

CANADA MUST MAN HER OWN VESSELS

Peter Wright Declares British Empire Must Maintain Supremacy.

Journeying all the way from Winnipeg to say a few remarks in support of the Nelson Day campaign, which has as its objective the equipping and launching on a Tuesday of the Dominion, Councillor Peter Wright, the British Seamen's Union, seaman, philanthropist, orator, was the principal speaker at a joint meeting of the Empire and Kiwanis Clubs at Macsey Hall on Saturday night.

Outlining the great service the Navy League of Canada has been to the Empire in the work of training boys and young men for the merchant marine, Peter Wright declared that the sea as a career offers the Dominion's opportunities and responsibilities in this respect. He emphasized the economic necessity of training Canadian boys to man the sea as a career, as they become ready for the export service.

The noted speaker reviewed the magnificent record of the British fleet and the British mercantile marine and declared that if we as a Dominion wished to see the empire maintain the supremacy of the seas it was up to Canada to aid this gigantic undertaking. He added that by contributing to the maintenance of the fleet the empire would be enabled to remain consolidated and with ties intact.

"I ask you as a seaman, not as a politician, to contribute something towards the upkeep of this source of protection, or else, as Australia, provide some means of protection of your own coast line," declared the speaker.

The speaker then referred to the splendid work of the Navy League in Great Britain and declared that, if it had not been for their pressure, exerted on the politicians, the issue of the war might have been different today. He added that the Navy League in Canada was the finest organization in the Dominion, as it was controlled by far seeing, hard-headed, brainy men, and was non-political. He spoke of its patriotic object of endeavoring to keep the supremacy of the seas under the Union Jack.

Must Have Sea Power

Declaring that no nation could ever be great without sea power and a mercantile marine, Peter Wright said that Uncle Sam had a great imagination in this respect. "But I would just like to tell him," he added, "that Great Britain has a little life left and that little spark is going to germinate and put her back in the position she was before, as far as mercantile marine is concerned."

Speaking on the labor situation in Canada, Councillor Wright stated that there were too many men who wanted to reach the moon with a boat hook and declared that we could not have better conditions and shorter hours unless production was increased. He said that the country had been living in a fool's paradise for the past five years with nothing coming in and everything going out, and all the time reducing the raw material of the country.

"We don't want to see Great Britain go down," said the speaker, "who would suffer more than the working man. We are going through an agonizing labor phase, but we will come out, an example to the world."

Councillor Wright then pointed out the great need of manning Canadian vessels with Canadian seamen. He alluded to the difficulty experienced by the country with the foreign sailors during the war. "We had a hell of a time with these fellows, because their sympathies were Teutonic and they were untrustworthy," he said. He stated that in future it was necessary to have ships manned by officers and men with British ideals.

The speaker concluded by stating that the empire was never more consolidated in the history of the world than at the present time, and he urged that a structure be created that would bring the dominions closer together with the affinity of love, and also create an influence that would make it impossible for any one nation to go to war in the future.

Lieut.-Col. Williams paid a fitting tribute to the previous speaker, who, he declared, by reason of his sterling integrity, all England had honored. He voiced the patriotic appeal of the Empire and outlined the aims and objects which were destined to better the lot of the sailor and to raise funds for the relief of the merchant seamen injured in the war, and for the dependents of those who were killed.

Unless the overseas dominions rally to the aid of the motherland, she must become the second naval power in the world," he stated, in conclusion.

R. A. Stapells thanked the various talent that took the prominent part in the entertainment of the evening, and especially the Toronto Male Chorus, composed of one hundred voices. Barney Oldfield also rendered a number of selections.

INSPECTOR DEFENDS HIS DEPARTMENT

The board of commerce are after the short weight merchants and Saturday Major Duncan had an interview with T. T. McConvey, chief officer of the weights and measures department. The weights and measures department has all complaints in these matters coming to its department would be handed over to Mr. McConvey for investigation.

The inspector takes exception to a story published that there were not enough inspectors to cover the ground. He said that the citizen who called at the office of the inspection service was told to see Mr. McConvey, but did not do so.

"There never has been a complaint in regard to short weight," said Mr. McConvey, "that we have not immediately investigated—big and small stores alike. We have had the operation of the police in this regard and such statements that there are many cases of short weight, in my opinion, are entirely wrong."

BIG SUBSCRIPTION PROMISED.

The Mutual Life and Accident Insurance Association of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, whose headquarters are at Cleveland, Ohio, have invited to the minister of finance that they will subscribe $30,000 to the new Victoria Loan.

Plays, Pictures and Music

Princess Tonight.

