No Verdict in the Ivy City Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Argument was begun yesterday before Judge Cole on the motion to quash the indictments of Bookmaker Marvin and his assistant for alleged violation of the gaming law in making books on the Ivy City race. The entire day was consumed by Attorney James Coleman for the defendants and District Attorney Birney for the prosecution. Judge Wilson made his argument to-day, after which the judge reserved his decision.

Turf Gossip.

It is claimed that the new National Turf Club intend to purify the turf by refusing any bookmaker who makes a book or who can be proved to have any interest in a book or bookmaking from running their horses on the turf.

Mr. Joseph E. Seagram was in the city yesterday, and states that his thoroughbred are all going to Waterloo. The popular distiller gives sound arguments showing that prohibition has not by any means been endorsed by a majority of Ontario voters.

R. C. Stinson of Brantford has bought in Minneapolis for $3000 the stallion Hildbrand, 2:15, and will campaign him after a short season in the stud. On his visit Cape came across the fast gray pacer Teresa Scott, by Windsor Scott, that he used to drive 10 years ago on the ice for his uncle, Simon James of Hamilton.

Major S. T. Dickinson, who for many years had a good stable of high-class trotters in New York, on Thursday sold the whole of his horses, with one exception, to Andrew Welch of Hartford, Conn. The sale of these eight mares constitutes the biggest private sale ever made in that city. They cost Major Dickinson about $50,000. The price which "Andy" Welch gave for the lot has not been ascertained.

LOCAL BASEBALL GOSSIP.

Dukes Will Keep Away from Any League—Some With Toledo.

Manager McGaughey of the champion Dukes Baseball Club says his team will be independent of any league next season. He was not at all satisfied with the style of the Central of last season and has resolved to place his usual strong nine in the field for friendly games in Toronto and throughout the province.

The Park Nine will most likely be organized in an early day, ready to assist in the formation of a city league, and Manager Thomson of the irrepressible Nationals will have his club on deck in the spring.

The Wallaceys, the junior champions, will start the season early and expect to have a lot of contestants for the Spalding pennant again next season.

William Somers, the popular local catcher and outfielder, who has played the past few seasons successfully in the east, and Smith yesterday signed a contract to play with Toledo of the Western League and will report with the team on the 15th of April.

Baseball Brivettes.

There is some talk of organizing the American Association, but President Hart of the Chicago club says it is all bosh. He thinks such a move may be possible in four years.

The Chicago club will get into condition in California next spring. The trip will cost $5000. The team starts for the slope the latter part of this month.

There seems to be a "deal" of some sort at present between the New York and Cleveland clubs. McKean, the shortstop, may be secured and he would prove a valuable man for the Giants. Other Cleveland players who are mentioned in the possible "deal" are Young, the pitcher; Zimmerman, the catcher, and Burkett, the outfielder.

Baltimore has traded Shindle and Treadway to Brooklyn for Brothers and Keeler. Brothers is a great batsman, but New York wanted a captain on the infield, where the captain properly belongs, and now Fouts can play regularly.

New York is well satisfied with the trade with Baltimore.

Champion George W. Orton.

Mr. George W. Orton, the champion mile runner of America and now of the University of Pennsylvania, is spending the holidays with his parents in the city. He will return shortly to Philadelphia and will train carefully for all the spring college events.

The Pomona Kennels of Germantown were completely destroyed by fire Wednesday morning. Fifteen dogs, several of whom have taken prizes at various exhibitions, were burned to death.

LORD ABERDEEN ON THE ICE.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL INTERESTED BY TORONTO CURLEERS.

An Enjoyable Six-Hits Match Played in Church-street Resulted in a Victory for the City Players by Six Shots—His Excellency a Splendid Player—General Sporting Gossip.

Lord Aberdeen was right royally welcomed by his brethren of the stane and besom in Toronto yesterday.

The six-hits match between sides of city curleers and Ontario Association officers, as arranged by the Executive Committee, resulted in a close contest and a defeat for the officers by a paltry six shots.

