BISHOP O'RILEY VISITING HIS FORMER HOME

North End Man Returns after Thirty Years Absence—Is Guest of Bishop LeBlanc.

A welcome visitor to St. John, his native city, after an absence of thirty years, is Bishop Charles O'Riley, who is at present in the city, the guest of Bishop Edward LeBlanc, at the Bishop's palace, Waterloo street. Previous to his departure, Bishop O'Riley, who, at that time was not ordained to the priesthood, enjoyed a large acquaintance and, during the brief time he has been in the city, has renewed the friendship of many former companions.

His Lordship is now stationed in Baker City, in the diocese of East Oregon, and since leaving the city, in the year 1884, other than a few hours spent some years ago on his way to Montreal, he has never had an opportunity of visiting his home town, which he has always held in high regard.

Bishop O'Riley is an old North End boy, and is the son of Peter O'Riley, a former ship captain. After attending the local schools, he resumed his education at St. Joseph's University, and from there went to Montreal, where he completed his education, and was ordained to the priesthood in the year 1890 at Portland, Ore. For several years after his ordination he engaged in newspaper work, acting as editor of the Catholic Journal at Portland. In the year 1903 he was consecrated bishop.

In the course of a brief interview with a Standard reporter last evening His Lordship, when asked if he had met many St. John or New Brunswick men in Oregon, stated that he had met a good number from this province, and supplemented this remark by saying that it was a source of great gratification for him to note that those from this section who have settled in Oregon are among the high character and integrity, he said, they have prospered in the various walks of life. Those who have settled in Oregon are representatives that the province and city may be proud of. Since he left St. John, Bishop O'Riley has noted an increase in business activity.

Bishop O'Riley will visit St. Joseph's University, but will return to the city prior to his departure for Chicago, where he will read a paper before the Missionary Congress, which assembles there in about two weeks' time. He is being warmly welcomed by his many old friends.

URGE INCREASE OF COUNTY TAXATION

Assessors Ask Civil Authorities for Readjustment—Could Afford to Pay More is Believed.

In view of the developments outside the city limits, the civil authorities are being urged by the assessors to move for a readjustment of the taxation for county purposes now levied on the city and parishes. At the present time the city is paying about 85 per cent. of the county tax budget and this ratio has not been changed for many years. Important industrial developments have recently taken place in some of the parishes, while the farmers, judging from the price of farm produce, are much better off than they used to be. Some time ago chickens could be purchased in St. John for about 30 cents a pair; now the price is three or four cents higher. It is claimed that if a revaluation of the parish properties were made it would show that values in the county had greatly increased, and the parishes could afford to pay a larger percentage of the county taxes than they now do.

JOHN McLEOD DEAD IN CARSONVILLE

Head of Mill Stream, Oct. 3.—The death of John McLeod, of Carsonville, who was probably the oldest resident of King's county, took place this morning. Mr. McLeod was 94 years of age, and one of the best known men of the county. He was born at Centerville, King's county, and spent nearly all his life in the county. He was twice married, but both his wives predeceased him. His first wife was a Miss Danson, and his second, Mrs. Northrup. He had three sons, all of whom are dead. Two daughters, Mrs. Isaac Gaudin and Miss Margaret, at home, survive him.

Mr. McLeod was a justice of the peace for over half a century. He took a keen interest in politics all through his life. Before Confederation he belonged to the old Tory party. But later he followed Senator Donville into the Liberal party. When Hon. J. D. Hasen became premier of the province Mr. McLeod was so much pleased with his policies that he became an ardent supporter of the Conservatives.

The funeral will take place on Sunday at 2.30 p. m. Interment will be made in the cemetery at Carsonville. Rev. Mr. Rowley will conduct the funeral service.

Reported by Police.

A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT IS EXPECTED

The Longshoremen's Wage Schedule Subject of Conference.

SEVERAL POINTS ARE SENT BACK TO UNION

W. I. Gear, Representing Shipping Companies, and Delegates of Union. Discuss Matter—No Trouble.

Two conferences were held yesterday between W. I. Gear of Montreal, representing the shipping companies, and officials of the Longshoremen's union, in reference to the new wage schedule. Both parties seemed to be satisfied that a peaceful settlement was in sight. After the conference Mr. Gear said an agreement had been reached on quite a number of the points at issue, and that the several matters on which no definite agreement was reached would be submitted to a general meeting of the union on Tuesday. Mr. Gear said the negotiations had proceeded in a very reasonable spirit, and that there seemed to be good prospects of a settlement of the whole matter without trouble. Neither party would make a statement regarding the details of the negotiations, but it was intimated that the matters, which are to be referred to a general meeting of the union, were not likely to offer serious obstacles in the way of an amicable settlement.

