FARMERS HELPLESS

Labor Problem Calling for Solution and Organization Can Accomplish Much.

War intensifies all problems of thor. Military not less than indus-rial; industrial not less than agri-altural. It is a time when every man cultural. It is a time when every man is called upon to work not only for his own benefit, but for the common weal. At such periods men who will not work should be made either to accept, and do their best with, such tasks as are offered, or be relegated to an industrial home, failing their fitness for the front line of trenches. This is no time for shirkers, and, just as there is no time, so is there no place for them in the bustling life of an active people.

In every city at this moment there are crowds of men young, middle-aged, and old, out of employment. Without exception they all profess to be looking for something to do, but, if the labor tendered be not congenial; many of them shrug their shoulders and turn away. They are not all foreigners who act in this way, neither are they all native-born. It is to be feared however, that the wast majority are of British birth or extraction. Meantime the land is crying to be me the land is crying to be Farmers are begging for help what in this emergency is to be done? It is a problem that must and should be confronted. It is a problem that must be grappled with. It is a problem that every city and town should take upon itself to help to solve. Committees should be appointed to consider and determine what is best to be done. A great deal can always be accomplished by organization, by consultation, by discussion in by consultation, by discussion in by ventilation of ideas

Agricultural War Book.

The Agricultural War Book in deal-

The Agricultural War Book in dealing with the labor problem points out that in nearly every town and city in Canada there are vacant lots and unoccupied areas. "There must."

The Book says. "be over one hundred thousand acres of unproductive land within the boundaries of our towns and cities. Why do not the councils get the use of this land and grow food-potatoes and other vegetables that are produced by hand labor?"
Here is surely a practical idea. We are at the present day teaching criminals how to till the soil and how to make waste acres productive. If the meter-do-wells of the community are worthy of so much attention, how much more so are the poor creatures. least an insight into the manner which they could, to some extent

Around every city and every town any dimensions real estate boost-s have displaced the former holders of much of the land. They have sub-divided it into building lots and offer-ed it for sale. On some portions in-stalments have been paid, but on much more there has been no bid, and the soil, except for signs and divi-sions, remains as it did when sold and abandoned by the former holders.
All this land should be put back to its earlier uses. As here said, not alone would its reoccupation in manner prescribed furnish employment for thousands of the at present idle. but it would give them instruction in one of the elements of farming. One thing is certain namely, that the labor em is one calling aloud to the

In the nature of things the agriculturist is helpless in the matter fur-ther than that he can undertake to do his best by such labor as is offered, but the cities that depend upon agriculture for their growth and very existence can, by organization and energetic action, accomplish much-ANOTHER MONTREAL

Rheumatism

A Heme Gure Given by One Who Had it In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

Every true Christian should take a stand for the right, for the Word of God, for the exposition of the falsehoods which have slandered the Almighty Character, which have benumbed the zeal of the saints, and which have repelled the weary and heavy-laden.

The thought of an angry, vindictive, tor ure-loving Creator should be rejected instantly by every rational mind as being ungodlike, demoniacal. No doubt this would have been so, had it not been that the misconception of the subject, which the Apostle calls the "doctrines of devils," was imposed upon our minds from earliest childhood, and often by those whom we properly loved and whose piety we reverenced, but who were themselves deceived. It is high time that more reverential and loving theological views were seen by all mankind. The lack of this true theology is driving many away from the Lord and His Word in vain philosophies and "science falsely so-called"-Higher Criticism, Christian Science, Evolution, Theosophy, etc., etc.-1 Timothy 6.20. Indee with are thus enceavoring to meet the situation show clearly that they do not understand it. The tidal wave of liberty of minit can no more be repressed than can the ocean tide be stayed with a broom.

There is just one remeay—the correct understanding of the Bible teachings. Whoever iaus to receive the Truth fails of everything with respect to the present life. This statement applies not only to the world in general, but also to the entire Church of Christ.

The predicted hour of trial to conse upon the whole world is now upon us; and the Apostle Peter's declaration is that it must begin with the Church—the House of God. (1 Peter 4:17). The statement of the Prophet is that one thousand will fail to one that will stand. (Psalm $1:7). St. Paul's exhortation respecting the same time of trial is, "Take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the Evil Day, and having done all, to stand." (Ephesians 6:11-13). Who shall be able to stand? is the question.

Connection

The Measurements of Love Divine.

We are not able to tell the wonnerful measurements of God's love—nor can others tell them. Indeed, as the Apostle suggests, the privilege of appreciating these measurements is granted only to the saints, and to these in proportion to their saintliness. Thus a babe in Christ, the beloved of the Lord and carefully cherished, cannot comprehend these measurements of the Divine character, because he is only an infantile saint.

When first he believed in the Lord, he saw something of Divine Love and MELVILL Phone M. 2010.

them by daily life and a word fitly spoken; not only by an appreciation of the fruits and graces of God's Spirit—meekness, gentleness, long-suffering, brotherly kindness, love—but so great in appreciation of them as more and more induces us to stamp these gracious characteristics of Divinity upon our own thoughts, words and deeds.

Thus it is that we become "copies of God's dear Son," and "meet for the inheritance of the saints in, light!" To these, more and more the Father is pleased to grant the opening of their eyes of understanding, even to appreciation of the things of the Spirit—"the deep things of God."—I Corinth ans 2:9-14.

From this attainment come our blessing and the world's bless-ing. The light from the great Sun of Righteousness, which shortly is to flood the world, will be "the light of the knowledge of the glory of God"—of Di-vine Mercy and Love—in and thru the Messianic Kingdom.
