

THE HERALD
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1896.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.
Subscription—$1.00 A YEAR.
JAMES McISAAC,
Editor & Proprietor.

aid, consequently there is nothing in the measure suggesting an alternative policy by the Dominion government should the Province disregard the law.

Bemidji Legislation.

"CORRECTION OF MANITOBA" in the matter of remedial legislation, has been a favorite shibboleth with certain Grit orators and Grit newspapers, during the past six months. Waiving for the present any consideration of the fact that the course pursued by the Government towards the minority of that Province has been one of most extreme and unmitigated coercion, we submit that there has been no coercion on the part of the Federal Government, in connection with this matter.

The Cape Breton Election.

The Patriot of Thursday last quotes a portion of our remarks made in the judgment of the Imperial Privy Council could be sufficiently met by the Local Legislature without impairing the efficiency or proper conduct, management, and regulation of the public schools.

Dominion Parliament.

(Continued from Halifax Herald's Report.) At the commencement of the sitting of the house on Monday the 8th, twenty-one private bills received their second reading, so that the different committees will be able to get down to work this week.

resented the Bishop's interference, and had gone against the Secretary of State in a considerable majority. Probably the measure that was desired all along the line; but it did not work.

Now for the denouncement.

It is believed that this pastoral will be the "meek and lowly follower" in the Patriotic party to hold up his hands in holy horror had no existence, otherwise than in the fertile imagination of a Grit scribe.

Some idea of the benefit to Canada of the coal duties, and the disastrous results to the country likely to follow from their abolition may be had from the remarks made in Montreal a few days ago by a high Ohio coal dealer.

He was in Montreal for the purpose of tendering for the three quarters of a million tons of coal required by the Grand Trunk Railway. "If it were not," said he, "for the hanged duty we could capture the market clean down to Quebec."

Mr Robinson, Conservative, was elected in Northumberland County, N. B., on Thursday last, defeating Peter Mitchell by 455 votes.

In 1882 Mitchell was elected in Northumberland, and again in 1887 by a majority of 746 votes. In 1891 he was defeated by Mr. Michael Adams by a majority of 473, and again on Thursday last by a large majority.

Mr. Davis said he seconded the resolution with much pleasure.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Present to arrangement, the first order of business taken up on Wednesday was the resolution of Mr. McNeill.

in view of the threatening aspect of foreign affairs, the house desires to express her Majesty's government and the people of the United Kingdom of its unalloyed loyalty and devotion to the British throne and constitution, and of its conviction that should the occasion arise, it will be ready to support the Empire in any manner.

friendly relations with his kinsmen of the United States. Mr. McNeill said that objection might be urged against his resolution that it was superficial. It might be considered by some as unnecessary to assure the government and the people of the United Kingdom of their affection for the United States.

The action in the executive court at Halifax. Criminal action for fraud was first entered, but it was not sustained. The action in the executive court made up a very large bill of costs, and Bowers wished that something should be done to relieve the fishermen from these costs, payment of which might ruin many of them.

The whole of the afternoon session on the 4th was taken up discussing a bill introduced by Mr. Devison relating to insolvency. He explained that it followed the suggestions of the boards of trade and was similar to a bill introduced last session and the session before by the government. He dilated on the necessity of the bill, and said that the government was acting in good faith in the matter, and in view of the fact that there was no indication that the government intended to introduce such legislation this session, he took upon himself to introduce the bill.

Mr. Davis said he seconded the resolution with much pleasure.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Present to arrangement, the first order of business taken up on Wednesday was the resolution of Mr. McNeill.

in view of the threatening aspect of foreign affairs, the house desires to express her Majesty's government and the people of the United Kingdom of its unalloyed loyalty and devotion to the British throne and constitution, and of its conviction that should the occasion arise, it will be ready to support the Empire in any manner.

different conditions there might have been real danger had Cleveland's message been received in England with the same temper as it was delivered. He re-echoed Mr. Cokburn's commendation of tone and temper with which Canadian newspapers had received Cleveland's message, and he hoped the house had heard the last of those idle and foolish assertions of disloyalty which were sometimes thrown by one side against the other.

