TRAFFIC INTERFERED WITH.
A broken trolley wire at the head of King street interrupted street car traffic during the rush period between noon and one o'clock today. Until a repair gang could be got to the scene the up King cars were carried over the break by transferring their trolley poles to the down street trolley wire. Traffic was completely tied up one way for about twenty minutes while a new piece of wire was being tied in. The break took place near the contact plates which operate the automatic switch and near the same place where similar trouble was experienced about a week ago.

ROLLING MILLS CASE
In the Bankruptcy Court this morning before Chief Justice McKinnon certain matters pertaining to an assignment of the Portland Rolling Mills Limited were heard. The question arose through a petition presented on behalf of the Canadian Car and Foundry Co., Ltd., for an order declaring the company bankrupt. The claim was on a note amounting being $1,784.88 with costs of $55. Between the time of the filing of the petition and the hearing today the company made an assignment to The Eastern Trust Company, authorized trustee. It was Brunswick Rolling Mills Ltd., the name under which the plant was bought had given a mortgage for $25,000 to the Portland Rolling Mills Limited, this mortgage being later assigned to the Bank of Nova Scotia. It was agreed, however, that the bank should either transfer the mortgage to the authorized assignee as an asset or the bank would sell and pass the proceeds to the trustee. M. G. Teed, K. C., appeared on behalf of the petitioner and C. F. Sanford for the bank.

METHODIST RESOLUTIONS

Faith to Crown, Hope for Peace, and Relief for Fire Sufferers.

Toronto, Oct. 6.—Faith to the British crown and constitution, abhorrence of war, and a fervent hope that the agencies of peace would prevail in the dispute between Great Britain and the Turkish Nationalists in the Near East situation, were expressed in resolutions adopted by Methodist conference yesterday.

The conference also expressed its sympathy with the sufferers from the forest fires in Northern Ontario and directed that practical support be extended through the church. A committee was appointed to investigate conditions resulting from the fires in the north and instructed to send out an alarm to the Methodist churches throughout the dominion. The committee will take up the matter of relief for the sufferers immediately with Hon. W. E. Ramey, attorney general of Ontario.

RESTIGOUCHE POTATO CROP DISAPPOINTING

Only Some 30,000 Barrels
from 2,000 Barrels Planted—
Hay was Great Crop.

(Special to The Times)

Campbell, N. B., Oct. 6.—According to late reports in potato crop throughout Restigouche Co., is more or less of a failure considering the extensive scale on which farmers of certain districts have gone into this branch of agriculture in the last summer. Digging except in the cases of a few farmers who have an immense acreage to cover it about over and, comparing the crops with last year the result shows only about half the expected yield. In districts the areas are of a first class quality although very scarce in the ground. In other localities, especially near the Gloucester county line, a very heavy yield is reported but about a third are affected by rot.

Last spring the farmers along the Chert and Newville section of the coast planted great quantities of government inspected seed potatoes. Many whose former limit was thirty or forty barrels planted from fifty to 100 this year, according to their facilities to handle the harvest. One horticulturist who has rented several farms in that vicinity planted more than 600 barrels. For the last few weeks men, horses and machinery engaged in digging operations have presented a busy scene along this section of the coast as an estimate placed the yield on more than 2,000 barrels planted at less than 30,000 barrels.

In addition to this unsatisfactory outcome of the season's work farmers in that neighborhood face another discouraging circumstance in the matter of prices. So far $1.75 a barrel is the maximum offered for government inspected potatoes while ordinary stock is bringing about $1 in local markets. End will be proud of the new park and the enterprising spirit of the St. Peter's rector, who has already done so much in his three years' residence here to make the property in his care a beautiful spot and refreshment not only for his own parishioners, but for the general public who are not denied the pleasure of walking through the gardens when their profuse bloom is in their statuary.

Flower and tree experts say St. John's soil is not uniformly suitable for much gardening and in addition that smoke and fog are factors in retarding growth. These facts have been discovered in civic gardening during late years, and programmes are being changed now and again to assure maximum of results. On the St. Peter's church grounds floriculture has been especially successful, as the gardens show, due possibly to freedom from continuous smoke and other noxious influences.

NEW PARK FOR THE NORTH END

Enlargement of St. Peter's
Decorative Scheme

Reclaim Hillside Sloping from the Baseball Park to Marble Cove—Beauty of the Gardens and Statuary
Grouping About Church.

