Outward Movement of Cotton After Long Wait Particularly Encouraging.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The hopeful sentiment which developed last week was sustained by various circumstances this week. Chief of these were the heavy evidence of the increasing flood of the country's export trade. Commerce department officials estimated an October excess of merchandise exports of $40,000,000. Further buying of wheat and other grains for export continued on a sensational scale, and cotton shipments to foreign ports expanded to one-third or more of last year's rate. The effect extended to many lines of industry; even the steel trade felt increased confidence, despite additional contraction of current business.

The international exchange problem advanced sufficiently to end the necessity for further emergency arrangements under discussion by the British treasury delegates in conference at Washington. Credits were reported to be arranged in New York by foreign governments, including Russia and Austria, for expenditure in this country. This detracts from apprehension over gold exports, which are thus certain of an early return flow.

Investors appearing in the high-grade stocks reflected the growing force of the reservoir of capital accumulating with the bottling up of the market. Ending of the British moratorium, government security for London market loans, and the opening of the re-opening of the stock exchange.

Heavy retirements of emergency currency and clearing house certificates marked the strengthening of bank reserves, and this was followed by an increase in long-term loans—4-5 per cent.

The bank statement showed a further increase of reserves and a moderate cash gain in place of an expected loss.

Wall street drew its own inferences, mainly favorable, from the elections. Turkey's entrance in the war, the closing of the North Sea and developments in the Mexican arena were counted among the week's adverse features.

The Dominion Bank will move into its new building at the corner of King and York streets, Nov. 16, and will be open for business there two days later.
