THE MEETING POSTPONED.
The temperance mass meeting to have been held in the city hall on Saturday night proved somewhat of a fiasco. There were only about fifteen or twenty people present at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Caleb Simpson made a short address postponing the meeting until next Saturday evening when a larger attendance is hoped for.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.
Sabbath school anniversary services were preached at the Dundas Central Methodist Church yesterday by Rev. A. C. Crews, of Toronto, Dominion secretary of the Epworth League and Sabbath school work of the Methodist Church. At the morning services the gallery was reserved for the children, and in the afternoon a very interesting programme was carried out at the Sunday school.

The Toronto Globe, referring to Mr. Frank Yeigh's new picture travel talk on "Canada's Golden West," which is to be given in Dundas Central Church here on Wednesday evening, says: "Yeigh's illustrated 'Travel Talk' was one in which the minds of his listeners could not but find stimulating pastures. Canada's Golden West—our newly discovered heritage, which, with repeated description, discloses more of its inexhaustible beauty and abundance—a wonderful land of mountains and valleys, into blooming prairies and plains, shot with towering rivers, dotted with loveliest lakes, the most favored section of the principal continental garden. This was the scene into which Mr. Yeigh conducted his charmed audience. The talk was a delightful mélange of information, graphic description, and anecdote, while as accompaniment, scenes after scene stole upon the canvas and glided by."

Mr. John McCullough Meets With Unlucky Death.
Mr. John McCullough, of Adelaide, Cal., who at one time was a resident of this city, died early Friday morning in this city, where he had come to visit friends. His death occurred only a few hours after his arrival.

On coming to London on Thursday evening he drove to the house of Mrs. Duffield, sen., Queen's avenue, but when he got out of the carriage he was exhausted. The long journey which he had taken, and the fact that he had not slept for several days, had caused his breakdown. He was taken care of and it was thought his recovery would be a matter of hours. He did not improve, however, and died early Friday morning. Thirty-five years ago he was employed as bookkeeper for Duffield Bros. oil refiners. He remained here till the oil boom was over, and then moved to California. He had no relatives in Canada or the United States.

The funeral was held this afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Rev. C. C. Owen officiating.

OIL ADVANCES IN PRICE
Retails in London at 20 Cents Per Gallon.

The price of oil in London has taken a sharp advance. Oil which sold some time ago to the consumer at 15 cents per gallon, now retails at 20 cents. It is understood that the reason for this is the great increase in the quantity of oil being used. The scarcity of other fuel has produced an immense demand for oil, more in the larger cities than in smaller places, and dealers say that especially while the present rather mild weather continues the consumption of oil will remain at unusual proportions. The retail price of oil is now at 20 cents per gallon.

WHO STOLE THE COAT?
Allen, Charged With the Offense, Says Dublessis Did It.

Thomas Allen, charged with being drunk and stealing an overcoat, pleaded not guilty to the second charge at police court this morning. He alleged that his companion, Edward Dublessis, took the coat from underneath an old man's head at the Grand Truck station. He said that he had nothing whatever to do with the stealing of the coat. Dublessis entered no plea. The case was adjourned until Friday, when witnesses will be heard.

Jacob Obennesser and son Walter appeared to answer the charge of bettering a fight on Saturday night. It is said that they set upon two bartenders at the hotel and a fight ensued. P. C. McDonald placed the two under arrest, but they were immediately bailed. Their case was adjourned until Wednesday.

REV. GEO. BISHOP DELIVERS LUCID TEMPERANCE ADDRESS

Large Gathering at Mass Meeting in St. Andrew's.

Dr. Johnston Presided and Rev. W. Russell Assisted in Service.

The last but one of the Sunday night temperance mass meetings being held in the interests of the local referendum campaign was held last night at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, after the conclusion of the evening service. The body of the church was filled by an attentive audience. The chair was occupied by Rev. Dr. Johnston, pastor of St. Andrew's, and seated with him on the platform were Rev. George J. Bishop, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and Evangelist Walter Russell.