The spirit and pluck with which the President's message was received in Great Britain had excited admiration even from those who were accustomed to disparage England. As regards the message itself he was bound to say that its tone was most unfortunate and should be regretted by all. He believed that results following from the message had done a great deal to pave the way for a better understanding and more permanent peace between the two countries.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

different conditions there might have been real danger had Cleveland's message been received in England with the same temper as it was delivered. He re-echoed Mr. Cokburn's commendation of tone and temper with which Canadian newspapers had received Cleveland's message, and he hoped the house had heard the last of those idle and foolish assertions of disloyalty which were sometimes thrown by one side against the other.

The spirit and pluck with which the President's message was received in Great Britain had excited admiration even from those who were accustomed to disparage England. As regards the message itself he was bound to say that its tone was most unfortunate and should be regretted by all. He believed that results following from the message had done a great deal to pave the way for a better understanding and more permanent peace between the two countries.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

Mr. Cokburn supported the resolution and commended the moderate tone of the Canadian press in the recent trouble between Great Britain and the United States.

He believed that the resolution was a simple duty to please the country, on the occasion arose, to make some sacrifice for the maintenance of the empire. (Cheers.) To-day the continent of Europe was a great armed camp; indeed it might be said that the millions fed each other with bayonets.

'T WAS Bigger Bundles

And 'TIS Now LESS MONEY THAN EVER, So bring along your sleighs. STANLEY BROS. STANLEY BROS.

Another ruthless cut in prices, $5.00 Ladies' Jackets For $2.50

$6.00 Ladies' Jackets For $3.00 STANLEY BROS. STANLEY BROS.

NO FUN LOSING MONEY. $1.00 Ladies' All-Wool Heavy ULSTERS For $5.00

STANLEY BROS. STANLEY BROS. Ladies' Ulsters For $3.00

BIG SALE OF DRESS GOODS REMNANTS NOW ON. STANLEY BROS., BROWN' BLOCK.

Married Here. We Want Your Trade.

When we opened this store a few days ago, the event was celebrated by quite an ostentatious wedding, the contracting parties being PRICE and BEAUTY, who have decided to make their future home at our New Furniture Store.

Mark Wright & Co., Ltd. Who sell at Selling Prices.

Millmen's Hardware. Rotary Saws, Belts, Lace Leather, Swages, and all Mill Tools and Oils.

Farmers Hardware. Axes, Shovels, Nails and all small Hardware.

Sporting Hardware. Gunpowder, Shot, Caps, &c., &c.

Painters Hardware. Paints and Oils, and all kinds of Gold Leaf, Bronze, and Campbell's Stock of Brushes.

House Keepers Hardware. Jewel Stoves and Everything wanted in the kitchen. All the public admit that our prices are below all others.

R. B. NORTON & CO. City Hardware Store, Charlottetown.

Hooking Parties WILL FIND Hooking Canvas CHEAP AT PATON & CO'S.

Hooking Parties WILL FIND Hooking Canvas CHEAP AT PATON & CO'S.

the world. While devoting attention to etc., she had bent a little of her mind to the world; she had bent a little of her mind to the world; she had bent a little of her mind to the world.

In the house on the Upper level, a Dominion election was at the last session of the Dominion Parliament.

statements reflecting the possibility of any Canadian. It was not his bill this session, but well to place it before the public.

English practice and position next year might lead to a change in the law. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

ing that the Government should be prepared for any ministerial crisis. It was stated that in the paper stated there was a question of Sir Charles Tupper's resignation.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.

tion of an amusing day's housework, where he was a good deal of a laughing matter. Mr. Fosters called attention to the fact that in the papers stating the possibility of the Imperial Convention to Canada the necessity for strengthening its defence was taken place between the two countries.