickly to save themselves serious injury. All the habitués of this section are known to the police and the peace disturbers should be either arrested or summoned and receive the reward of their actions.

Anniversary Parade.

To-night the C. C. C. will meet at their Armory when final arrangements for the anniversary parade will be made. The Corps will attend early Mass on Sunday and receive Holy Communion. In the afternoon they will attend Benediction at the Cathedral after which they will march through the city. The Reserve Corps will accompany the regulars.

To-Day's News.

Special to Evening Telegram.
PARIS, To-day.
Some startling figures, given by Deputy Andre Lefevre as to the financial position of the Triple Alliance composed of Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Italy, and the Triple Entente composed of Britain, France and Russia, in the course of his speech in favor of three years service in the active army for France. Germany is unable to afford a long war. The banks of countries forming the Triple Alliance possess only $741,600,000 in gold with $1,600,000 circulation, while those of the Triple Entente possess $1,587,200,000 in their vaults with $2,600,000,000 circulation. Everything points to Germany relying upon a sudden overwhelming attack should war be necessary, therefore, France must always have a large army on the frontier.

MULGRAVE, N. S., To-day.
A fire last night destroyed a large fish plant here belonging to A. and R. Loggie, of Loggieville. The building and contents are a total loss. The plant is one of the branches of A. and R. Loggie, has been in operation for many years, and consists of lobster factory, cold storage warehouse and fish curing equipment.

MADRID, To-day.
During the course of a debate in the Chamber of Deputies, on Government policy, the Republican leader delivered an enthusiastic eulogy of King Alfonso. He said during a recent interview the King had manifested more liberal sentiments, indeed much more liberal, than anybody could imagine. This was greeted with a thunder of cheers.

Insurgents at Work.

The Picnic Party's praters and political tub thumpers who have been over-exercising themselves of late shouting that there is to be no opposition, have had a set back and from a most unexpected quarter. As a result they have lost all their credit and before they can begin again they must set their own house in order. The trouble is a dangerous one and it is said that Sir Edward would have prolonged his trip to the Southern Shore, knowing as he does, that the Government is shaky there but that he was badly needed in his own district of St. John's West. Insurgency (if we are not coining a word) in a virulent form has suddenly broken out amongst the very elect. It is, of course, all over pickin's and patronage and is the result of the Premier's failure in some cases to redeem promises made at the last election. Everwhile strong supporters now openly aver that the Premier is a "cod," that he has been living politically on bluff and that as usual after his turn is served his supporters will metaphorically get the boot when they ask for a redemption of his pre-election promises. The insurgency alluded to is becoming wide-spread, and some supporters have gone as far as to beard the lion in his den and to tell him that if they did not receive certain patronage that their support would be withdrawn and they would become active opponents. He was reminded that some 80 votes would turn the scale last election in St. John's West and was told that if he was obdurate in not granting certain requests to his auditors he would be his portion sure and certain. Needless to say the demands of his supporters were met and as they withdrew the Premier was heard to "save me from my friends." The result of the audience was that afterwards two contractors were seen working on one job and provision was made in various ways for persistent supporters to whom it is dangerous to show the "malted flat." Between importunate heels and discontented relatives to whom party fealty is but a mere figure of speech, the Poor Tory Premier is lying on anything but a bed of roses.

Wedding Bells.

TESSIER-CARTER.
An interesting and exceptionally pretty wedding took place at St. Luke's Church, Ferryland, at 3 p.m. Wednesday past, when Mr. George T. Tessier, son of the late James C. Tessier, led to the altar Miss Blanche Carter, fourth daughter of the late W. T. S. Carter. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Hewitt, and the bride was given away by her brother, Mr. James Carter. She wore a very handsome costume of duchesse satin, trimmed with lace, with veil and orange blossoms, while she carried a beautiful bouquet of white carnations and maidens' hair. Miss Alderidge and Freebairn were the bridesmaids and had becoming dresses of white with pink trimmings. The groom was supported by his cousin Mr. Geo. Langmead, Jr., and Master Roy Alderidge. Many of the friends of the bride and groom were present at the ceremony, a number having proceeded to Ferryland on the Ingraham, which was specially hired for the occasion. After the ceremony a reception was held at "Harbor View" and the health of the newly wedded couple heartily drunk. Later dancing and other festivities were enjoyed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. Costello and a most pleasant evening spent. The bride and groom received many valuable presents and many congratulations by their friends. The Telegram extends heartfelt felicitations.

"Her Husband" at Rossleys.