The service was opened by the hearty singing of "Work for the Night is Coming," by the choir and the congregation. This was followed by a short prayer, followed by Rev. Dr. Johnston, who besought divine aid in the struggle with the temperance people are waging against the forces of intemperance. If the victory is to be won, it must be won by the power of the Holy Spirit, and not by the power of the human will. The speaker said that the temperance people were engaged at the present time in a most serious and important battle. The battle is not only for the souls of men and women, but for the very life of the nation. The forces of intemperance are arrayed against those of sobriety. Through there was doubt in the minds of some as to the issue, the speaker said he believed the possibilities of success to be such as to stir the blood and cause the forces of temperance to stand together loyally in the conflict.

Rev. Dr. Bishop, in opening his address, said that the work of the temperance people was to enforce the law. The government is pledged to it, and I believe that the weight of public opinion will be so great in its favor that no government will dare to ignore it.

Mr. Bishop referred to a recent Sunday when all the bars in the Canadian Soo had been closed. So great was the rush of Canadian young and old men across the river that day that the saloonkeepers on the Michigan side said, half in jest and half in earnest, that they would subscribe thousands of dollars to help the prohibition cause in Ontario, as they would soon get their money back in Canadian trade.

The present time was a most critical one, said Mr. Bishop, and if the temperance workers failed to accomplish their desire this time, it would take many years to do. The speaker said he believed that the temperance army was strong enough to go up and possess this land for sobriety and purity. If the referendum was lost, there would be many good people who would on Dec. 5, regret that they had not taken advantage of the opportunity given them.

The argument that the abolition of the traffic would mean the loss of revenue to the Province was met by Mr. Bishop with the statement that this loss would be more than compensated by the saving of money now expended on drink. Of the $142,000,000 spent in Ontario each year for liquor, not less than $1,000,000 is spent in London, or 2½ times the amount spent on the maintenance of the city.

Mr. Bishop told of a conversation he had had with an intelligent Jew who had maintained the impossibility of enforcing a prohibitory law. The abolition of slavery had seemed equally impossible to him. But when he had taken place. Looked at from the standpoint of human power and wisdom, prohibition might be impossible, but what to men is impossible is possible to God, and will be realized in years to come. Some day those who oppose prohibition will see, like Nehemiah's enemies that, "this work is wrought of our God."

The present opportunity was a God-given one, said Mr. Bishop in conclusion, to secure for the Province of Ontario the enforcement of a parliamentary enactment which will banish the barroom, stop the treating system, and save the rising generation.

Dr. Johnston, before announcing the closing hymn, said he had no doubt that a prohibitory law could be enforced, as Canadians are naturally the most lawabiding people in the world. They have more respect for authority than any other portion of the empire. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the hymn, "Hail to the Lord's Anointed," followed by the benediction.

PLEASED TWO AUDIENCES
Rice's "Show Girl" Proved a Satisfactory Offering.

Company is a Good One, Music is Catchy, But Libretto is Weak.

Taken at its own valuation as a jolly bit of tomfoolery, Rice's "The Show Girl" is all it claims to be. It pleased two good-sized audiences at the Grand on Saturday. It hasn't the shadow of a plot, and in this respect it is fully up to and perhaps over the standard of most light musical productions. The principal personages are Dionysius Fly, manager of a stranded opera company; Cecilia Gay, his leading lady; Lord Cadwallader Dyce, high commissioner of Cyprus; Capt. E. Ross Armour, who is as susceptible to the divine passion as his name implies; Jonnie J. Jones, Fly's propertyman, and Garrick Evans, McCready, Fly's leading man; Dyce's fiancée, Lady Betty Pringle; and his sister, Lady Clarissa, and Vivien Epps, the leading lady of the "bureau."

The combination of these ingredients furnishes a couple of hours of very acceptable amusement.

The production has its faults, most of them in the piece itself rather than in its presenters. The music is bright and tuneful, but the libretto is woefully weak, and nearly all the jokes and great portions of the "business" have been utilized before. There are two points, however, for the sake of which "The Show Girl" can be freely recommended. One is its introduction to local audiences of Kathleen Hutchinson, blondely beautiful, tall enough, divinely fair, and with a voice which is there whenever she holds her own.

