

same time, U.S. concerns include the review now underway in Canada to examine the potential for increasing the use of low sulphur western Canadian coal in Ontario which could have an impact on the level of imports of US coal by Ontario Hydro.