THE COUNTY OF YORK

ON TRAIL OF $10,000.

niscussed at Saturday's Session of Eighth Annual Conference at Victoria College.

orning session of the Victor.a University eighth annual missionary conference in the College Chapel on Saturday. The first speaker was Rev. Dr. John McDougall, who has been for forty years missionary among the Indians in the Northwest. His address consisted principally of reminiscences of his work. He quoted examples of the wonderful receptiveness of the Indians in matters religious and their willingnecs to hear the gospel. Thanks to the translation of the Bible into the Cree syllabic system by James Evans, Cree syllabic system by James Evans, the pioneer Methodist missionary among the Indians, there were many of the natives who had studied the gospel, and had become Christians without ever seeing a missionary.

Rev. Dr. James Woodsworth, superintendent of Methodist Home Missions in the Northwest, told of the encouraging advance in his department during the past year, and appealed for more men to carry on the wark. The churches were laying foundations, he said, that were scarcely broad enough to cope with the advancement which was to come in that district.

It dwelt on the immense wealth of the country and the place it was soon to occupy as the granary of the empire. The increase in members in the past year was 2000, and the money raised for all purposes had amounted to over $360,000; twenty-three new missions had been established, and sixty-seven new workers had entered the work. Despite this accession to the number of missionarls, there were forty needed almost immediately, and the raising of these was his mission in the east.

Work of the W.M.S.

Mrs. (Dr.) Carman delivered an address on the work of the Woman's Missionary Society. She outlined its history since it was first established, in 1819, in Great Britain. In 1876 work was begun in Canada, and with such good effect that there was a large number of Canadian men and women at present laboring in the fields in Japan, China, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories.

The afternoon session was opened by Rev. A. P. Addison on the "Work in Japan" He dwelt on the importance of work there at the present time. The Methodists had begun their wo k in 1873, just at the time when Japan wakened to the advisability of permitting the missionaries to preach the gospel unhindered, and since that time Japan had progressed in a more wonderful way. Their progress in that country, he said, was no reason why they should relax their efforts, because there was a great and fertile fild for the sowing of Christianity still remaining.

Japan and Great Britain.

W. F. Daniels, B.A., following up Mr. Addison's remarks, drew a fine comparison between Japan, the island power of Asia, and Great Britain, the island nation of Europe. Both were a seafaring people with navies and commerce on the seas. They looked not to their own country so much as to extending their trade relations and their commerce. Thus Japan became a civilizing agency in the east, just as Great Britain was, in Europe. Japan was one of the greatest agencies for the spread of the gospel in the east.

The afternoon session was closed by a round table conference conduct de by was one of the greatest agencies for the spread of the greatest agencies for the sprea

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy in Town, street, received five dollars from a middle-aged prosperous-looking stranger last evening. It was a case of conscience money The stranger explained that about thirty years ago, when a boy of ten years of age, he had the habit of stealing candles and cakes from Mr. Prodick's rig while the latter was delivering goods in the nearby Town of Aylmer. He estimated that his childish thieving cost Mr. Prodick at least a dollar, and he wished to return this amount with interior to date, estimating the total at $5. The recipient was too much surprised to ask questions.
