LONDONERS NOW IN N. Y. DRAMAS

Miss White and Miss Tancock Appear in Laboratory Theatre Plays.

HOME IN JUNE

Miss Shirley White and Miss Blanche Tancock, who left London over a year ago to study the art of the theatre in New York, are now appearing in New York productions, while Miss Margaret Glass is actively engaged in the preparation of stage settings and studying the art of the drama. All three are students at the Laboratory theatre, which is directed by Bolos Lowsky, at one time head of the Moscow Art theatre, Russia.

Miss White and Miss Tancock are now playing in "The Princess Troubetsky," an Irish folk drama. They are also appearing in interesting character roles in "The Sea Woman's the Moscow Art theatre Cloak," which has been presented on several occasions before the dinner guests of New York hostesses. received by the Laboratory theatre, but it is not yet known whether this will be accepted. Mrs. Skunk Moves To a New Home Under Farmer Brown's Henhouse

By THORNTON W. BURGESS. Mrs. Skunk had talked of moving, but Jimmy Skunk hadn't paid much heed to what she said. He was too much concerned with his own immeliate affairs to be particularly interdiate affairs to be particularly interested in Mrs. Jimmy's talk. There is much to do and much to see in early spring, you know, and Jimmy was wandering about, enjoying life and thinking very little of home affairs. So Jimmy hadn't paid much heed to Mrs. Jimmy's talk of moving. It had gone in one ear and out the other "It is just talk," said he to other. "It is just talk," said he to himself.
