

held in the public interest. The value of hypnotism. Its general effect on the human system. As means of entertainment. Laughable and ludicrous incidents. Illustrations of the power to control the subject. Wonderful results of suggestion. Hypnotism and surgical operations. Hypnotism as a remedial agency. Different schools of hypnotism. Who can be mesmerized? Magnetic healing. Laying on of hands. Amputations under hypnotism. Different degrees of hypnotism and methods of hypnotising. Physical effects of hypnotism. The psychical effects. Mental suggestion. Hypnotism as an education. As a moral remedy. Theory of Dr. Dodds. The common sense of hypnotism. Dangers of hypnotism. Theories and speculations of students of hypnotism.

CHAPTER XI.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE AND FAITH CURE.

Two new terms in the vocabulary of beliefs. The philosophy of faith. Christ's gift of healing and His prophecy. Christian Science a re-action against the materialism of the age. A grain of truth in a heap of chaff. The President of the Massachusetts Metaphysical College. Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy, and Mr. P. P. Quimby. The Christian Scientist Association. A college with courses in Christian Science, fees, and diplomas. What Christian Science teaches. Sickness only a false dream. Anatomy, physiology, and treatises on health are the parents of disease. Diet and exercise are of no importance. A knowledge of Mrs. Eddy's writings is of vast importance. "If the patient should grow worse": The method of treatment. Views of Christian Scientists on mesmerism, spiritualism, clairvoyance, and faith cure. Dr. Buckley's tests. The perpetuation of youth and abolition of death. Apparent success of Christian Science and how it can be accounted for. The healing power of nature.

CHAPTER XII.

CLAIRVOYANCE.

Introduction by the Editor. The mass of human evidence. Clairvoyant prescience from the Religio Philosophical Journal. Thrilling illustrations of clairvoyant power. The projection of consciousness. Can the mind see and hear beyond the scope of the senses? Widow Wade and her wonderful powers. An apparition and Clairvoyance. Strange events in the life of John P. Weeks. The somnambulist of Lyons. Psychometric readings. Reading a man's character from his cane. Clairvoyance and clairaudience. "The power of hearing the spoken words of a human soul." The demon of Socrates. The process employed in the ordinary communion of subjective minds. "Not now, you have two years yet." A remarkable case of clairaudient warning. The great evidential value of the case. "What pretence have I to deny well-attested facts because I cannot comprehend them?"

CHAPTER XIII.

UNACCOUNTABLE EXPERIENCES.

Phenomena which cannot be classified. Nature, a vast realm, only the margins of which are explored. Faith and reverence should characterize the student. "Earth's crammed with heaven." "He is not far from any one of us." Striking facts and incidents without theory. The mysterious visitor on board the ship. A strange conjunction of an imperative impression and an apparition. Mr. Nelson Howell's account of it. Astonishing feats of mysterious Hindoos. Dr. Honigberger and Sir Claudius Wade. Buried for four months and resurrected. Professor Keller's account of the magic of the Zulus. The revelations of a psychic. The finding of dead bodies. Telepathy and clairvoyance excluded. Will the reader decide? The strange case of Mollie Fancher. A vision that extends hundreds of miles. Solid walls and partitions no hindrance to her view. A somewhat similar case reported in the Duluth Herald. A girl who sees through her fingers.