The competent administration of the two countries can demand any further documents and information which are necessary for the purpose of the contract.

In principle, the final shooting script (including the dialogue) should be submitted to the competent administration of the country of origin of the production.

Amendments, including the replacement of a co-producer, may be made in the original contract but they must be approved by the competent administration of the country of origin of the production.

The replacement of a co-producer may be allowed only in exceptional cases and for reasons decided upon by the competent administration.

The competent administration will be notified of any amendments to the contract enclosing one copy of the file.
