assembled to honor the day. In gaund-ing numbered about 130. It was thor-oughly representative and probably the largest that has been brought together on such an occasion in years. British to a degree, it is almost superfluous to add that the company was animated and merry. The emblematic rose was worn on every lapel, and medals glistened here and there on the breasts of officers, past "presidents and society guests. All united in pro-nouncing the affair a grand success. At 9 o'clock the guests sat down. The tables were elegantly laid. As for the menu, it was of a tempting nature and elaborate, roast beef and plum pudding having a prominent place on the card. The dinner was well served. Harry Symons, the young and active president, sat at the head of the board, and the banner of St. George floated at his back. Lt. Gov. Robinson, who, by the way, is the oldest living past president of the society, sat to roung and active president, isst at the head of the board, and the banner of St. George floated at his back. Lt. Gov. Robinson, who, by the way, is the oldest living past president of the society, sat to his immediate right, and among other in-vited guests on either side were C. W. Bunting, president L. P. B. S.; A. J. Cattanach, president St. Andrew's society; Ald. N. L. Steiner, president German banevolent society; Major R. B. Hamilton, Queen's Own; Lt. Col. Gray, Field bastery. virtually saying that its articles are more interesting to church goers than are the sermons coming warm from the living lips of their authors—an honor to which I pre-sume, Mr. Editor, you do not lay claim. It is generally admitted that the coarse, rancorous abuse which constitutes the chief stock in trade of some party journals, chief stock-in-trade of some party journals, totally disqualifies them for the office of Sunday instructors, and their opposition to independent papers performing that duty springs from jealousy and self-conscious disability. There is no ungodliness in the needy news-boy being permitted to make a few extra pennies on Sunday by doing a work which ministers to the general good.
