CLEANLINESS IN DENTISTRY. If people knew the frightful risk they run of infection from unclean dentistry they would better realize the awful chances they take and what a mighty important factor cleanliness is. No one has ever disputed the fact that there are no cleaner offices in Canada than ours. This is worthy of consideration.

WAY FOR DAVIS HAS BEEN ROUGH

Police Court Proceedings Bring Out Story of Hard Knocks by Fortune

Rough has been the path of Jas. Davis an Englishman and step-daugher, he obtained employment with the York cotton mill. It was a struggle for existence and at times he was compelled during last winter to go out on the dump to pick up some pieces of coal for a fire, and as a result had his nose and fingers frozen. Some months ago a bright little girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Davis died in the General Public Hospital as the result of burns sustained while playing in their home in Clarence street. In court Davis said that following this misfortune, he lost his position and the one trouble following the other, so over-wrought him that he was almost beside himself. He had since had a hard time to eke out an existence, and as a result of some disagreement with his wife, struck her. He said that he believed that his brain was affected. A fine of $20 was struck against him, but allowed to stand and he was advised to see a doctor.

THE BEAVER STORY IS UNFOUNDED

The Globe on Saturday printed a story which the Standard reprints this morning to the effect that in the settlement of the Mayes case there was a secret agreement on the part of the minister of public works that the dredge Beaver would either be bought by the government or given government work. There is not a word of truth in this story. Dr. Duggley was then asked why did he promise to purchase or employ the Mayes dredge.

NAIRN SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Police Court Deals With Case of Stealing From Peters' Tannery

The preliminary examination of John Nairn, charged with stealing a suit of clothes and suit of overalls, the property of Frank L. Peters, and a coat and trousers and pair of larrigans belonging to Carl Peters, was continued in the police court this morning and after the evidence of Detective Killen and two witnesses, Nairn was sent up for trial. James Miller told of Nairn having left a suit of clothes and a pair of overalls at his place in Britain street, saying that he would call for them later. The articles he turned over to Detective Killen. Abner Secord said that he had purchased the larrigans from Nairn for ninety cents. Detective Killen, said that, in response to a telephone message from the Peters' tannery on September 24, that some things had been stolen, he and Deputy Chief Jenkins went to the establishment. There they were told what had been taken. On October 5 he met the prisoner in Charlotte street and from the description of the clothes that had been stolen recognized them as those worn by him. He accompanied Nairn to the tannery where Carl Peters identified the clothing and as a result he took Nairn to central police station and locked him up. At the time the prisoner said he went through a window to get the coat and trousers but denied all knowledge of the other things stolen. On the following day the detective recovered the larrigans from Secord and these too were identified by Mr. Peters. On Oct. 12 he got a suit of clothes and a pair of overalls at the home of James Miller. His honor then sent Nairn up for trial.

MINISTERS HEAR BOOTH

Evangelist Addresses Meeting in Centenary—A Talk on Stewardship

Herbert Booth, who is conducting special services in the Main street Baptist church, addressed the ministers of the city in the school room of Centenary church this morning. Rev. David Hutchinson, D. D., was chosen chairman. A short address was delivered by Rev. Prof. Bellier, of Boston, who preached in Centenary church on Sunday. Mr. Booth made an eloquent and powerful address taking for his subject stewardship. He chose four texts, each of which he dealt with in his subject. First he spoke of the stewardship of the graces; secondly he spoke of the stewardship of the trusts, in which connection he said:—The ministers were the trustees of the graces of God, and it was a duty to be faithful to those graces; thirdly, there were stewards of the mysteries, and he referred to modernism and emphasized the need of ministers being well grounded in the essential doctrines. There was a point, he said, beyond which it was not wise to enquire. The fourth was the stewardship of the kingdom. Mr. Booth was listened to with much pleasure.

THE BATTLE LINE. S. S. Pendosa, Captain Wright, arrived on October 15, at Rio Janeiro, from Montevideo.

A Card of Thanks From J. N. Harvey

St. John, N. B., Oct. 13th, 1910. TO THE PEOPLE OF ST. JOHN: I consider it fitting before leaving St. John to take up important mercantile interests in the West, to extend a full measure of gratitude to the people who favored me with their patronage during the nine years I have resided here. In opening my establishment March 1901, I anticipated a most satisfactory trade, an expectation that was realized beyond my fondest hopes, terminating in a year of record breaking sales. From one store my business grew quickly to two and then three stores, eventually occupying the whole block. Each department progressed satisfactorily upon a cash sale basis, tending honest goods at honest prices invariably. This system was of great mutual benefit and the public was not long in giving tangible evidence of its appreciation of it. I desire to thank most cordially those very many citizens of both sexes who helped me build so big a business in Union St. It was particularly pleasing to have many steady patrons tell myself and staff during the big clearance sale just ended how happy their dealings had always been with our house, making the personal phase of my departure from Vancouver still more pleasant to me. In the nature of breaking home ties, To my successors (whoever they may be) in Opera House block, I bespeak a share of that good-will and trade with which you favored me, and being especially desirous of keeping bright the lamp of friendship and acquaintanceship I extend to St. John friends who may be visiting Vancouver an invitation to call upon me either at home or business, when I will esteem it a pleasure to assist in making it pleasant for the sojourner from dear old St. John. Yours thankfully, J. N. HARVEY.
