

FROM ALL OVER NEW BRUNSWICK

FREDERICTON.

Fredericton, Feb. 9.—The residence of Mrs. Lounsbury was today the scene of a very pretty wedding when her only daughter, Miss Alice Maude Lounsbury, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert Burden MacDonald, of Chatham, in the presence of about forty invited guests.

The house was tastefully decorated, the bride party taking their stand under a floral arch, which spanned the bay window of the western parlor. Rev. J. H. MacDonald officiating.

The bride was gowned in a beautiful costume of white mousseline silk, tastefully trimmed with embroidered chiffon, the bodice heavily worked in their design, and wore a bridal veil and orange blossom and carried a large bouquet of bridal roses.

The groom's present to the bride was an exquisite assortment of diamonds and pearls, and to the little flower girls she gave tiny pearl rings.

The bride received many elegant and costly presents, among which was a very handsome pair of silver candleholders from the groom's father. A beautiful brass bedstead from her mother, a silver scallop dish from the employes of Mr. Macdonald.

The newly wedded pair left by the 5.30 train and will spend their honeymoon in Montreal and New York and expect to be gone four weeks. On their return they will reside in Chatham.

Mrs. John Macdonald, of Chatham, is in the city to attend the wedding of her son, Mr. H. B. Macdonald to Miss Lounsbury, and is a guest at the Queen.

There was a hearing in the case of Chas. Hine vs. Pauline, the hypnotist, before Judge Gregory this morning. Hine was Pauline's business manager, and has an action against him in the supreme court for breach of contract. This morning Mr. McLeod, on behalf of Pauline, made application for security for costs, and Judge Gregory granted a stay in the proceedings until such security should be furnished.

Mr. Barry appeared for Hine. On Jan. 14th, Anthony Scabi, eighty years old, chief of the Mipecite tribe living at St. Mary's reserve, was married to a young squaw named Mary Paul, who weighs something over two hundred pounds and whose home was in Sheet Harbor, Halifax (N.S.). Last night about 8 o'clock the bride was visiting at Joe Paul's home, when the old chief appeared armed with a butcher's knife. He rushed at his young wife, and had it not been for the efforts of Mrs. Joe Paul would have succeeded in slaying her. Anthony wanted to kill two young braves, but could not find them.

This morning Indian Commissioner Farrell told the young woman come to this city and tell her story to the police magistrate. After a short conversation it was decided that the pair must be separated. A policeman accompanied Mary to the reserve and she came back this afternoon with her clothes. She will leave this evening for Springfield (N.S.).