The first local presentation of the New York farce, "La La Lucille," will take place at the Princess tonight, opening a week's engagement, with two matinees. Those who saw "The Velvet Lady" will be interested in knowing that the book of "La La Lucille" is by the same author—Fred Jackson. Musical farces appear to have no middle ground in that they are almost always very poor or very meritorious and "La La Lucille" is declared by those who should know and those who have seen, that it is of the latter variety. There are eight principals in the cast and ten of the handsomest show girls it was possible to find who were willing to leave their dear Broadway. After the Toronto engagement, "La La Lucille" is to have a return engagement in New York. Sam Hardy, pleasantly remembered here as a genuinely funny comedian, has one of the leading roles, and Janet Velle and Marjorie Bentley are others in the cast who are Toronto favorites.

Florence Reed in "The Roads of Destiny."

A. H. Woods will offer tonight and all week at the Royal Alexandra Theatre Florence Reed in Channing Pollock's "Roads of Destiny," the one dramatic play that set all New York talking last season, where for six months at the Republic Theatre it enjoyed capacity business. "Roads of Destiny" was suggested by the late O. Henry's short story of the same name and deals with the question of fate in life and that it answers it satisfactorily is best proven by the remarkable run and popularity the play enjoyed in the metropolis. In Miss Reed's support will be such well-known players as Malcolm Williams, Calvin Thomas, Emily Gallaway, Josephine West, Harry Leighton, Edwin Walker, Harry Jackson and a score of others. The production will be complete in every detail just as was shown at the Republic Theatre, New York. The matinee will be as usual on Wednesday (popular) and Saturday.

After an absence from Toronto of several seasons, Mme. Bertha Kalkb. the celebrated Polish actress, will return to the Royal Alexandra Theatre at all next week in her latest dramatic success, "The Riddle Woman," by C. Jacobi, and has been adapted to the American stage by Charlotte E. Wells and Dorothy Donnelly. Seats for all performances will be placed on sale Thursday morning at the theatre box office.

Blackstone Remains at the Grand.

Blackstone has made many friends on his first visit to Toronto and has arranged his bookings so that he is enabled to remain another week at the Grand Opera House. His program is noted for the manner in which he performs his many tricks and illusions. No magician to visit Toronto works more quickly or deftly. Every demonstration is completed in such a finished manner that the audience is completely mystified. This is most noticeable in the two big illusions, "The Bridal Chamber" and the "Levitation of Princess Azrah." The latter is performed differently from acts of a similar name. In full view of the audience and under the close scrutiny of a committee on the stage the young lady disappears so quickly that the spectator is left in a state of wonderment. It is a cleverly-worked act and is only one of the many features of the Blackstone performance. During the week matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday.

At the Star.

For this week, the Star Theatre will offer the "Social Pollies," a Max Spiegel show. This organization this season is in every way worthy of the reputation its producer, Max Spiegel, has always made. It is even a better show in every way, and in another addition to the long list of high-class burlesque offerings sponsored by him. It has a cast of high calibre, much in the way of tuneful music, fascinating scenes, and a wealth of sartorial and scenic display. It is in two acts and six scenes, and characteristics significant of burlesque, vaudeville, travesty and circus are continually popping out.

Twenty young women of the most beautiful types have been engaged, and the production is expected to surpass anything of like nature yet undertaken.

Election Returns From Stage.

In addition to securing one of the best productions on the circuit for this week, Manager E. A. McErdle of the Gayety Theatre has announced that the election returns tonight will be announced during the regular performance during the evening. The production for the week will be the Bon Ton Burlesquers in "Breaking Into Society." The show is headed by George Douglas and John Barry, and in the supporting company are Lucille Rogers, Harry O'Neill, John DeLisle, Jack Strauss, Mickey Feeley and Babe Burnett. There are four comedians, numbers, exquisites of the specialties, and there is also a chorus of twenty-four girls, all of whom sing and dance.

At the Allen.

Tom Moore's latest production, "Lord and Lady Algy," will be shown at the Allen, beginning today. The story was written by R. C. Carton, and served William Faversham as a starring vehicle in several of his big American tours. In its picturized version, Harry Beaumont was the director, and George Webber the cameraman. Many unusual scenes on an English country estate and a race track serve to turn a colorful background into a realistic story. The running of the Derby, the most famous race in the world, is faithfully depicted on the screen. The horses are seen at the post and are followed by the camera-man through the running of the race.

