GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are a mild laxative that will keep the little one's stomach and bowels working regularly. It is a recognized fact that where the stomach and bowels are not in good order that colds will not exist; that the health of the little one will be good and that he will thrive and be happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

INFLUENZA

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT ITS HISTORY

PREVENTION AND TREATMENT

Influenza, which is now sweeping over Canada from one end to the other, is a very old disease. It was known in ancient times, and as early as 1510 it over-ran the whole civilized world. For centuries it has periodically swept over the various parts of the world. The last great world epidemic was in 1889-1890 when it was generally known by the French name of la grippe. The disease has always travelled from east to west.

Symptoms

The symptoms are similar to those of a heavy cold: more or less severe headache, cold in the head and throat fits of sneezing, flushed face, chills, aches and pains in the back and limbs pains in the eye-balls and behind the eyes, general physical depression, and temperature rising to between 101 and 104 degrees.

How to Prevent it.

As it is such an old disease, doctors have naturally learned a great deal about its prevention and treatment. The first principle of prevention is to keep away from those infected, and the second, to build up the germ resisting parts of the body by eating nourishing foods, dressing comfortably, getting lots of sleep, and by living in the open air and in bright, well-ventilated rooms as much as possible. The mouth, throat and nose should be systematically and frequently disinfected by antiseptic inhalations, sprays and washes. Such preparations as chlorotone and listerine are well adapted for this purpose.

In fighting previous epidemics, doctors found quinine a useful preventive. One grain of sulphate of quinine mixed with (but not dissolved in) a wine glassful of cold water makes an excellent antiseptic gargle. The anti-microbe properties of quinine are well known and its use as prescribed above at once relieves the symptoms of sore throat, which result from the strain of the fight between the white blood corpuscles and the invading germs in the tonsils—the body's first line of defence. Quinine is also given internally with success as a preventative. In one of the more recent outbreaks in Europe, an experiment was tried in which the men of one squadron of a regiment of cavalry were each given 75 grains of quinine in 4 ounce of whisky daily for 22 days, whilst those of the other squadrons were given none. The latter squadrons had from 22 to 44 cases each of influenza, yet the squadron treated with quinine developed only 4 cases. Inhalations of oil of eucalyptus, thymol, oil of mountain pine and the like are also valuable as preventatives.

How to Treat It

When a person is struck by influenza, only one course lies open. That is to take to bed with the least possible delay and call a doctor. Rest, warmth and quiet are the three sovereign remedies of the primary disease, and the best preventative of its more deadly complications, of which pneumonia is the most frequent. While there are many drugs which play a useful part in relieving it, such as quinine, aspirin and various tonics, anti-neuralgia, antiseptic and heart medicines, to be prescribed by the physician in charge.

What to Eat

The dietetic rules which apply to any fever apply equally to influenza.
