

DEW DROPS

Vol. I.

TORONTO, JANUARY 16, 1897.

No. 3.

WEE WILLIE WINKIE.

Wee Willie Winkie was king of the house. Father and mother and brother and sister were his loving subjects. They waited on him as if he were a very prince. When he wanted to sleep everyone went about on tiptoe. Wee Willie got the best of everything going. When he could feed himself everybody thought him very clever indeed. But Wee Willie wasn't a bit spoiled by this love and kindness. He was just as good as good can be.