He who came from heaven
above,
Lived and died for love of
thee,
Asks thy service, asks thy love,
Bids thee follow faithfully.

READY TO GO OUT.

"Mamma, dear, may I go to see little cousin Lillie," asked Maudie Grey of her mamma one morning, "cause you know she is sick and cannot go out, so I would like to go and take her that pretty little rose that has just come out." "Yes," said mamma, "and I will go with you to see her too." So Maudie is all ready, waiting for mamma, and is delighted at the prospect of a lovely walk through the park.

GOOD FOR EVIL.

Johnnie threw a paper wad in the school in such a way that the teacher thought it was Charley. Charley saw Johnnie throw it, but he would not tell the teacher, and so he was kept in at recess as punishment. That night Charley told his mamma about it. His mamma advised him to try the Bible rule, and return good for evil. Charley decided to do so, and the next morning he took Johnnie a fine red apple. This made him so ashamed that he went up to the teacher and confessed his fault, and after that the boys were very good friends.