"The Woman Thou Gavest Me." The Regent Theatre presents this week Hall Caine's great story, "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," undoubtedly one of the finest motion picture productions in Toronto this season. The several characters have been entrusted for portrayal to leading film stars, Katherine MacDonald taking the part of the heroine, MacNevin, others are Jack Holt, Milton Sills, Theodore Roberts, Fritz Brunette and Katherine Griffith. In their presentation of the story they achieve a marvelous success, and bring to the screen a living picture of the love, sacrifice and suffering so ably described in the book.

The Regent Theatre presents this week Naum Coster, tenor, and Florence Clements, soprano.

Jack Pickford at Strand.

Jack Pickford measures right up to his famous family name in the comedy, "In Wrong," which will provide keen entertainment for patrons of the Strand Theatre all this week.

It is the cleverest rural comedy seen on the screen in a long time. It is as clean as a whip and as bright as a dollar. As the boyish hero who works in a village grocery store, and who is consumed with love and high ambition, Jack Pickford does a piece of work for which he merits the highest praise.

And the story is so clever, so packed with laughable situations and fast action, and so true to life that it will make a real hit, and a big one, with every movie fan.

Bessie Barriscale at Madison.

For today and tomorrow only there will be presented at the Madison Theatre, the superb play, "The Woman Michael Married," distributed by Exhibitors Mutual, with the beautiful Bessie Barriscale in the title role.

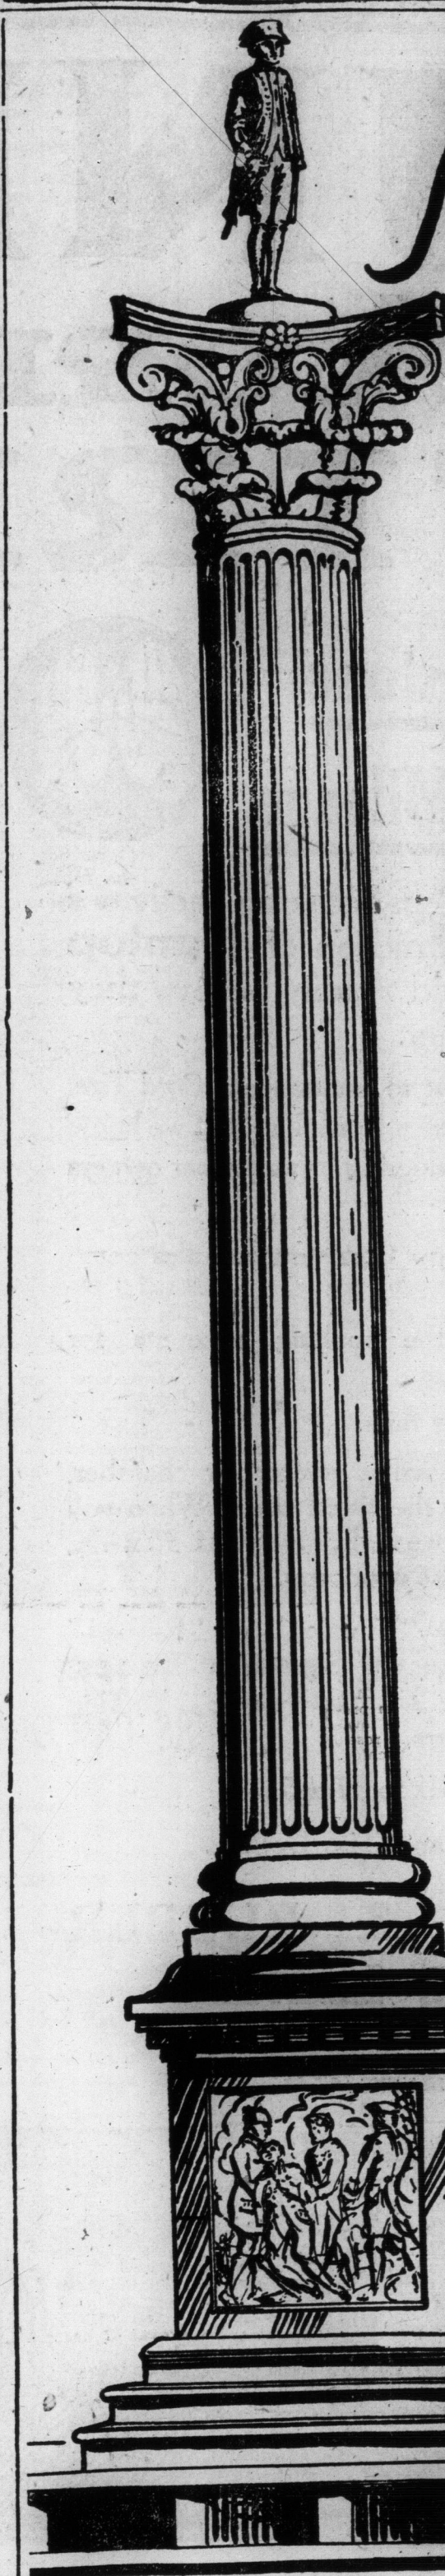

On Wednesday and for the balance of the week the feature will be Mary Pickford in "The Hoodlum."

