Press Foreman of "Telegram" COMPLETES 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF SERVICE.

Mr. Robert Mercer, the genial and competent press foreman of the Evening Telegram completes the 40th anniversary of his connection with this journal to-day. Entering the office when the Telegram was in its infancy, Mr. Mercer has witnessed the various evolutions of the printing press, and from the old small hand press of the early days to the present electrically driven Tubular giant of the latest model, all have grown and been installed under his personal supervision. Not only in the Telegram office has his genius and competency been in evidence, but every other newspaper plant in the city has been given the benefit of his practical knowledge and experience on many occasions.

Obliging and every ready to lend assistance Mr. Mercer has made for himself a host of friends, and they, with his fellow employees of the Telegram will join in wishing him many more years of service in the profession which he loves, and in which, as a mechanical expert, he has few superiors. In recognition of the esteem in which Mr. Mercer is held, the Proprietor of the Telegram presented him with a handsome gold Watchman watch suitably engraved, as a commemorative souvenir of his forty years' continuous connection with this paper, and as a mark of appreciation of his valuable services. Mr. Mercer, though visibly affected, made an appropriate reply to the presentation.

For First Time in Year She is Able to Leave the House

Hamilton Tells Of His Wife's Remarkable Improvement Since Taking Tanlac.

"Last Sunday my wife was able to be out of the house for the first time in almost a year, and she wouldn't have been out then if Tanlac had not put her on her feet," is the remarkable testimony of William Hamilton, who resides at 749 Preston Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia. "Mrs. Hamilton had Spanish Influenza over a year ago," he continued, "and had never been able to overcome the effects of it. Her appetite was gone completely and she fell off in weight and strength until she was as frail and thin as anybody could be and still get around. Her nerves were all torn up and the least little noise would make her jump and quiver like a leaf. Many a night she has lain awake until daylight in nervous misery. She complained of dull throbbing headaches and it has made me actually suffer at times to see her so weak and rundown and in so much pain. Somebody else had to attend to all the housework as she could just barely creep about the house and hadn't been able to go out of doors for nearly twelve months. She was confined to the bed most of the time, and even when she would get up in her room for a while, she really ought to have been in bed."

"It sure was a surprise to me to see her build up the way she has since she started taking Tanlac. Her appetite is just fine now; why, she told me the other day that if she kept on, she would eat us out of house and home. Every day she seems stronger and more like her old self and she never complains of being tired and weak and rundown anymore. Last Sunday she went out for a long walk with me, the first time she's been out of the house in nearly a year. She seems like a different person and is beginning to feel that her troubles are all over. Tanlac is the only thing that ever did her any good, and we are both as happy as we can be over the way she has recovered her health since she has been taking it and we are glad to recommend it all the time."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac Representative.

Cathedral Anniversary Dedication.

SERMON BY HIS GRACE THE ARCHBISHOP.

Yesterday, Sept. 14th, was celebrated as the anniversary of the dedication of the R. C. Cathedral. At 10 o'clock Mass, His Grace the Archbishop addressed the congregation referring to the anniversary that was being celebrated. He reminded the congregation that on Sept. 9th, sixty-four years ago, the Cathedral had been consecrated, and that ever since that time it had been to the people a hallowed shrine, their fathers and forefathers for generations back had worshipped within its walls. After having withstood the storms and tempests of our rigorous climate, after having been buffeted by the winds and blizzards of nearly 70 years, the noble building was to-day sadly in need of repair, and was showing the effects of the devastating touch of the hands of time. Upon them of this generation devolved the duty of repairing and restoring this noble pile, this heritage of our Catholic past. He deemed the occasion opportune to refer to what had been done within the past few months in connection with the work of the Cathedral repairs. A meeting had been held some few weeks ago for the purpose of putting before the people the condition of the Cathedral, and of devising means for grappling with the financial problems which the much-needed and extensive repairs would involve. The Archbishop stated that at the meeting in question he had made a twofold appeal to the congregation—one to increase the Sunday offertory collections, and the second for a special collection for the purpose of creating a Cathedral Repairs Fund. Since the appeal was made there had been a notable increase in Sunday collections, and His Grace had no doubt that when the importance of the work they had in hand became more fully realized, there would be a still larger increase. With regard to his appeal for a special collection, whilst a large number of the congregation had not yet been heard from, the result of the collection could not be otherwise characterized than as a phenomenal success. The actual amount subscribed to date was eighty-two thousand dollars, of which amount more than fifty thousand dollars had been paid, and the balance would follow in a very short time.

Having thanked all the contributors, many of whose amounts, His Grace said, were not only generous, but munificent, he concluded by pointing out that this was the first time in the history of the Cathedral that a direct appeal of this nature had been made, and he was fully satisfied that when the members of the congregation generally realized the urgency of the demand, that their response would be fully equal to the magnitude of the undertaking that confronted them.

At 7 p.m. Pontifical Vespers were celebrated, a large and devout congregation being present.
