State and a construction of the second to the Canadian Colonies.... It is only a short time to the Canadian Uolonies. It is only a short time since the resolution was taken, but more than half the men-630 out of 1,000 have wheady been raised and live was expected that the complete battalion would be ready to embark for England soon after the close of the present-month. The sight of a re-giment llanding on our above which had never quit-ter the will be novel indeed. Times.

Some of the London newspapers have again been hoaxed in a very barefaced manner by a paragraph which appeared a few days ago in the Paris correspondence of a leading journal. It was there stated that a both what been found at sea with a legend enclosed which had been forwarded to the Minister of Marine in The legend stated that some of the crew of the English ship Calcdonia foundered in latitude 47 N., 3 B.; were there starving in the long boat, and that that it is no provisions, they had drawn lots as to which of their number should be sacrificed to appease the appetite of the survivors. The lot it was stated, had fallen upon the cook, who " perished beneath his own knonu," although sail was in' sight at the time, but " not near enough to save unhappy Pedrillo!" The Moniteur de la Floite was the first to give circulation to this horrible tale, and the Paris papers fell, of course, into the trap. It seems, however, that if the bottle legend be correct, the unfortunate ship must have foundered, and the unhappy cook must have been devoured somewhere about the centre of France, and within view of the town of Nevers. But, even admitting the possibility of the Caladonia being lost by so eccentric a catastrophe as foundering on dry land, the report is still open to grave suspicion, as the owners received a telegraph, stating that the vessel is safe and sound at Hamburg. A great deal of genuino sympathy hus, therefore, been thrown away, which might have been expended beneficially in other quarters.

The Court Journal has the following paragraph :--"We are able to mention, on authority which admits of no doubt, that her Majesty is once more in that condition which gives fair hopes that before the end of the year there will be an increase to the royal family."

DON'T YOUR GAS LEAK .-- In travelling, one often encounters an incident sufficiently amusing to compensate him for many of the inconveniences to which he is subjected. Stopping the other day at a hotel, an incident of this kind occurred to us. An individual fresh from the interior, where many of the conveni-ences enjoyed by the denizens of the city are entirely unknown, put up at the hotel in question. Retiring in the evening, instead of turning off the gas which lighted his room he blew it out, and went to sleep. The proprietor of the house, in massing the chamber occupied by the verdant, discovered a very strong smell of gas, and knocking at his door, he inquired of greeny if his gas was not leaking. "Don't know," was the response, "but I rayther guess not. I'll let you know in a minit." He jumped out of bed and commenced feeling on the funneed out of the gas pen-dant, and then answered, "There is no leak here, sir; the carpet is as dry as can be." The proprietor, with a laugh, asked to be admitted into the room, and showed the gentleman where to look for the leak.

PADDY AND THE TURTLE .-- In New York a man was carrying a live turtle along the street, when by came an Irishman, followed by a large dog. The country-man tried by gentle words to get the son of Emerald to put his finger into the turtle's mouth, but he was too smart for that. "But," said he, "I'll put my dog's tail in, and see what the baste will do."

He immediately called up his dog, took its tail in his hand, and stuck it into the turtle's mouth. He had scarcely got it in when Mr. Turtle shut down on the poor dog's tail, and off the latter ran at railroad speed, pulling the turtle after him at a more rapid rate than ever it travelled before. The countryman thinking that his days' work would be thrown away if the animal should run at that rate, turned with a savage look upon the Irishman and exclaimed, the Collegiens, when it was first published, with a pleasure we have never forgotten, and which we have found increased, at every repeated perusal. Ireland has produced many geniuses, but rarely one, upon the whole superior to Gerald Griffin."-Brownson's Review.

"Call back your dog !" Paddy put his hands into his pockets, threw his head to one side, winked, and then answered, with a provoking sang froid, "Call back your fish."

"We have now before us four volumes, the commencement of a complete edition of Gerald Griffin's works, embracing the 'Collegians' and the first series of his 'Munster Tales.' The nationality of these tales, and the genius of the author in depicting the mingled levity and pathos of Irish character, have rendered them exceedingly popular. The style in which the series is produced is highly creditable to the enterprise of the American publishers, and we are free to say that the volumes are worthy of being placed in our libraries, public or private, alongside of Irving, Cooper, or Scott."-Hunt's Merchant's Magazine.

DR. MORSE'S

INDIAN ROOT PILLS.

DR. MORSE, the inventor of MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS, has spent the greater part of his life in travelling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa as well as North America-has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country-it was in this way that the Indian Root Pills were first discovered. Dr. Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD-that our strength, health and life depended upon this vital fluid.

When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different func-tions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted and diseased ; thus causing all pains sickness and distress of every name; our strength is exhausted, our health we are deprived of, and if nathre is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant hu-mors, the blood will become choked and cease to act, and thus our light of life will forever be blown out. How important then that we should keep the various passages of the body free and open. And how pleasant to us that we have it in our power to put a medicine in your reach, namely Morse's Indian Root Pill's manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountainous cliffs in Nature's garden, for the health and recovery of diseased man.
