Special despatch to C. E. TURNER, Broker, Molsons Bank Building, from Kennett, Hopkins & Co., Chicago: -

Chicago, Aug. 30.-It was generally believed that a reaction would to day follow the several day's decline, hence shorts covered and the longs helped to bid up the market which now appears to be evened up. There is no change for the better in the situation. The big receipts in the North-west have evidently come t) stay. Foreign advices continue dis-couraging, and markets over there are depressed. Rallies like that to-day are always to be looked for when prices are so low and speculative sentiment so builish, but they are good spots to sell on. There can be no permanent improvement until conditions change radically. Corn and oats - President Gage, of the First National Bank, gave out for publication detailed reports from most of the counties in the corn states as to the status of the crop, from which it and prices may be expected to shot y reflect these improved conditions. Provisions-Market has ruled strong for reason given in former letters. The near options lead in the advance, and they are forced up by the high prices of hogs. Packers believe that the outlook favors moderately higher prices for a few weeks. By telegraph to the Free Press.