William Gillette. The attraction for the Princess next week will be Sir J. M. Darrin's new east end best play, "Dear Brutus," with William Gillette, the great American actor, in the title role.

A cast of notable excellence will surround Mr. Gillette, and will include Marie Wainwright, the character actress who was so popular in the seventies and eighties.

The Dumbbells Coming. That the Canadian soldiers in France were royally entertained while billeted near the front lines, has been amply evidenced to the home folks since the arrival of the famous Dumbbells, who are playing a home-coming tour of the larger Canadian cities, presenting their original overseas review, "Bliss, Bing, Bang," and visiting the Grand next week. The production, which they have brought to this country is identical with the various shows they gave the boys at the front, and this company gave over five hundred performances in France, forty in Brussels and fifty-eight in London. The cast and chorus is made up entirely of soldier-actors, who have averaged sixteen months apiece in the trenches before having been brought out of the line and given places in the entertainment corps.

ACCLAMATION FOR DRAYTON. Kingston, Oct. 18.—The political atmosphere here as regards the by-election for the house of commons was clear today in the announcement made by ex-Mayor R. F. Elliott that he would not be a Liberal candidate. This leaves the way clear for an acclamation for Sir Henry Drayton.

Nelson Day

Its Message to Canadians

ONE hundred and fifteen years ago tomorrow Nelson achieved his great Victory at Trafalgar and decided Britain's supremacy on the seas.

Today, we eagerly strive for the commercial supremacy of the seas, and to that end we MUST train our Canadian boys to man Canadian ships to carry Canada's exports.

Canada Expects that Every Man will do his Duty.

Tomorrow and the two following days you will be given an opportunity to insure the success of the Boys' Naval Brigades, on which rests the continuance of the type of trained seamen Canada must have.

The Navy League Campaign for $500,000 must be an unqualified success so that the great work undertaken may be carried forward during the coming year.

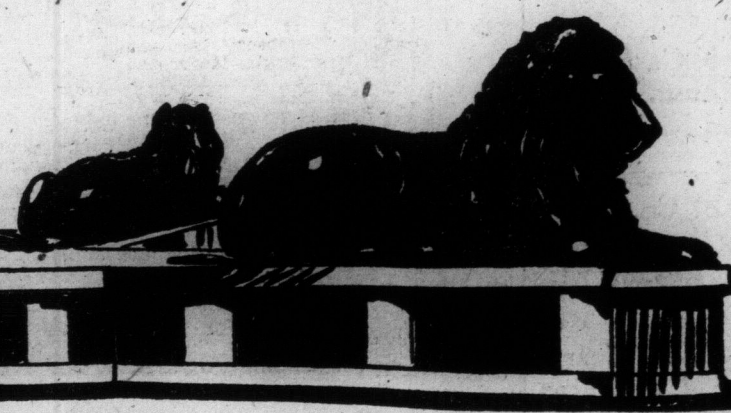

Every dollar subscribed will be used in Canada to aid Canadians—to provide relief for Canadian seamen injured in the war and their dependents—to conduct comfortable homes on shore for our seamen in port—to organize Boys' Naval Brigades and give our boys the necessary training so that if they decide their livelihood is on the sea they will be ready for Merchant Service.

Tomorrow the campaign starts. For three days, many of our best citizens will give all their time and attention to the raising of the fund. Help them. Respond liberally. There is a great issue at stake. Do your part to the utmost of your ability.

EXHORTS CONGREGATION.

Taking for his text Ephesians, Chapter 5, Verses 15 to 21, Rev. J. H. Boyd, pastor of the Waverley Road Baptist Church, exhorted his congregation at the morning service to vote in favor of prohibition.

"See that you walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil," said the speaker. After explaining the circumstances in connection with the prohibition, he said the exhortation was never more necessary than at the present moment. Never before has Ontario been confronted with so serious a proposition. "The eyes of the whole world, and specially of Great Britain, are upon us to see how we are going to meet this crisis, the consequences of which will reach far into our future life."

The preacher then dealt with the opinions of leading doctors who had expressed themselves in favor of prohibition, and who stated that alcohol was not an absolute necessity as a medicine.

Rev. J. H. Boyd urged the congregation to visit the polls as early as possible tomorrow and vote in favor of prohibition. There was a large congregation.