As a further example of the outstanding community spirit of Rev. William Hogan, C. SS. R., rector of St. Peter's, North End, St. John branch of the Redeemptorist order, plans have been prepared by the firm of H. E. Gould for the reclamation and beautifying of that unsightly rocky hillside sloping from the southern side of St. Peter's baseball park to the river at Marble Cove. In fact teams are at work now reducing the earthy mounds that surround the hill and before the snow flies a substantial start will have been made on this new adornment to the city.

G. W. Gould, who also made the landscape designs and specifications for the extensive gardens, etc., that surround the church property today, has conceived an attractive network of walks and sub-walks with groves and trees that will quite transform the barren declivity into a restful, inviting retreat. It will be a hillside park in every sense of the word, entailing blasting of much rock, excavating on a large scale and the introduction of growths and pathways erections that will complete a delightful picture. When finished the Marble Cove slope will be another vantage point overlooking the river, in which lovers of perfect quiet and scenic values may regale their minds and bodies.

A Times reporter was shown over the site in company with H. E. Gould, senior member of the landscape designing firm, the colored plans and the land itself a comprehensive idea of the proposed changes was clearly imparted. Certainly North End will be proud of the new park and the enterprising spirit of the St. Peter's rector, who has already done so much in his three years' residence here to make the property in his care a beautiful spot and refreshment not only for his own parishioners, but for the general public who are not denied the pleasure of walking through the gardens when their profuse bloom is in their statuary.

Flower and tree experts say St. John's soil is not uniformly suitable for much gardening and in addition that smoke and fog are factors in retarding growth.

These facts have been discovered in civic gardening during late years, and programmes are being changed now and again to assure maximum of results. On the St. Peter's church grounds floriculture has been especially successful, as the gardens show, due possibly to freedom from continuous smoke and other noxious influences.

Within the rough stone enclosures which form a beautiful boundary to the property there is a triangular garden on the Clarendon street side in which a group of rockeries, or matted garden effects amid jagged stones form the central idea. The sward is prettily designed with walks and flower beds and there are hedges of hardy perennial plants. At one beautiful spot in this garden is a statue of St. Joseph, patron saint of the working man, a tribute to the willing helpers of the parish and at the other end of the area is located a marble statue of the Guardian Angel and a little child. The trees planted here with special design complete a most attractive scheme of flowing sculpture.

On the Douglas avenue side of the property most people are familiar with the quiet unobtrusive but nevertheless appropriate lay-out of the grassy plot, that of the Chalice, adorned with flower beds, placed trees and rough stone pathways. In the centre is a sundial, giving the whole effect that of a medieval garden. The words "St. Peter's" in bright green plants meet the eye from the main thoroughfare. The traffic walks through the grounds of the club are laid in concrete flagstones and the high rough-stone dry walls surmounted with blossoming plants give forth the atmosphere of the rich mosaic gardens of Europe or the weathered sections of big cities on this side of the water. In fact the Old World effect was sketched into the plans when Douglas Gold was associated with Milner Brothers & White, leading architects of Great Britain, during his residence in London after the armistice.

It is in the inner garden where the burial place of St. Peter's priests is located at the south-easterly section of the church area, that the most elaborate gardening has been done and the most beautiful statuary raised. The elevated spot in which the graves of the clergy are marked is backed with an impressive marble group depicting Christ on the Cross with the figures of Mary, St. John and Mary Magdalene standing near. This is an heroic group dominating the whole enclosure and is devoutly inspirational in its effect.

On another side of this retreat is a replica of the famous shrine at Lourdes in France, the figure of the Blessed Virgin showing in recess in the rock, the head surrounded by a halo of light at night bearing the inscription "I Am The Immaculate Conception." This shrine is fronted by a purring pool as if placed there by nature.

All this splendid outdoor art work has been the ambition and labor of the present rector, who feels that whenever possible to make his to the house of God, its surroundings should be worthy of its high place in the daily lives of the people and that such treatment embodied spirit of worship. A few years ago the large frontage of St. Peter's was actually used as a cow pasture, now it and its adjacent grounds are the loveliest section of the whole city, truly a thing of which the whole citizenship may be proud. It is worthy of emulation on all sides.

IRISH CONSTITUTION

Dublin, Oct. 6.—Parliament yesterday adopted Article 48 of the proposed constitution. This article says that, except in case of actual invasion, the Free State shall not be committed to active participation in any war without the assent of the Free State parliament. Kevin O'Higgins, home minister, described the article as having been agreed up by the government and said the government would strongly advise against any attempt to change its provisions.