There is a very fine bill on at Rossley's Theatre, and last night a second could not be had after 8.30. Lorraine Buchanan and Bill De Van present a delightful comedy "Training Her Hubby," an act full of laughs, and Miss Lorraine Buchanan is busy on other acts in which we hope to see Jaek and Marie Rossley take part. Cook and Beale have a very funny act "Down on the Farm," and though Mr. Cook is suffering from bronchial trouble he does very well. Harry Ingram if he keeps on improving as he is doing will be a shining light in vaudeville, he has a powerful voice, of good tenor quality. Billy De Van last night sang "The Maid of the Mill" as only Billy can, and as many in the audience expressed themselves, they could listen to Billy all night. The pictures, a number having an amusing and the ever popular orchestra daddled up in great style. Rossley has a show to be proud of.

Royal Stores Catalogue.

We thank the Royal Stores, Ltd., for a copy of the catalogue which they have just issued to their customers. The catalogue is made up of 120 pages and is the largest ever issued in the Colony. We congratulate the Royal Stores on their enterprise and Mr. Robert Evans, who is in charge of the firm's advertising dept., for the excellent manner in which the matter of the different pages has been arranged. The printing was done at the Evening Herald Office.

S.A. Revival Services.

The service at the S. A. Citadel last night was largely attended, the main auditorium and platform being filled, while many occupied seats in the gallery. From the singing of the opening song, until the Benediction was pronounced, the meeting was full of life and enthusiasm. Adjt. Hargrove had charge of the services and led the singing with a spirit that certainly was contagious, for everybody sang and who could help singing, under the powerful influence that pervaded that service.
Mr. Speakman, who had arrived but yesterday, from the Old Country by the S.S. Mongolian, and who possesses a magnificent tenor voice, sang and spoke with telling effect. Onward Christian Soldiers, played by the splendid Citadel Band, had the effect of drawing the people to God nearer together, and formed the base of Adjt. Hargrove's remarks when introducing the speaker. A solo by Mrs. Hargrove, with Guitars accompaniment, delighted every one present, and added greatly to the effect of the meeting.
Rev. Mr. Matthews read the Scriptures, and remarked that although this was the first time he had ever taken part in a service of this kind on a Salvation Army platform, he nevertheless felt quite at home. Then in an earnest and convincing manner, unfolded to that great crowd the purpose of Christ's mission on earth, dwelling particularly upon the voice of God to the Soul, and drawing many illustrations from the common things of life, he showed how sensitive was the great loving Father to the cry of His needy children.
At the close of the address, every head was bowed and the leader called upon Mr. K. S. Barnes to pray; many expressed their sorrow for having disregarded the Divine voice. The services will be continued throughout the month. On Tuesday, June 10th, Rev. Mr. Thomas, of the Congregational Church, will preach.—J.M.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, June 6, 1913.
If you want a real good cure for indigestion, try Gault's Digestive Syrup. Gault's Digestive Syrup keeps the liver and stomach slightly laxative the patient needs not to take pills or other medicines while using it. It has done remarkably good work in many cases of uncomplicated dyspepsia. It's small dose renders it very convenient and economical in use. Price 50 cents a bottle.
If you have any fur or other garments to put away for the summer and have not yet stowed them, you should secure one or more fibre moth bags, which are quite impervious to moths, and to dust, soot, etc. If you obtain the proper sizes there need be no folding, wrinkling or creasing. Prices from 25c. to 80c. each.

Very Sudden Death.

Another terribly sudden and sad death occurred last night, this time at the Cove. Frederick Mitchell, aged 13 had been at school all day and had enjoyed excellent health apparently, playing as usual with her friends, and after her tea studying her home lessons. Shortly after 9 p.m. she was seized with sudden pains in the temples and at 10 o'clock she was a corpse. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of death. Her parents are plunged into sorrow as a result. One of the oldest residents of the Cove, Mrs. Purcell, who was over 80, also died there last night.

In Trouble With Derelict.

This forenoon the brig, Galatea, fish laden for Pernambuco, was ready for sea. After hauling off from Bald's wharf she got foul with a half sunken vessel called the Vixen, which has been laying in the harbor for the past two years, a nuisance and a menace to shipping. As a result of this mishap, the Galatea had her foremast rigging and head stow damaged. She had to be towed back to port and much inconvenience and expense will be caused by the delay.

In Utmost Peril.

Mr. Hy. Everett left here Monday for Petty Harbor, and was caught in the storm of wind which raged. He could not make the land and held the centre of the bay with heavy spray constantly running over him, and threatening to fill the boat. The foremast was whipped out of her and the man had to bail for dear life to keep afloat. It took him eleven hours to make the harbor, which under ordinary conditions should be done in two.

Felt to Warm.

At 8 p.m. yesterday a man certainly did not lack in avoidpousis went down on Goodridge's wharf. He was under the influence and said he felt so warm that he needed to jump overboard to keep cool. The watchman objected and the man in his efforts to take a header nearly brought him into the stream, until some men present escorted the merrite off the premises.