The mid afternoon caused a postponement until the evening, and at 9.30 the sturdy curleers, led by the noble Earl, were cheered by the many ladies and gentlemen in the galleries.

His Excellency proved an expert skip and curler and wall up in all the points of the game. He was very enthusiastic, pleased and gratified by the ordinary plebeian player and invariably cheered when he took the tee. Lord Ava did not show such a familiarity with the game, but his aptitude made him of good assistance to Skip Russell.

The ice was in good condition. The game was finished at 11 o'clock. The 12 rinks were photographed after some difficulty and then the respective sides were entertained in the Granite Club. The array of curling stones were consequently decorated with red and blue distinguishing ribbons and the men were also similarly ornamented. The scores:

SCULLER SULLIVAN ACCEPTS.

Gaudaur Invited to Visit England for $1000 a Side.

New York, Jan. 5.—If Jake Gaudaur, the champion sculler of America, will go to England to row, there is every prospect of an international single-scull race.

The challenge recently issued by the champion has been accepted by Tom Sullivan, the champion of New Zealand. George W. Atkins, sculler.

Sullivan will row Gaudaur over the Thames championship course for £2000 a side, the Fox championship challenge cup and the championship of the world, and will allow expenses. If Gaudaur accepts these terms and posts a deposit with the Police Gazette, a match will be arranged.

The idea is to try and fetch Stanley back.

Sullivan, who recently expressed a desire to row regularly in England, says the New York, and goes on: Winter is a bad time, especially in England, and Gaudaur would be very loath to go, but a race could be arranged for autumn or some other southern place, if the New Zealanders are really anxious for it. This is not probable, however, as he has just gone into the hotel business, having taken possession of the Rutland Hotel, Hammermill.

THAT CASH CRYSTAL LEAGUE.

Pat Powers Thinks It Will Collapse Unless Reorganized.

New York, Jan. 5.—Pat Powers of the National Cycling Association, stated yesterday that the National Cycling Association would not amount to a row of pins unless it was thoroughly reorganized.

In his opinion it would be reorganized if certain interests withdrew and the men with money were allowed full swing.

Pat Powers, in his brief experience, has discovered that cyclists, particularly professional, are harder to deal with than baseball players. He did not mean to say that it is during the six-day races, but as he is a hustler he goes about prepared for emergencies.

Powers thinks that the National Cycling Association was very much mismanaged from the time it started, but he is of the opinion that professional cycling could be made popular in this country.

Balt Masteron of Denver has been put to star in Jacksonville since his arrival. He is an out-and-out Mitchell man, and has bet several sums of money on Mitchell on the Boston series. Both teams are considerably strengthened this year by new material, and will doubtless put up a hard and exciting game.

SURVEYOR OF CUSTOMS RESIGNS.

Mr. John Douglas Thinks He Was Slighted—But the Authorities Say They Had No Such Intention.

Mr. John Douglas, Surveyor of Customs for the last 30 years and getting collector of the port on occasions, and ranking after the collector, handed in his resignation yesterday. No one is more universally respected by the business community than the surveyor, who is now seeking his connection with the department and when it got out yesterday that Mr. Douglas had resigned because he believed that he has been unjustly treated and insulted by the action of the authorities in taking away his room in the Custom House, there were many expressions of sympathy with him. The World looked the matter up and below will be found both sides of the story.

Mr. Douglas was found at his house, 89 Broadbent-street, last night. He said he was occupied with the Custom House ever since it was built. A few weeks ago Mr. Alfred Boulton was appointed to the office of the collector of ports, and was given as his office room, which Mr. Douglas has used for so long a time.

Mr. Douglas did not care to leave his pleasant room in the Custom House, and the room on the third floor, which he said were available.

The office of Inspector of Ports, said Mr. Douglas, do not require Mr. Boulton to occupy the office during the entire year, but Mr. Douglas has a right to require him to take such trouble to accommodate a "Boulton" said Mr. Douglas, "I had been consulted in the matter I would have accommodated him. This is not probable, however, as he has just gone into the hotel business, having taken possession of the Rutland Hotel, Hammermill.
