

LEMON PIE.

Take juice and grated rind of one lemon; stir together with three-fourths of a cupful of white sugar and one cupful of water; lastly, stir in four eggs, well beaten (reserving the whites of two for frosting). Fill into crust, and bake. For frosting, beat the whites of two eggs, reserved, to a stiff broth, with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, spread over top evenly, and return to oven until slightly browned.

PUMPKIN PIE.

Take one quart of pumpkin, stewed and pressed through a sieve; two quarts of milk; two teacupfuls sugar; seven eggs, beaten very light; a teaspoonful of butter; ginger and cinnamon to suit the taste; stir well together and bake with plain crust.

SALAD DRESSING.

Four eggs, one teaspoonful of mixed mustard, one-quarter teaspoonful of white pepper, half that quantity of cayenne, salt to taste, four tablespoonfuls of cream, vinegar.

Boil the eggs until hard, which will be in about fifteen or twenty minutes; put them into cold water, take off the shells and pound the yolks in a mortar to a smooth paste. Then add all the other ingredients, except the vinegar, and stir them well until the whole are thoroughly mixed together. Now pour in enough vinegar, a little at a time, to make the salad about as thick as cream.
