THE PUBLIC SQUARE

The Park and Fire Committee and the citizens in general are complaining about the habit some people have of throwing refuse of all kinds in the fountain in the public square or on the grass. The Park Committee has gone to considerable expense in having the square and fountain put into a respectable condition, after the citizens had cleaned up the square on clean-up day. If some people do not appreciate the time and money spent on the public square any more than to strew the grass and fountain with rubbish, then our police force should take a hand in the matter and make an example of one or two of those guilty of such work, and probably a stop would be put to such a practise.