For I love you, Psyche, dear, I do." Frank Lalor, a funny comedian, who is a regular feature at the Danicels, made many laughs with his representation of Dionysius Fly.

Whether he appeared in the modestly genteel affected by the "perfection" in the Grand or in the severely classic habiliments of the old Romans, he was equally sure of exciting the risibilities of the audience.

With better lines he could have been even more effective. His suggestion that the city be heated this winter with Ald. Cooper's hot air caught the crowd.

Neil McNeil, a clever comedian seen here previously in Sousa's "The Bride Elect," and Edward's "Princess Chic," got all his laughs out of the role of Jonnie J. Jones. His bowery dance with Anna McNabb, "Waltz Me Down the Alley, Sally," was a striking success, and the possibilities of the role of Jonnie J. Jones.

Frank C. Young proved himself a clever dancer in his specialty with Bessie De Voie, but he hardly seemed to belong as Cadwallader Dyce. At the matinee he forgot to complete his make-up by the addition of his Dundas rhymer, and so he didn't even look the part.

David Lythgoe's handsome face and figure and pleasing tenor voice made him an admirable exponent of the role of Capt. Armour, the "Psyche" song being his best number.

Yolande Wallace's ample proportions accorded well with the dignity of Lady Clarissa, and did not interfere in the least with the sprightliness of her movements. Her cakewalk number, "Susie Anna Anna," with Mr. Dalley, caught on well. Bessie De Voie made a winsome Lady Betty Pringle, and Marie Hilton was equally comical as the passive ingenu and the indomitable cook lady.

The "tom" part of the foolery was supplied by David Abrahams, in his realistic impersonation of a Parisian. Abrahams' impersonation is wonderfully natural and lifelike, and has been the subject of comment by the leading critics of the big city.

The choosing of Cyprus as a locale gives opportunity for scenic settings and costume effects of great beauty.

The chorus girls are as attractive a bunch as have been seen on a local stage for years.

The theater-goers' manners seem to be improving. Nearly one-quarter of the audience in the evening showed their respect for their sovereign by standing in their places while the National Anthem was sung, while several of them actually refrained from putting themselves into coats and wraps while they waited.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"NOBODY'S CLAIM" TONIGHT.
"Nobody's Claim" will be presented at the Grand tonight at popular prices. The great telegraph scene, the realistic ride for life, through a howling, blinding blizzard, the flight of the "Frisco" express, the burning of the old mill and the battle between outlaws and United States soldiers are a few of the incidents which go to make "Nobody's Claim" a great scenic melodrama. On Tuesday evening "The Denver Express" will be presented.

GUY BROS' MINSTRELS.
Buy Bros' minstrels are booked for the Grand on Wednesday evening. The first part shows an English hunting scene, with the huntmen dressed in red coats, and instead of sitting on chairs, as in the old first part, they are found sitting on a stone wall—a splendid stage setting. The Eastern Ontario papers pronounced the entertainment a first-class one.

AT THE LONDON TONIGHT.
The Svingalis, hypnotists, telepathists and mind-readers, open a week's engagement at the London Opera House. Svingalis, though still a young man, has had fourteen years' experience in his chosen line, and is recognized as a leader in his profession. He is assisted by Madame Svingalis, the wonderful female telepathist, who performs, while in a state of hypnosis, and without a word being spoken, Svingalis, difficult tests selected by the audience. Ladies will be admitted free tonight. The regular prices—10c, 20c and 30c—will prevail during the week.

Youth Wrongly Sentenced.
Toronto, Nov. 24.—Robert Haywood, of Paris was convicted of theft. On the ground that he was under 17 years he was released from the reformatory, however, refused to take him in, claiming that he was over 17, and he was taken to the Central Prison. Application was made for a habeas corpus, on the ground that six months' imprisonment was granted for common theft. The application was granted.
