New York, Nov. 9.-Returns from all but three congressional districts indicated that results were still undetermined at noon today. They show 224 Republicans, 205 Democrats, 1 Socialist, 1 Independent, and 1 Farmer-Labor elected to the new House Representatives.

Latest figures show the next Senate will have 52 Republicans, 41 Democrats, and 1 Farmer-Labor representative, with re-sults of two senatorial contests one in Washington and the other in North Dakota—still undecided.

Special to The Advertiser. Washington, D. C., Nov. 9 .- Republicans continue today to cling to control of the next congress by a slender thread, as the slow process to complete returns from Tuesday's election was continued.

These figures were expected to be revised somewhat later, as they conceded to the Republicans some districts still listed by the Democrats