It is understood that Mr. Gear had full authority to make an agreement on behalf of the shipping interests, but the men's representatives felt that they could not accept a basis of agreement on a number of questions without going back to their union for final instructions. Mr. Gear thought this attitude was reasonable enough, and he decided to postpone the negotiations until the matters now in dispute have been laid before a general meeting of the union. Mr. Gear left last evening for Montreal, but expects to return next week when he hopes to effect a settlement with the union.

Officials of the union are well pleased at the promptitude with which the shipping companies have taken up the matter in about 48 hours, and as sanguine as Mr. Gear that a settlement will be arrived at without any interruption of business.

LOTS AT FERNHILL ARE CONSECRATED

Bishop Richardson Officially at Impressive Ceremony—Directors and Several Owners Present.

The new lots lately completed on Fernhill in the cemetery were yesterday consecrated by the Right Reverend the Bishop of Fredericton in the presence of some of the directors and many lot holders. The Bishop, who was accompanied by the Venerable Archdeacon Raymond, was taken to the cemetery by motor car, and after stopping at the chapel, where the clergy, robed, proceeded to the site of the new lots, where other directors and citizens had gathered, among those present being the Very Reverend G. St. James' Cathedral, Fresno, Cal. His Honor Judge Forbes was prevented by illness from being present, his place being taken by E. T. Sturges, vice-president.

The service then commenced, beginning with prayer by the Bishop, after which a procession of the clergy and those present walked round the lots, the 23rd and 29th Psalms being read by the Bishop and people respectively. Then Dr. Ray read the 4th chapter of I Thessalonians, beginning at the 13th verse. The Bishop then read the formal deed of consecration, in which the boundaries of the lots were fully described and the land consecrated and set apart for a burial of the dead and for no other uses, prayers being included for all who may rest therein, the service concluding with the blessing by the Bishop.

Several lotholders who were present took advantage of the presence of his Lordship to have their own lots consecrated with the consent of the directors and all then repaired to those portions of the cemetery, the lots where similar services were held being owned by C. E. Scammell, the Scammell estate, Frank S. West, W. L. Hamm and F. E. Hanington, the proceedings then terminated. The new lots blessed yesterday are bounded by Iberis path, Datura and Hill avenues, the only other complete plot that is consecrated being that known as the Church of England plot, consecrated many years ago by the late Bishop Medley, but which is completely sold out, and a constant demand is found for consecrated lots by those purchasing in the cemetery.

Y.M.C.A. NOW READY FOR THE WINTER

Season Promises to be Most Successful in History of Association—Ready for all Classes.

The season's activities of the Young Men's Christian Association begins in earnest Monday, Oct. 6th, and a fine plan has been laid out for the winter's work. The building has been thoroughly renovated and put in good condition and the boys are waiting and ready for the gymnasium classes to begin.

In the physical department the programme will be somewhat similar to that of last year, with the addition of first aid to the injured classes and swimming instructions for those who are unable to swim. We also have organized the life saving corps for the swimming pool to give the boys the necessary instructions, so that when summer comes, and they go to the country and to the camps, they will be ready to take their place and save lives if necessary.

A copy of a Boston paper in 1912 states that over 75 per cent. of the lives saved during the summer were by members of the Young Men's Christian Association or municipal gymnasium or swimming baths, who had had instructions in life saving. We want to teach every boy how to take care of himself in the water and how to take care of another boy his own size as well.

The new water heater for the hot water supply will be ready in an abundance of hot water. Mr. Howard, the physical director, is in better trim than ever to take care of the needs in the physical department.

In the boys department everything is beginning to boom, with Bible study groups organizing the last week in this month. Sunday morning meetings begin November 2. Mr. Milligan, the secretary for boys, has a fine plan of work laid out for the winter. The boys department will be one of the busy spots of the city during the season.

The committees of the association are working getting their plans complete for the winter's work. The finance committee has taken time by the forelock and are doing the financial work in October instead of April. They have been encouraged by some men increasing their subscriptions and new men coming in. At the meeting which will be held Monday, 6th inst., things will be completed on this branch of the association work.

Our membership committee has held two meetings and already new members are coming in.

The religious work committee have plans well laid out for the winter, and bring up the programme for the season's work.

