

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE CROWS FEET OF THE HEART.

"I ever sleep well the first night in a new bed," I heard a woman say the other day. She didn't make it as a confession. Rather, I thought, as a boast.

Now she is a woman who prides herself very much on looking young. She is about 40 and looks 35. Sometimes in a kindly light she can pass for 30. And she is very proud of the fact.

And yet she freely, even proudly, makes a confession that she has been advancing as plainly as anything possibly could do.

There is no surer sign of age than the development of kinks in this sort. If you want to keep young, you don't want to let either your physical muscles or your mental muscles get set.

Keep Flexible.

Just try to keep limber in body, try to keep limber in your mind and in your habits.

When you catch yourself getting fussy about little things, not wanting to write a letter unless you can have a certain kind of paper, not being able to sleep except on a certain kind of bed, not being able to eat unless you can have just the kind of food you are used to, not being willing to eat your soup unless you have a certain kind of spoon—be aware. That means you are losing your flexibility, and that is something to fight away from not to boast about.

Every "Have To Have" Is A Chain.

Every "have to have," every "can't bear" is a chain that binds you down into a fixed routine. If you can't be comfortable unless things are just so, you can never again so adventuring, for things are never "just so" when one is adventuring.

There is an old idea that it is because older folks have lost the elasticity of body that they become stay-at-homes. I think it is more because they have ceased to be flexible in mind, because they have tied themselves down with "have to haves" and "can't bears."

As Ugly As Face Wrinkles.

All these little kinks and fuddy-duddisms are the crows feet of the character. And they are just as ugly as real crows feet. Youth isn't just a matter of unwrinkled skin and soft contours; it is a matter of spirit. Perhaps you can't keep the crows' feet off your face, but you can surely keep them out of your heart if you want to enough.

Women's Week at Wembley

HOSPITALITY FOR VISITORS.

Women's Week at Wembley is the fourth week in July. To each of the Dominions has been allotted one day, on which subjects specially interesting to it will be discussed, and appropriate entertainments enjoyed. Lady Allen is looking after the arrangements for New Zealand's Monday, Lady Buxton after South Africa's Tuesday, Lady Cook after Australia's Wednesday, Lady McLaren Brown after Canada's Thursday, Lady Willington after India's Friday, and Lady Morris after Newfoundland's Saturday.

It is still a long time until July 21-25, but the Women's Section of the Exhibition, which has general charge of Women's Week, is making the whole of this Empire summer in one sense a women's responsibility. With the Queen as patron, and the Duchess of York as president, it set itself the duty of helping overseas visitors to the best England could give them, and already it has so far succeeded as to have drawn from some of these visitors the assurance that they "never had such a time in their lives."

The broad aim is to secure hospitality for people who otherwise might be inadvertently missed out. There was a Women's Section "just for the Royal garden-party last week; there was another for the Government garden-party at Hampton Court on Friday. London hostesses, thanks to the Women's Section, have found guests among those not before known to themselves or their circle, and are delighting to make their stay in town the pleasantest, and to introduce them to the country house week-end. Apart from the official Dominion parties, receptions have been given by the Duchess of Devonshire, the Duchess of Norfolk, the Duchess of Atholl, M. P., and others. Indeed, there is something almost every day which there would not have been but for the Women's Section, with Lady Galway, its chairman, and Mrs. C. C. Grove, its secretary.

The programme includes excursions to historic places; as, for example, Oxford and Cambridge, which have entertained parties in their "learned halls," and Eton, where the visitors were the guests of the College at tea. Then, for the Trooping of the Colours the other day, the Colonial Office allowed the Women's Section 500 seats for overseas spectators; and the Women's Section, in its gratitude, has asked that the kindness may last over future years, "guaranteeing" to sell the tickets.

These are but specimens of numerous activities, whereby many an overseas visitor is gathering the family significance of the Empire Exhibition, and, what might have been perhaps more difficult, a little insight into the significance of England.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

GOVERNMENT FORCES GAINING UPPER HAND.

