

among the various articles we notice an excellent article on the Hugenots and one on "Frederick the Great," while the serials are all that could be desired.

APPLETON'S JOURNAL.—The last No. of Appleton's Journal is to hand, beautifully illustrated, containing also an Educational supplement. We admired this Journal, at its first issue, but it has even surpassed its original reputation and now ranks prominently among the best periodicals of the day. The articles are first-class, and its contributors can be classed among the best writers of fiction, fact and poetry.

BALLOU'S MAGAZINE, for November, is as usual interesting, the articles, while not heavy are of a nature that will please the general reader. Elliott, Thomas & Talbot, Boston, are the publishers.

We notice that "The Vale of Morven," a beautiful poem, written expressly for the Canadian Literary Journal, from the pen of our excellent contributor, G. V. LeVaux, Esq., has appeared extensively in weekly publications throughout the country, uncredited to us. Editors might please bear this in mind in making future SELECTIONS.

NOTICES TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Correspondents will bear in mind that MSS. requires only ONE CENT per ounce postage, but must contain no letters of business or otherwise. Where contributors require MSS. returned sufficient stamps must be enclosed.

 NOTICE.—Those Subscribers who have not as yet paid up their subscriptions, will greatly oblige by remitting the amount, 75 cents, and 6 cents postage, in all 81 cents, at once.

TABLE OF CONTENTS FOR NOVEMBER, 1870.

Impressions from Gothe, Paper II.....	5	Canoeing in the North.....	83
Rowe's Cross, A Tale of the Crusades.....	76	The Mountain Lake, (Poem).....	88
Autumn, (Poem.).....	81	John Reade's Poems.....	89
Something for the young Readers of the Journal.....	82	The Canadian Pioneer, (Music and Words.)	93
		Table Talk.....	96

All letters to the Editorial Department must be prepaid and addressed to

FLINT & VAN NORMAN,
Box, 1472, Toronto.

J. D. GRAHAM, Sharon.—Music and words received and accepted with thanks. Hope to hear from you soon again.

MATTHEW ARNOLD.—Scarcely appropriate. Let us hear from you with something shorter and upon a newer subject.

CHRISTMAS DAY, (Poem.)—Declined.

MAN, WHAT IS HE?—Accepted.

OUR EXHIBITION.—Your article is meritorious but hardly adapted to a monthly periodical. We hope to have your assistance hereafter.

THE STONEBREAKER, BY S. S.—Declined.

THE MOUNTAIN LAKE, BY "Conans."—Accepted with thanks.

CANADENSIS.—We welcome with pleasure to our columns one so deservedly popular to the reading public of Canada. Your excellent articles were too late for insertion in our present issue. Will appear in our next.

WHAT IS AN ANIMAL, accepted.—Owing to a number of scientific articles in hand, we cannot use it at present.

B. EWART.—Your revised effusion is declined. Poetry is certainly not your FORTE.

OSCAR.—Your article is good but more adapted to a weekly. Declined with thanks, but hope to hear from you again.

TO THE VOTARIES OF TOBACCO—Declined.

J. W. B. CHANON, Glasgow, Scotland.—Your article is accepted. We await the promised article from your friend.

Several notices are unavoidably crowded out until next month.