Port Arthur by the Japanese fleet on March 10, which reached Tokio late Saturday, says: "Our squadron, prearranged, attacked the enemy at Port Arthur on March 10. Our two flotillas attacked the mouth of the harbor at Port Arthur at 1 o'clock on the morning of the 10th. Finding no enemy, we waited until dawn, one flotilla engaged in sinking special mines in the harbor entrance. Notwithstanding the enemy's fire, our flotilla succeeded in sinking the mines. The other flotilla met the enemy's torpedo flotilla, consisting of six boats, in Liao Thie Shan channel, south of Port Arthur, at 4:30 o'clock. A hot engagement occurred at close range for thirty minutes. The enemy then took to flight. Our fire greatly damaged the Russian ships, one of which was hadly crippled by a shot through the boilers, and another was observed to be on fire. So close were the two flotillas to each other that our destroyers, the Asashio, Kasumbi and Akat-suki, nearly touched the enemy's ships, crews could even hear the eries of agony of injured men on them. We sustained some damage and loss. The Akatsuki had a steampipe broken, and four stokers were killed thereby loss was seven killed and eight wounded. Among the latter is Chief Engineer Minamisawa, of the Katsumi Our other flotilla, while leaving the FIRE OVER-REACHED. harbor entrance observed two Russian edo boats coming from seaward and immediately engaged them, the battle lasting one hour. After causing them severe damage one of them effected its escape, but our destroyer, feeted its escape, but our destroyer, reached. There was small destruction. conditions of Port Arthur make immunity from serious loss from bombardment almost impossible. Vice-Admiral Togo's torpedo botilla opened the action by boldly steaming in under the batteries and successfully placing a number of mechanical mines at the south of the harbor. Following there was a terrific bow to bow encounter between the torpedo boat destroyers, in which the Japanese appear to have scored a clear victory Then came a long-range duel between the cruisers, ending in the retirement of the Novik and Bayan, the only Russian cruisers engaged. The closing action was the bombardment of the inner harbor by the Japanese battleships. The latter took a position southwest of Port Arthur and used only the 12-inch guns. There were 24 twelve-inch guns in the squadron of itwelve-inch guns and each gun was fired itwelve-inch guns and each gun was fired five rounds, making a total of 120 huge projectiles that was fired at the city. The bombardment was deliberate and carefully planned. In order to aid in perfecting the firing. Vice-Admiral Togo stationed the cruisers in a position due east of the entrance to the state of the inner harbor by the Japanese battleships and lying behind some rocks watched the progress of the battle. The Japanes had lying behind some rocks watched the progress of the battle. The Japanese had lying behind some rocks watched the progress of the battle. He steamed so close Togo's report of the fourth attack on almost touched, and a most desperate conflict ensued, from which the Russians retired badly disabled. gineer Minahisawa, of the destroyer Kasumi, received a small wound. Minamisawa participated in the first torpedo attack on Port Arthur, also in the attempt to bottle up the harbor by sinking commercial steamers. He was commended both times for his gallantry. The Japanese flotilla. which sunk the mines at the mouth of the harbor, later engaged two Russian destroyers. This flotilla was commanded by Commander Tsuchiya. Vice-Admiral Togo's object in sending cruisers to Talianwan Bay was to encompass the destruction of a signal station mine depot at Samshantao This object was achieved and the buildings were demolished. Rear-Admirals Dewa and Uriu participated in the operations under Vice-Admiral Togo, the details of whose operations became known in Japan only today, The news created intense enthusiasm. Vice-Admiral Togo's report came last night, but was withheld until shown to the Emperor. Vice-Admiral Togo is permanently numbered among the heroes of the empire. The reports place the Japanese loss at nine killed.

New Orleans, March 14. - The Missssippi House of Representatives will ot concur in the anti-flirting or googoo eyes bill that has already been passed by the State Senate, the judiciary committee having reported strongly against the measure as tampering with a dangerous question.

The bill provides penalties for flirt ing with schoolgirls in any manner whether by word, look or sign. One provision even prohibits goo-goo eyes and hold that, no matter if the girls themselves should smile at them, the boys must return a stony glare. About two-thirds of the House members are unmarried men, and the committee dared not go before that body with a favorable report. The Senate is composed mainly of married men and they favored the anti-flirting

THE WAR SITUATION.

Sensational rumors are flying about to the European capitals that Port Arthur has been evacuated or captured by the Japs. Dalny is reported destroyed although whether by the Japs or Russians as preliminary to evacuation is not made clear. New Chwang is threatened with an army of 10,000 Japanese. Later reports of the torpedo flotilla fight at Port Arthur and the bembardment of the strenghold show that Russia has suffered heavily. Russians military and naval efficers at Port Arthur have quarreled, the latter being accused of cowardice. Harbin. the Russian base in Manchuria, is threatened with a famine of food and fuel. A strong Russian squadron is preparing to sail to the Far East early in May. It is again said the Czar is to command the forces in person. The day's news all points to a collapse of Russian operations, although it must be remembered that few of the dispatches are official. Nothing definite is known of Jap operations in Korea, the censorship being as rigid