SANTOS, Brazil, July 23.

Reliable information received today from Sao Paulo is to the effect the Government forces have recaptured several outlying sections of the city from the Rebels and are bringing up heavy artillery and placing it at strategic points commanding the Rebel strongholds. Monday night there was a brisk artillery duel between the Rebels and the Rebels which lasted 12 hours. The Rebels failed to dislodge the Government forces who are now surrounding the city on three sides leaving the Rebels only the west for retreat. It is claimed that effective marksmanship of the Government gunners who are landing shells on the barracks of the Rebels is beginning to break the morale of the Rebels.

REPORT OF FATALITIES ON THE BOSTON VERIFIED.

NEWPORT, R.I., July 23.

The fact that 3 persons were killed and one fatally injured in a collision between the oil tanker Swift Arrow and the Easter S. S. lined Boston off Point Judith, late last night was definitely established today. The bodies of a woman and two men were brought here on the Boston when she was towed in the harbor and beached. Charles L. Copeland of Brooklyn, Mass., who was rushed into port on the coast guard cutter Acushnet, died later at hospital.

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

SYDNEY, July 23.

The three Glace Bay men, Allen McNeil, George Adams and Wilson Jessop, missing since last Thursday night when they failed to return from a visit to the rum fleet ten miles off the Glace Bay coast, have been given up as dead. The last hope held by relatives that they might have reached their destination, the schooner Grace, which parted her cable in the gale of that night, and was forced to run for St. Pierre, was dispelled today by the receipt of a message from the Collector of Customs at the French port, stating that there were no Glace Bay men on the Alice on her arrival there. Although boats patrolling the coast have found no wreckage or trace of the missing men, it is generally conceded that their trail fifteen foot craft foundered in the gale.

Common Ailments of Middle Age

Are indicated in women by nervous conditions, irritability, melancholia, pains and aches in the back, dizzy spells, headaches and heat flashes. These trying conditions may be easily overcome and such symptoms controlled by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will interest women to know that in a recent canvass among over one hundred and twenty-one thousand women, ninety-eight out of every hundred reported benefit from its use.

Just Folks.

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE FEMINE PASSION.

Janet has to be in style.

Bless her heart! That's all there's to it!

I'll keep working all the while

And wear shabby clothes to do it.

That's a whim that's truly human.

Downright feminine, my guess is:

Well I know the ways of women—

She must have her pretty dresses.

Facts are what I bank upon.

Circumstances alter cases.

But they never change this one—

Women live for silks and laces!

Take 'em young and take 'em old.

If they're of the female gender.

Pretty, winsome, shy or bold.

They must wear the latest splendor.

Ribbons pink and ribbons blue

Seek to be their ruling passion.

Everything from hat to shoe

Always has to be in fashion;

That's the very nature of 'em.

Kept the men who vowed to love 'em

Busy buying dresses for 'em.

Now, there's Janet! Bless her heart!

Scarcely two years old, yet showing

When it comes to refinement smart.

She wants everything that's going.

Born a girl! That's all there's to it

And her dotting dad confesses.

Just as long as he can do it.

Gladly will he buy her dresses.

Pearline for easy washing.

De Luxe Taxi

Company Joins the Motor Association

Membership in the Newfoundland

Motor Association is increasing daily and it is interesting to note that yesterday the De Luxe Taxi Company who have recently established offices at 137 Water Street joined the Association in a body. These enterprising taxi men have not been backward in recognizing the benefits accruing to motorists through membership in the

Newfoundland Motor Association and as an instance of the De Luxe Taxi

Company's interest and support joined the ranks of the Association. In view of the fact that all the leading Taxi Companies are now members of the Association or are joining up, surely this should be an incentive to the few private car owners who are not yet members of the Association to help along the good work being performed by the Association by becoming members.
