REPORT ON METAL

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for week ended Dec. 4, Canadian Machinery and ended Dec. 4, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment:

Securing of supplies is becoming more and more a problem with the industrial world in Canada. Many firms are realizing now that dealers and salesmen of steel and machinery were quite right some months ago when they warned them that there was a serious shortage. some months ago when they warned them that there was a serious shortage ahead. Firms that went into the market then and got their business booked are getting deliveries now. Firms that did not have simply to content themselves with getting what they can, and with knowing that any business they may put in now has a great procession ahead of it, making deliveries very uncertain. The premium market is coming to be more and more openly recognized in the steel business, and many mills that have not been known as being in the premium class before are now selling at a price based upon their ability to deliver. There is also a tendency, although hard to locate, that tries to hold back a certain tonnage in prospect of a very active and cate, that tries to hold back a certain tonnage in prospect of a very active and high market later on.

The shortage of steel, coupled with restriction on the use of coal, has a tendency to make buyers a little more conservative. But for all that there is a nice volume of business moving in the machine tool market, and the business is well scattered, no one industry doing all the buying. Several Canadian firms have fairly large lists in the New York machine tool market this week.

Canadian machinery dealers are recog-Canadian machinery dealers are recognizing more and more that the day of specialization has arrived and they are preparing to meet this new situation. One firm this week has sent its best man to study production methods in other countries, and he will devote his whole time to pointing out, on his return, where operations that are gow done on a general machine should be turned over to a machine built especially for the purpose. machine built especially for the purpose. It is really applying the single-purpose machine idea, which secured such results during the war.

Copper prices in the scrap market sagged during the week. It is hard to sell copper owing to the rate of U. E. discount, hence there is an accumulation.

STILL GOING UP LADDER IN THE

are in very scant supply and whole-The upward tendencies in the general hardware lines are continuing and some of the changes noted this week are very important. The scarcity throughout the entire hardware line is becoming more pronounced every day and it is said that manufacturers generally are refusing to accept orders for shipment after Dec. 31, except at prices prevailing at date of shipment.

The sheet, bar iron and steel situation is scrious. The mills have again adsaiers fear a shortage for the Christmas

The sheet, bar iron and steel situation is serious. The mills have again advanced their prices $5 a ton, and this is partly reflected in sheets and plates and they are recorded at an advance of 30c.
