

EIGHT CANADIANS WERE KILLED

In the Terrible Railway Accident at Battle Creek. Toronto, Oct. 24.—Up to the present time eight Canadians are known to have perished in the G.T.H. wreck at Battle Creek. They are: Albert Bradley, Toronto. Mrs. Albert Bradley, Toronto. T. A. McGarvey, London. Robert D. Colgrove, London. C. Dorland, Tilsonburg. Mrs. O. Dorland, Tilsonburg. John Brown, Strathroy. T. R. Stringer, Port Dover. The death list totals 23. Of this number 30 have been identified or accounted for, leaving eight unclaimed. It is believed many, if not all of these are Canadians.

YESTERDAY'S DEVELOPMENTS.

Rev. Father McKeown, of Strathroy, Ont., yesterday identified J. J. Brown, of that town, by a metal arm let on his arm. J. J. Harrison, of Tilsonburg, Ont., identified the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dorland of that town, by a piece of the woman's skirt and Mr. Dorland's watch. Mr. Dorland was a prosperous farmer living in the suburbs of Tilsonburg. Five children, four boys and a girl, survive them. The body of Mr. Albert Bradley, manager of the Queen street branch of the Bank of Commerce, Toronto, who died at the Nichols hospital Monday night, was taken to Sarnia yesterday. The funeral of Mrs. Bradley, which was to have taken place yesterday, was postponed, and husband and wife will be buried to-day. The gentlemen who will represent the Bank of Commerce at the funeral: G. De C. O'Grady, assistant manager; E. M. Phlyter, relieving manager; George Holland, manager for the North-west branch. The Toronto Bank sent two wreaths. All of the wounded are doing well except Mrs. Robert Vance of Simcoe, Ont., who had both legs broken. One leg had to be reset yesterday. Her husband arrived yesterday afternoon. The suggestion has been made that all bodies unidentified be buried in one lot in Oak Hill Cemetery and a monument erected there. The remains of Thomas R. Stringer, of Port Dover, were escorted to the depot by the Oddfellows, he being a member of Simcoe, Ont. Lodge No. 151.

Death of James Black.

Death has claimed another of Puslinch's old settlers in the person of Mr. James Black, of No. 23, near of 9th concession. Although for some years past at times he was subject to attacks, the nature of which often gave his family anxiety, his death was rather sudden. On Tuesday evening, October 10th, he fell into an apoplectic condition, and died on the following morning at 2 o'clock, despite everything that could be done by friends and physicians.

He was a son of the late John Black, of Northumberland, England, who died some twenty years ago, after nearly reaching the age of 100 years. James was born in the old country on the 29th October, 1812, and came to Quebec in 31, where he worked for a time on the canal. He then moved to Hamilton, shortly after which the rebellion broke out in which he took the active part. On Tuesday evening, October 10th, he fell into an apoplectic condition, and died on the following morning at 2 o'clock, despite everything that could be done by friends and physicians.

THE TURP.

The Hamilton Spectator gives the following account of Beateater's double victory on Saturday. Jeff Hall was most fortunate, his horse Beateater capturing both the events in which he was entered. In the opening steeple chase Beateater carried the talent's money. His easy victories at Montreal entitled him to the distinction of being favorite in spite of the very fast in the hands of the bookmakers. As good as 4 to 5 could be little play at those odds and to induce speculation the bookmakers chalked up 2 to 1. At this price considerable money went into the books and the odds went back to 2 to 1. Japonica and Bonnie Dundee were fancied for the place. As good as 4 to 5 could be laid against them but they closed at even money. The hurdle course was also played for the place. Japonica was out at 4 to 1. The race was an extraordinary gallop for Beateater, who won under a pull. He did not jump the ditch on the stretch and beat Japonica out for the place by a head. Dundee ran well for half a mile, but checked in the last quarter. Japonica was also favorite in the Westworth purse, and he had no difficulty in beating his field. Lady Superior won the race for the place by a head. Dundee ran well for half a mile, but checked in the last quarter.
