The hospital commissioners asked for $5,000 to complete improvements. The matter was referred to the finance and accounts committee with power to act. Councillor Lewis reported that the expenses so far in connection with the G. P. laborers in the park was $346. Good work had been done. These prisoners had built large dams, and removed the bog from the ground and burned the same in order that an artificial lake might be created to still further ornament the park. In two walks carriages could be driven through the park out to the Sandy Point road and back to the park by way of the valley. Only three hundred feet of this road remained to be completed. SPRINGHILL EXPLOSION.

Acting on Coroner's Recommendations Gov't Will Make Thorough Investigation into Fatality.

(Special to the Star.)

SPRINGHILL MINES, Oct. 6.—The following verdict has been rendered by a jury empanelled by Dr. R. L. Murray, coroner, to inquire into the death of Samuel McDowell, killed by the explosion in the Springhill post office. "That the deceased came to his death by being struck by fragments of boiler pipes and escaping steam. No evidence of the cause of the explosion can be explained, but in view of the fact that such an accident is possible the jury recommends a thorough inspection of the heating system of the government."

The funeral of McDowell will take place tomorrow. Interment will be at Dorchester.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—Mr. Logan, M. P. for Cumberland, in the house last night brought up the question of the explosion at Springhill. Hon. Mr. Sutherland sent a man down tonight to investigate the matter.

A PITIFUL CASE.

From 66 Brussels street comes a sad story of destitution, William Henry Johnston, with his wife and ten-year-old boy, live there. Mr. Johnston is a native of Sussex. He is a man of about fifty years of age, sober and industrious in his habits and was for about a year employed near Apohaqui. Here he was taken sick with catarrh of the stomach and could not possibly work longer. Having heard much of the water works, he again fell sick with typhoid fever; he was advised to go to the hospital, but as his wife was sick he could not go. Just as he was coming around his boy took sick with typhoid and when he was getting over it his wife was stricken with the same disease.

Mr. Johnston is very reticent, but neighbors say they have seen nothing to eat in their house since Sunday, nor until they had sold a fancy cup and saucer for ten cents yesterday morning had they broken their fast. Mr. Johnston's appearance bears out his statement. It is now so weak since he was able to work. It is indeed a pitiful case.

W. C. T. U. DELEGATES REPORT.

A meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was held yesterday afternoon in Orange hall, German street, to receive the reports of delegates to the recent W. C. T. U. convention, held in St. John. Mrs. D. Scott, in the chair. After a hymn had been sung, the president read as the scripture lesson the 121st psalm and prayer was offered. The secretary then read the minutes of the last meeting, which were adopted.

Mrs. Roper, one of the delegates, gave an interesting report of the doings and various meetings of the convention recently held in St. John. She also a delegate from St. John, spoke briefly of the pleasure and profit she had received from attending the convention.

It was then suggested that in the course of the winter the various city clergymen be asked to preach temperance sermons occasionally. No action was taken.

After singing of the doxology the meeting adjourned.

THE READER FOR OCTOBER.

"The Under World in Books" by Joseph Flynnt is a striking and valuable article in The Reader for October. Mr. Flynnt covers the whole field of Under World literature, and in a thoroughly entertaining manner gives the attitude of members of the Under World towards the books written about them both by themselves and by outsiders.

"By Way of Dissent" by Sewell Ford and "In the Bret Harle Country" by Winifred Black are other noteworthy contributions to this number, which includes stories, poems and sketches by Bliss Carman, John J. a'Becket, Arthur Stringer, Carolyn Wells, Edgar Fawcett, William J. Lampton and others. The cover of The Reader is a portrait of General Law Wace, author of "Een Hur," by John Cecil Clay, who is making a series of literary portrait covers for this enterprising magazine.

A Great Scotch Attraction Coming.

What will probably prove the greatest Scottish attraction ever heard in this country is booked to appear here on November 5th and 6th. It comprises George Neil, the premier tenor of Scotland, who shares honors with Jesse Macleachlan for the distinction of being the most popular singer in old country; and Mackenzie Murdoch, who is known as the "Scottish Paganini" and is probably the finest violinist that Scotland has ever produced, not excepting the never to be forgotten Neil Gow. Murdoch's brother comes over in the capacity of pianist and accompanist. A novel feature of the aggregation will be the presence of Harry Munroe, a prominent Scottish character comedian, whose witty sayings and readings will be calculated to create much laughter. The company will also include a soprano whose name will be announced in a day or two.

All these artists are from Scotland and represent the very best of that great country affords. They will land in Montreal about the latter part of the month, making their first appearance in that city in a concert under the auspices of the Scotch Club, for which the prices are to be higher than ever before applied for a Scottish concert any where.

This fine aggregation of talent which is to bring joy to the hearts of many of our people by their renderings will be heard in the Opera House on Nov. 5th and 6th, when a good Scotch welcome is awaiting them.

BOXERS READY.

The boxers, Littlejohn and McLeod, are in almost perfect shape for their 10-round mill tomorrow night at Queen's Rink. The men are to box for a decision and are to weigh 133 lbs. The weighing will take place tomorrow at noon. It is said that both boxers will be at weight.

Each boxer has much to win and lose in this contest. If McLeod pulls out a victory, he will have done what no other local men hereabouts could do, that is lower Littlejohn's colors. Littlejohn on the other hand has his work cut out to defeat McLeod, as the latter is a sturdy young boxer, an undefeated man, and will be good and strong at the weight.

The preliminaries are far above the ordinary. A large contingent of Halifax spectators are in town to attend the event, and have a block of $1.00 seats reserved for them at the ring-side. Billy Keeffe will referee.
