Inasmuch: "Take care of him; whatever thou spendest more when I come again I will repay." (St. Luke, 10: 35).

I desire to thank those who have responded to the appeal, and "lest we forget" would remind those of the friends of the poor who have not yet given.

Our problems have to be faced after Christmas.

Some of the cases that we are assisting now are most pitiful. They are not those who parade their poverty. Sickness and bereavement have placed them in the most distressing circumstances. The outlook is very black with no gleam of hope. They are cold and hungry and will be, unless someone comes to their aid. I am,

Yours,

(Pleading on behalf of the poor)

THOMAS CLOUD,

Colonel.

New York, Dec. 17.—An offer of a group of New York Buddhas to erect a shrine to the god in Central Park, has been refused on the ground that erection of the monument by a religious group in the park would be an impudience.