The social committee have a long line of events up and are time after time spring them as soon as the time arrives. Mr. Watt, the new general secretary, is getting a grasp of things in the association and it appears as if everything is going to hum this season.

Any stranger in the city who has not been to the association and seen through, is cordially invited to come up and make himself at home.

COUNTRY MARKET NOW WELL SUPPLIED

The country market promises to be well supplied with meats and farm produce today with prices ranging a little lower than last week. Shoppers will find the prices on lamb roasts and chops to have advanced a few cents owing, it is said about the shortage of the carcasses of sheep. The prices on lamb, including roasts and chops, varies between 13 and 18 cents a pound. Beef is plentiful although this week the citizens will eat western beef, as the domestic market, always insufficient to supply the local demand is at a lower ebb than ever. The pressing need of more attention to cattle raising in this province is weekly becoming apparent and the market men are looking forward to the introduction of alfalfa to reduce the cost of feeding and put the industry on a profitable basis for the farmers. This week round beef will cost from between 12 and 22 cents a pound with beefsteak selling at between 20 and 24 cents a pound. Moosesteak is selling at 20 cents a pound and at 15 cents by the roast. The prices on other meats are as follows: eal, from 12 to 20 cents a pound; pork, from 18 to 20 cents a pound; chickens, of which there is a plentiful supply, from 75 cents to $1.50 a pair; wild duck, 90 cents a pair; ham and bacon, 25 cents a lb.

LADY KIRK ACTIVE B

Miss Kelley Surprised with Announcement Position.

AN ENTERPRISING THEATRE MANA

Will Look After Inter of Thompson - W Stock Company Du Season at Opera Hou A Demure Young Pe

Everything must have a beginning. All sorts of business enterprises require a proper start to launch successfully.

Imagine the general surprise of last week, when a demure young woman, who had been a regular on a matter of "business" in the supposition was that she was playing for a position as stenographer or possibly there to give the "face" of some society function. Then the surprise. The young lady, however, announced that she was the agent of the Woods Stock Company. As a thing, the comic papers in connection with the accepted idea of new women, caricature them and depict them as the manly type, often represented as "old maids." Some age is accompanied by a sour expression. The young lady, however, of a far different type. She is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the present agent of the Woods Stock Company.

She was attractive and not of the manly type. Young? Very bright. It was only a matter of a few moments' conversation that Miss Kelley was well versed in newspaper lore and understood the facts of advertising and had been demonstrated during the time of her sojourn in the city during a short interview the other reporter. She was a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the present agent of the Woods Stock Company.

One of her first positions was as a stenographer to a theatrical manager in that city. Later, gaining insight to the business she applied was appointed press representative and treasurer of the Olympic Games in Cincinnati. Then she decided to give the big event of her life, a trip to the ocean as press agent for Denman Thompson's celebrated "The Old Homestead." "This Miss Kelley describes it, "gave great insight to human nature, and it was a most interesting experience. I was received kindly wherever I went, and instead of men looking down upon me because I was of the few women engaged in this work, or because I was not of some man's place, they seemed to be the novelty of a lady calling on them and aided me in every way possible."

"This tour really gave me a sized position in this line of work. I have followed regularly that time, but naturally prefer permanently located and avoid hardships of travel. I have never one unkind word from my co-workers in this field, and let me add, a suggestion of anything at all could become offended from whom my business has brought me into contact with. A few sentences out late at night making rounds of the newspaper offices, which a performance as no other have happened at which I might taken offense, but I really believe a girl or a woman, if she will mind her own business and keep any of us busy, can go about any hour of the day or night with fear of being accosted except, sibly, by some street man who under the influence of liquor."

Miss Kelley comes here in a special capacity, and as before mentioned, as the press representative of Thompson-Woods Stock Company opening at the St. John Opera House, October 5th. When asked if she believed in votes for women, she replied: "Not being a taxpayer yet, I am particularly interested, but I do have that a woman should have right to fill any position in this which she may be capable of doing successfully as a man. In such instances sex should not count, regarding a vote, I have seen reached the voting age, and have to busy themselves as to give the matter serious consideration. This was as near as we could get Miss Kelley's real age."

She thanked us sweetly and departed, saying that she must be off to the other newspaper offices to see about her copy, but our impression on the male members of some other editorial staff.

NORMAL SCHOOL TEAM WIN

The first try made for the High School by Brian Carter scored the second try for High School boys. At the end of first half the score was 6-0. In second half the Normalites outplayed their opponents, Capt. Harold D. Gile, of last year's St. John
