

8. Complete enucleation is usually attended by more pain, a longer period of convalescence, and greater danger of infection than tonsillotomy.
9. When tonsillectomy is properly performed the hemorrhage is less than when the average tonsillectomy is done.
10. Tonsils which have been involved in recent acute inflammation should not be operated on until all evidence of the acute condition has subsided.
11. Many tonsils seen by the general practitioner with every appearance of serious pathologic condition never develop local systemic symptoms.

G. R.